SIXTEEN LOST OFF THE BANKS

MILES ANGRY

He Resents Some of the False Stories

By Associated Press to The Sun.

WASHINGTON., Aug. 25.—The dispute which has arisen between the friends of Secretary Alger and the friends of General Miles over the Santiago campaign, is attracting a great deal of attention at the war department, where the differences between the general commanding the army and his official superior have been the theme for gossip ever since the outbreak of the war. The interviews which Miles is reported to have given out at Porto Rico are so characteristic of him, and at many points touch so closely upon the truth, as it is understood here that they are regarded as authentic, and it is expected that Miles will follow them up with more explicit comments on his arrival in Washington.

It is taken for granted among army officers that the statements with regard to the suppression of his despatches from Santiago are true, and most are ready to fix the responsibility for the unfortunate conditions at Santiago where he places them. There is little question that Miles sent a despatch July 21, calling attention to the prevailing sickness among the troops and advising that the troops be sent up into the mountains as soon as possible.

Gen. Miles further charges that Gen. Shafter failed to carry out his orders to burn certain houses infected with yellow fever. One of the houses ordered burned was used by soldiers for their quarters, and as a result 37 died.

Captain and Eight of Crew of Twenty-five Were Saved—The Norge Captain Claims He Was Not to Blame—Accident Off the Grand Banks.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—The Thingvalla Line steamer Norge sank the French fishing schooner La Coquette, off Bayonne, on Saturday, Aug. 20, on the Grand Banks. The captain and eight seamen were saved and sixteen went down with the unfortunate vessel. The Norge sailed from Stettin August 3rd and Christiansand August 12th, with seven first, and thirty-three second cabin passengers, and 143 steerage passengers. The weather was generally fine to the banks of Newfoundland, when it became foggy with patches of clear weather. On Saturday, Aug. 20, between 3 and 4 o'clock in the afternoon, the weather was foggy, but not so thick that the vessel's speed was reduced. Captain Knudsen said he could see about three cableble lengths ahead. The wind was fairly brisk from the west southwest, when a vessel suddenly loomed up with sails full and stood directly across the bow of the steamer. The bells were rung to stop and back at full speed, but too late to check the steamer's headway. The stranger, a fishing schooner, fell across the bow and with a crash was forced over and sunk. As the impact occurred three men sprang aboard the Norge. The passengers, most of whom were about the decks, rushed about in confusion with alarm at the shock but were soon quieted when they learned that the steamer was uninjured. In the meantime a boat was lowered and six men and a dog were picked up. The schooner sank almost immediately and carried with her sixteen of her crew.

Among those saved was the captain. Captain Knudsen of the steamer said that as a steam vessel, the Norge was obliged to keep out of the way of all sailing craft, but this was a time when the sailing vessel could do more to help herself than the steamer. The latter was going ahead at full speed for the fog was not, in the judgment of the captain, sufficient to reduce headway. The fisherman was an active vessel, had a good breeze, and was under good steerageway, but made no attempt to avoid the collision, keeping his sails full until squarely under the bow. The large hull of the Norge should have been visible for a long distance. This is the substance of Captain Knudsen's statement. The nine rescued sailors were brought to port and will be landed this morning. The lost vessel carried a crew of 25 men in all.

RESPECTED CITIZEN.

OF BRIDGEWATER FOUND DROWNED IN POND.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

Bridgewater, Mass., Aug. 25.—Franklin Leonard, a well known and widely respected citizen of this place was found drowned in a small pond in Hayden Park at an early hour this morning. Mr. Leonard who was 63 years old, had been sick for some time and at midnight last night while in a state of temporary insanity, escaped from his home in his night clothes. When his escape was discovered the fire alarm was rung in and a searching party organized. The body was found in six feet of water at 4 o'clock this morning. He leaves a widow and two children.

DR. C. E. DONLAN

AND WILL SAIL FOR FERNANDINA, FLA.

His Success Pleases His Friends Here.

Dr. Charles E. Donlan, who was recommended to Surgeon General Sternberg for appointment as one of the physicians to accompany the army of occupation to Cuba, sailed on the Olivette from Boston this morning for Fernandina, Fla. Dr. Donlan left home this morning to visit Washington and have a meeting with Surgeon General Sternberg and Assistant Secretary Allen. He had with him recommendations and letters of introduction from all the leading physicians of this city and many of our prominent citizens. It is believed that when he reached Boston he called on Dr. Bradford, who recommended his appointment, and was ordered to go on board the Olivette, it being likely that his appointment had already been decided upon and it was thought best to save him the trip to Washington. He at once sent a despatch to his brother-in-law, Mr. Thomas C. Lee of this city, informing him that he had boarded the Olivette.

LABOR MATTERS

CASTE IN AMERICA?

AN INTERESTING STUDY OF A SOCIOLOGICAL SYMPTOM.

What Is the Meaning and the Effect of the One Sided Familiarity Between Employers and Employers?—An Investigation's Queer Revelations.

[Special Correspondence.]

I did not understand why we call people who serve in a domestic capacity by their first names, without a title, while for all other people we prefix Mr., Mrs. or Miss. I undertook to find out the cause of the custom.

Encyclopedias do not treat of this subject specifically, so I inquired of a Mrs. Rich, who keeps seven servants, thinking she would be a woman who would know. She said she supposed it was good usage which made the custom.

"But where did our good usage come from? There's been in history a great deal of good usage which now we see wasn't good. What if sometimes people find out that our good usage was not right and that we've been doing a wrong thing—maybe a ridiculous thing—all our lives? What if this custom should be a remnant of something un-American and now peoples should laugh at us as we laugh at the old world?"

"Why," said Mrs. Rich, "I suppose we drop titles because of a feeling of good fellowship—a feeling of all being in one family—a family familiarity, you know."

"Then why do not Mary and John drop your title and that of Miss Ida? And why, when we travel, do we carry everywhere this family familiarity among strangers who are domestic servants, but with no other strangers? If the familiarity is complimentary expressly for those strangers, why do they never return the compliment? And I do not see how it is complimentary to Mary, the waitress, to be addressed familiarly by every fellow if to Miss Ida it would be an insult."

Mrs. Rich said she was sure she did not know, and she presumed that strictly speaking it could not be perfectly right.

Can etiquette and ethics conflict?

I spoke of this to Mrs. Waturhead, who keeps two servants, thinking she would have more time to deliberate and answer questions. She said we drop the title because it's easier to say Mary than Miss Mary, for the same reason that she always called her cook Mary and her second girl Biddy, whatever their real names might be, because she was used to those names and they were easy to speak.

"And do you suggest to Mary and Biddy to call you by some easy name? It must be very wearing on their untrained vocal organs if they have to be calling you Mrs. Waturhead, your son Master Christopher and your little girl Miss Dorothea so many times a day."

Mrs. Waturhead replied that "such familiarity from servants would lessen their respect for the family, and, indeed, the respect of others for the family and of the family for themselves."

"But does not such familiarity from families lessen their respect for servants, and, indeed, the respect of others for the servants and of the servants for themselves? You know we have to do as we would be done by."

Mrs. Waturhead said: "I wish you wouldn't get such notions into your head. I can't see any sense in anything like that."

I was puzzled when I thought over this, for Mrs. Waturhead was a very active church member, and now she had spoken impatiently of the golden rule and could see no sense in trying to apply it. Why did she retain her membership in the church if that was her feeling?

I asked little Miss Smith, a fashionable dressmaker, why she called the aged person who did her housework for her Nell.

Miss Smith said it was proper. She was brought up to do so, and she did not wish a servant to speak familiarly to her because it was not proper respect which help owed to their employer. There must be some mark to distinguish between employers and their help or they would run over you.

I asked if she would like the women who employed her to help on their dresses to use such a distinguishing mark. At which she turned dark red and bit her lips so that I could not find out. I think I must have inadvertently touched some sensitive place in her mind.

I called at a boarding house to see a faded girl who stays ten hours or more of the day in a shop, and whom a benevolent society has had taught to make her own dresses evenings to give her habits of industry to keep her off the street nights (out of the air) and to save her employers the expense of paying her wages large enough to employ a dressmaker, so that there may be more healthful competition among dressmakers, and the bread cast on the waters in the form of moral help to girls and financial help to employers (the benevolent ladies', husbands) may return in the form of cheaper dressmaking for these very ladies of this very benevolent society. This girl was not careless of her opportunities, as the manner of some is, and was sewing as usual. My face was burning hot at the visions suggested by the faded girl's rapid incessant use of her fingers, her rounded back and wasted chest—wasted life indeed. Overexertion long continued, especially indoors, acts on a woman's nerves so that she dwells often in gloom which is much less easily and quietly borne than tired muscles. Out of such gloom come functional derangements in the race which lead certainly to crime. In such gloom is hell.

"Read? No. I ain't got no time f'r reading, I can tell y'. I ain't read a book in months."

"Well," I said, trying to shake off the gloom which surrounded us, "I was asking questions about a thing I don't understand. Could you tell me why cooks and waiters are never called Mr. and Mrs. or Miss?"

"But I have been near enough to that class so that I have thought that if they were addressed like other people they would have more self respect and be more likely to really improve."

"Well, I don't train in no such crowd. I was brought up to keep out of low company. I don't believe they've got any feelings at all, they're so low and ignorent."

I approached the cook, a woman whose brain and hands shaped our destinies to a considerable extent, for dyspepsia or otherwise. "Do you know, so long as I've known you, I've no idea what your last name is."

Her last husband's name was Fitzgerald, she said.

"Well, if my last husband's name was Fitzgerald I suppose I should wish to be called Mrs. Fitzgerald, especially if I liked the deceased as you did. I have been studying the matter of titles in this country, and I believe that we have made a titled class larger in this country than that of the old countries, to take in all but a few, which makes it all the worse for those few. So I will call you Mrs. Fitzgerald if you don't care."

"What are you up to now?" said Mrs. Fitzgerald. "That's not my place, and I won't answer to it."

"I wish you wouldn't be so fiery. You always heat up and scare me so, as if you abode in continual conflagration. Can't you retain the respect you owe to this powerful boarding house if a revolutionary boarder talks confidentially to you? The quality of respect is not strained and should be too strong to get strained in such ways."

Mrs. Fitzgerald cooled and smoothed and laughed, so that I could tell her something which, if true, we ought to tell one to another. We ought to confer concerning it. Must not truth, from its very nature, be safest, even the truth as to a social structure? Do not lies beget lies, and finally become ruinous to those who tell and set them and to those who hear and see and imitate them?

"Society has done many people a great wrong. It has injured itself and these people more than it can ever know by being too hurried and thoughtless, and, in fact, too generally mean to give them any good chance. Society blames them for its own neglect, and even robberies of them and their ancestors, and adds insult to injury by classifying them and taking away the titles of one class, so that every time they are spoken to all may be indelicately reminded of the class distinction. Our practicing such ill manners, as a matter of course, shows how grossly inconsiderate and pompous or slavish we are.

"It's very sweet of you, Mrs. Fitzgerald, to approve a custom which treads you down, but such sweetness under injustice does not help the progress of the world. Rebellions against injustice, while they create much unpleasantness at the time, finally make for righteousness. If you find that being addressed respectfully doesn't hurt you any, you will reason that abusing tramps, as people do, will make them feel an awful degradation, but will not inspire them to improve themselves. I don't believe it truly elevates any class to tread on others."

"Do you want me feeding victuals to tramps and encouraging laziness?" asked Mrs. Fitzgerald.

"Oh, there you open the great question of whether the plain teachings of Jesus are practical, or even were, and the question of whether the victuals would hold out. The question of what to do while society keeps on making more and more tramps is appalling. But one thing is very clear—you could speak respectfully, even kindly, to them. As yet there is no law to regulate the tones of one's voice or the expression of one's eyes when they look at tramps. That last tramp this morning had a weak walk and a pale, helpless, patient face. How very helpless he was—not understanding our language or knowing what he ought to do. I can't forget the story of his startled eyes, like those of a poor cur who sees thoroughbreds fed and praised while he gets starved and scolded because he is not bright, handsome and tricky like the others. He couldn't help being born somewhere amid overwork, no work and malaria. He was never fed on good food for body or mind, or taught to keep clean or dress well, or how to do good work in order that he might be self respecting and happy. He had no idea of how he ought to live. Society never seemed to need his poor work. It kept telling him to go to work, but it would not allow him much work to do, and after awhile it seemed no more disgraceful to beg for bread than to beg for work, for if he begged for work people would say he did not really wish to work. Society's policy toward the unfittest is to let them beg, either of individuals or associations, and to let the employers take their choice from the most humble and most competent as best they can, while society rails at them, imprisons them, preaches to and about them, patronizes them and insults them.

"And once a week in all the great churches and small churches society worships with much ceremony one who had not where to lay his head, and who was very solicitous about those similarly situated, who said, 'Inasmuch as ye did it unto one of the least of these, my brethren, ye did it unto me.'"

Mrs. Fitzgerald said she was very sorry, and she really must go about her dinner, or she would be a tramp herself if tramps were so easily made.

HE WAS DROWNED

DROWNED AT OLD ORCHARD BEACH TODAY.

Was a Brother of Peter A. Fay, Esq.

The Sun learned by telephone early this afternoon the sad intelligence that Andrew Fay, son of Thomas Fay of Centralville Heights and a brother of Peter A. Fay, Esq., was drowned while in bathing at Old Orchard beach at 12.30 this afternoon.

The Sun's informant, who was an eye-witness of the sad affair, states that Mr. Fay was in bathing with companion and had been in some little time when suddenly he screamed as if seized with a fit or pain and sank.

His companion and other bathers rushed to his assistance and he was carried in an unconscious condition to the shore. Dr. J. B. O'Connor of this city, who was near by did all in his power to resuscitate the unfortunate man but without avail, for he died in a few moments.

Undertaker Peter H. Savage, another guest at the beach, took charge of the body and John W. McElvoy, Esq., sent word to his parents in this city.

Andrew Fay was the youngest member of the family and only this year graduated from Georgetown Law school, having previously attended St. St. Mary's College. He was of a retiring nature and for that reason perhaps, together with the long absence at school, was not very well known about town.

He was a brilliant scholar with a rosy future before him and his untimely death is deeply regretted by the many friends of the family.

EXCITING RUNAWAY

ON MARKET STREET THIS MORNING.

A horse standing in front of a hay and grain store on Market street this morning at about 11 o'clock became overheated and ran away. Dashing wildly up Market street toward Shattuck street, it collided with several other wagons and narrowly escaped running over a number of pedestrians. It was finally captured by Con. Crowley, the well known street department employe, at the corner of Shattuck street. The wagon to which the runaway was attached received a bad smashing. The two front wheels were wrenched completely off the carriage. The outfit is owned by a man named Huntoon of Tyngsboro.

PORTO RICO

Gen. Wilson Controls District of Ponce.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

Ponce, Porto Rico, Aug. 24, Morning,

General James H. Wilson has assumed control of the district of Ponce and has ordered that all saloons shall be closed for three days with a view to quieting the existing disorder. They will be opened subsequently under special regulations. General Grant has established his headquarters here.

A cable message announcing that Mrs. Miles, accompanied by her daughter and Mrs. Col. Rice sailed for Ponce on the United States transport Obdam from Charleston last Saturday will delay the departure of Gen. Miles and his staff possibly several days.

During the attempt last night to locate the fire to the east of Ponce a platoon of Troop A of New York, under command of Lieutenant Condt, accompanied Lieut. Davenport of the Signal Corps to Santa Isabel. The men had an exciting time riding at a furious gallop after midnight and covering twenty miles in two hours. Lieutenant Davenport tapped the telegraph wires at several points without locating the fire. The party returned this afternoon utterly exhausted.

SCHOOLS OPEN

Santiago De Cuba in Shape Again.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

Santiago de Cuba, Aug. 23, (6.45 p. m. Delayed in transmission)—The conferences between General Wood, military governor of Santiago and the local authorities with reference to opening the public schools have resulted satisfactorily, and places will be ready for 4,000 children on September 15. The salaries of the school commissioners have been fixed at somewhat reduced figures, the element of sectarianism has been eliminated from the management and American bases of education have been proposed.

The San Juan arrived today from Guantanamo Bay, bringing two companies of Hood's regiment and 107 bags of mail, delivered there by the Fern from Key West. It was the first mail matter received for ten days.

When the Fifth regular infantry arrived for garrison duty in the city, taking the place of Hood's regiment that will be transferred to Porto Rico. Crane's immunes will be assigned to guard the Spanish prison. Thirteen hundred Spanish prisoners will leave by the transport Leona tomorrow.

A GREAT STORM

Plays Havoc With the Montauk Sufferers.

TENTS AND HOSPITALS WERE BLOWN DOWN.

The Yale Arrives Just in Time.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

New York, Aug. 24.—The auxiliary cruiser Yale now being used as a transport arrived off Montauk last night just before a heavy thunder storm set in. The Yale has on board detachments of various troops.

The storm continued for four hours and was in the opinion of the men here the worst experienced by them since they enlisted. The wind blew down the soldiers' tents, twisted the wires about the camps, blew down the Red Cross hospital tent in the general hospital and caused havoc generally. Five unoccupied tents in the detention hospital which had been fitted up to receive sick soldiers were shattered and their wrecking will prevent the landing of some of the sick men on the transports.

The big Y.M.C.A. tent in which the soldiers spend much of their time writing to the relatives or reading, was also levelled by the gale.

POLE MURDERED

By Associated Press to The Sun.

New York, Aug. 24.—Anton Wozonoeski, a Pole, of Jersey City, died today from the effects of a dose of poison administered to him by his wife. Her failure to speak English to the drug clerk cost the life of her husband. The drug clerk says she called for roach poison, and he marked it as such. Mrs. Wozonoeski insists that she called for Rochelle Salts and said that she did not mention roach poison to the druggist at all.

OLD MILL WORKER

Hon. Iszakal Dow of Manchester Dead.

AT THE AGE OF EIGHTY FOUR YEARS.

Helped to Build the Early Mills.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

Manchester, N. H., Aug. 24.—Hon. Iszakal Dow, one of the most prominent residents of this city died this morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs. John H. Morse, at Brattleboro, Vt. He was for many years master mechanic of the Amoskeag corporation and was one of the few men living today who assisted in the erection of the first mills in Manchester. He also put up the shafting of the first mills ever run in Lawrence, Mass., by waterpower. He had represented this city in both branches of the state legislature and was also assistant engineer and chief. Mr. Dow has been a member of Trinity Commandery, Knights Templars, since 1856. Death was due to neuralgia of the heart. He was in his 84th year.

The board began its session at 1.30 and sat all day. Lieutenant Hobson was not present, and it is thought he will be promoted with out appearing before the board.

DAUGHTERS OF LIBERTY.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

Providence, R. I., Aug. 24.—The second day's session of the 21st annual convention of the National Council, Daughters of Liberty was opened this morning by National Councillor Elmer E. Hill. The roll call showed a large addition to the attendance.

The balloting for officers for the ensuing year which is conducted by the Australian system was held and the report of the tellers prepared for later in the session.

The most important subject for discussion was a proposition from the National Council, Junior Order United American Mechanics, that the Daughters of Liberty become more closely affiliated with the proposing order. The proposition was defeated.

At twelve o'clock the convention adjourned for dinner.

PAY FOR TROOPS.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

San Francisco, Aug. 24.—About one million dollars, mostly in gold and silver coin, will be carried to Manila on the Scandia for the payment of the United States troops in the Philippines. The coin will be guarded by a detachment of soldiers.

SOLDIER'S FUNERAL.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

Portland, Me., Aug. 24.—The funeral of Private Andrew F. Heaphy of Company L, First Maine regiment, who died at the Maine General hospital Monday after his return from Chickamauga, took place at the cathedral of the Immaculate Conception this morning. The pall bearers were members of the different military companies who returned from Chickamauga. Members of the Sheridan Rifles acted as honary pall bearers. There was also a military escort present from Fort Preble which accompanied the remains to the cemetery and performed the last military rites at the grave.

BODIES SIGHTED.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

Gloucester, Mass., Aug. 24.—The Italian bark Salvatore which arrived here today from Trapani, reports that on August 15, in latitude 43 north longitude 12 west, she passed four human bodies probably La Bourgogne victims.

SPANISH PRISONERS.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

Portsmouth, N. H., Aug. 24.—Sixteen Spanish prisoners, in charge of Lieut. Buckingham of the United States Artillery, arrived here at 11.30 today from Fort McPherson. They were taken to the Navy Yard and are confined in the stockade with other prisoners.

OLIVETTE'S SICK.

ARE DOING WELL IN BOSTON HOSPITALS.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

Boston, Aug. 24.—The sick and wounded soldiers who arrived in this city yesterday are being cared for in the various hospitals. At the Massachusetts General hospital two of the soldiers were still reported on the dangerous list today. They were William Parish, C. C, Twentieth Infantry, severe case of typhoid fever, and Louis H. Doyen, Co. E, battalion engineers, severe case of typhoid fever. The unknown soldier who died there yesterday has not yet been identified.

At the City hospital today three soldiers were considered dangerously ill. Thomas H. Hebert, Washington, D. C., private Troop F 10th Cavalry suffering extreme exhaustion; Arthur N. Messler private, Co. E, 71st New York, bloody dysentery and Edward Tinken Hancock, Mich., private, 1st Volunteer Cavalry, enteritis, a bowel complaint.

ADMIRAL SCHLEY

His Condition is Greatly Improved Today.

BUT STILL NO CALLERS MAY SEE HIM.

He Will go to Washington Tomorrow.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

Westport, Conn., Aug. 24—This morning found Rear Admiral Schley greatly improved and everything now points to a speedy and complete recovery. The admiral passed a very comfortable night and arose with the other members of the Wortley household at an early hour. After breakfast, of which he partook with the family, the admiral shaved himself and then proceeded to enjoy the day in perfect quiet and rest. Access to the officer is denied to every caller, but Mr. Wortley announced that the admiral this morning announced his intention of going to Washington tomorrow night.

After his forenoon visit, Dr. Gregory announced that the admiral might now be said to be convalescent. The physician, moreover, found his patient so much improved that he deemed it safe to grant him permission to leave Sangatuck tomorrow, provided the improvement continues. Accordingly, it is stated, Admiral Schley is making plans to go to New York tomorrow, where he will report aboard his flagship, the Brooklyn, and later in the day proceed to Washington. It is added, however, that these plans are subject to change.

WOODWARD CALLS

By Associated Press to The Sun.

Boston, Aug. 24.—Col. Charles F. Woodward of the Sixth Regiment M. V.M., and ex-commander of the Sixth Regiment, U. S. V., came to the State House at an early hour this morning for an interview with the governor. Before he went, the colonel stated that he had put down in black and white for the governor his statement of his case which he was willing to have go to the press.

After talking with the governor, however, Col. Woodward went out hurriedly, and the governor soon after sent word to the newspaper men that Col. Woodward had left no statement. This change of mind on the part of Colonel Woodward caused considerable surprise and its reason could not be learned.

Woman's power is largely dependent upon her ability to interest, entertain, attract and please. It is for this reason that women strive to become accomplished. They study in order that they may converse intelligently on all subjects. They strive to become good musicians, graceful dancers and amiable hostesses.

All accomplishments are unavailing if a woman suffers from ill-health in a womanly way. The special weakness peculiar to the womanly organism, will rapidly wreck the general health. The sufferer will lose her natural vivacity, her wit, her good looks, and the ambition and power to display the accomplishments at her command. Any woman affected in this way should resort to Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is a wonderful medicine for ailing women. It is the invention of an eminent and skilful physician, Dr. R. V. Pierce, for thirty years chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y. It aims to cure but one class of diseases, and claims to be good for nothing else. It imparts health, elastic strength, vigor and vitality to the delicate feminine organs. It prepares a woman for wifehood and motherhood.

Mrs. Ramon Sanchez, Pajarito, Taos County, N. Mex., in a letter to Dr. Pierce says: "From a grateful heart my voice goes up to God both night and day in a solemn prayer that He may guard your health and preserve your life. I here express my gratitude to you for the relief I have received from your wonderful medicine, 'Favorite Prescription.' After suffering years of misery I am to-day a healthy and happy wife, and can truthfully recommend to women the use of the 'Favorite Prescription' as a regulator of the monthly periods."

NATIONAL BISCUIT CO.

RASCALLY STEWARD

But Was Exposed by a Captain of the Second Massachusetts—Letter from Lieut. McNulty of Co. M, Ninth Regiment.

Camp Wikoff, L. I., Aug. 24.—Pale, wan and weary were the boys of the Second Massachusetts, who stumbled ashore from the transport Mobile Sunday morning.

The quaint little place was crowded by nearly 10,000 people who had come up from New York and other places to witness the home coming of the gallant boys of the Old Bay State.

Immediately upon arrival the entire regiment was ordered into quarantine where the men were forced to remain until Wednesday noon. This is considered absolutely necessary for the safety of the other regiments, as there is considerable apprehension lest there be a few cases of yellow fever among the soldiers.

When the waiting crowds saw the men of the Second tottering down the gang plank there was many a tear of sympathy and many a lump rose in the throats of the on-lookers. Colonel Clark is not exempt from the quarantine restrictions. He was ordered to the hospital in company with his men, and he will of necessity remain with them till the embargo is lifted by Major General Forwood.

The greatest indignation prevails here today among the visitors, all of whom roundly score the administration for the manner in which the sick men are being taken care of. They are placed on an abutment,, where the strong sea wind sweeps with a velocity of nearly twenty miles an hour, and the sudden change from the transport is regarded as too severe a strain for the soldiers in their already weakened condition.

Then, again, there is absolutely no accommodation for the hosts of people who have come to the camp prepared to remain near their loved ones. There are no hotels, no eating houses worth patronizing, and when the last train left here this evening, it carried nearly all the visitors who had arrived this morning.

Fresh revelations are being made regarding the transport Mobile. The Second Massachusetts suffered fearfully on board and the large number of sick and dead is considered wholly due to the conditions which prevailed on the transport.

A captain of one of the companies of the Second Massachusetts said today: "My men were fed on mouldy hardtack, tainted meat and beans that would turn one's stomach. Well men could not eat such stuff, let alone sick men, and the result was great suffering that might have been spared the men if enough of dainty food had been put aboard at Santiago to feed the sick. Lives would have been saved if this simple precaution had been taken. The old belief that men will take what they can get if they can't get better was disproved by the voyage of the transport.

"Sick men couldn't take the stuff that was offered to them on that ship, and so they died of starvation, although the records give dysentery, malaria and other disorders as the cause of death. On every transport that has arrived here during the past week there have been stories told by the men of outrageous extortions by the stewards, who have run private messes for the benefit of those who could pay high prices for nourishing food.

"When conditions got so bad there was danger of the sick men dying I went to Steward Hughes and asked him to make me some biscuits. I told him my men were in danger of dying unless they got better food than the army regulations which were being dealt out, but he refused to make any though he had plenty of proper materials at hand. Now I had heard from Captain Hicks of our regiment that he had purchased some biscuits from the steward, so I said to that worthy: 'You made some biscuits for Captain Hicks. Why can't you make some for me?' 'Oh, he paid me five cents apiece for them,' he said. 'Well,' I said, 'I'll pay you the same price. I have got to have them, for my men are starving. Then that miserable scoundrel turned around with a leer and said: 'Oh, I cant' do the work so cheaply now. Things like biscuits get more valuable every day we are out.'

"Well, I finally got him to make me fifteen biscuits at 10 cents apiece, and the next day he made me fifteen more. In payment I handed him a $10 bill. He took four dollars out. He said he ought to have an extra dollar as a tip for being so obliging. I refused to allow this and he gave me another dollar in change. The whole thing made me so boiling mad that I went to Captain Layland the next day and asked him if the steward had a right to sell food.

'He said he had not, and then I told him of the biscuits. He hauled Hughes upin short order and made him give me back my $3. Others had the same experience with Hughes that I did and I tell you we were heartily disgusted with a man who could do such things. He sold sandwiches for 25 cents each and coffee for 25 cents a cup.

"He charged from $3 to $5 each for pies and equally exorbitant prices for other kinds of food. He was a constant aggravation to the starving man who had no money. The captain of the transport was a splendid man and he put a stop to the steward's outrageous doings as soon as he heard of them, but he didn't hear of them until we were almost here and no one dared report him for fear that it would put a stop to all chance of our getting decent things for our sick."

LIEUT. McNULTY'S LETTER.

Printing, August 6, 1898.

Friend Frank—I received your letter and paper on July 29, also your paper Aug. 5, and it was with great pleasure I learned that my Lowell friends are well. How wide a contrast is the life we are subjected to here to the happy days we spent in our native city! It is within the last two weeks that we have got our mail regularly. But everything is in good working order now. There is a United States post office established in Santiago and the mail matter is hardly delayed. We have not been in a battle since July 10th, but all the while we are fighting a more deadly enemy than the Spaniards in the shape of yellow fever, chills, and many other complaints. They have made their marks on our regiment within the last few weeks. I suppose you saw in the newspapers the account of Major and Brother Grady's death. Four privates died since then and a crowning effort on the diseases carried away Major O'Connor, brother of Rev. Fr. O'Connor of Boston, last night. God knows how many more victims there have been. The division hospital is crowded to overflowing with men of our regiment. The other two regiments in our division have not been on the island as long as we, so there are not so many of them affected as yet. The number of Washington troops at the hospital is increasing and is now almost as large as that of the Ninth. I have not been ill myself but neither have I been enjoying what I could call good health. This is the first day I felt like doing anything, even to write. We all have a sort of a "dopey" feeling down here. I have no idea what the authorities are going to do with the boys with whom it is the universal wish and hope that they will soon be sent back to the states, and that in a hurry. We are camping now behind a mountain above Santiago. There is another thing the boys are short of; it is writing paper, envelopes and stamps. The supplies that they had were left at Siboney and when a party returned to the latter city to procure them, they found that the Cubans had stolen them. I have not been off the field since July 1. We are not allowed to enter Santiago as yet; too much yellow fever. If I had more paper, I might describe the battle of San Juan hill, and the terrors of the sick and wounded, with the sufferings, privations and neglect which the soldiers had to endure with a self-sacrifice that only the most unflinching patriotism could sustain. But if we are soon to be removed from this pest hole then all will be well and we may reach home alive. It is hard to think that many brave men have died of neglect after the enemy was defeated. But I must close. From

Your friend,

Philip.

NEW VOLUNTEERS

AS MEMBERS OF THE AMBULANCE CORPS

To Care for the Sick and Wounded Soldiers.

The Ambulance Corps will probably see service after all, for the demand for them is growing. When the Olivette arrived in Boston Tuesday, 50 members of the corps, 34 of whom were from Lowell assisted in removing the sick and wounded.

Last night Sergt. Foss received a call for volunteers to ship on the Olivette and take charge of the sick, who are being removed to the north. It is said 14 men were wanted and had more time been allowed, the full number could have been furnished.

With only a few hours' notice, four Lowell volunteers were found. They are Edward F. Maguire, son of John E. Maguire, the constable; Con. Kelleher, formerly of the Phalanx; a young man named Butterfield, formerly of Co. M, and one other.

At noon the Olivette sailed from T wharf, her destination being Fernandina, Fla., where she will take on the sick of a Pennsylvania regiment. Then she will proceed to Key West and Fortress Munroe, thence to Philadelphia and Boston. Constable Maguire saw the boys off.

The members of the local Ambulance Corps have received orders to report at Boston and assist in the removal of soldiers from the hospital ship Bay State.

Cuban Weather Caused Low-ell to Swelter.

TERRIFIC RAIN FOLLOWS THE EXCESSIVE HEAT.

Horse Struck By Lightning In Chelmsford.

It took yesterday's weather to make the folks at home fully realize and appreciate the hardships which our boys at the front have been undergoing, for yesterday was typical Santiago weather almost too hot for health during the day with a deluge in the evening.

The storm last night was even worse than that of the previous night and as usual, it was at its height just at the hour when the unfortunate mill people were returning from work, for if you have ever noticed it, it appears always to storm the hardest at noon and at 6 o'clock in the evening. Last evening, the rain fell in sheets and the hailstones were big enough to sting one when they struck.

There was an immense crowd in the square when the rain began and immediately the waiting rooms, the neighboring stores and the doorways were crowded, the entire square being left to Starter Tom Lees and a couple of fearless newsboys who yelled "Latest! Full account of the rain!" to the vacant space. Carter & Sherburne's store was packed almost to suffocation. It seemed, and when during a temporary calm, the crowd emerged from that store, a little newsboy standing near by remarked to his running mate: "Geel dat's a cheap gang. Dey've been holding up de buck's store for 15 minutes an' not a one of them blew demselves."

Very little damage was done in this vicinity though a horse attached to a wood cart was stricken down in North Chelmsford.

The most remarkable feature of the storm was the hail which is reported to have done much damage to crops in the suburban towns, laying low a good deal of corn and things.

LABOR POLITICS.

New York Workingmen Urged to Elect Men From Their Own Ranks.

At a recent meeting of the Troy Central Federation of Labor Hon. H. Streiffer of Buffalo made some interesting remarks on the duty of workingmen in the field of politics. He reminded them of the necessity of taking some united action this fall in the direction of putting into the legislature men from the ranks of labor. He urged the workingmen of Troy to start in at once on this project by forming a political alliance independent of the labor organizations, but maintained on the same principles plus political action. Through this organization workmen of all parties could be united solely in their own interest politically as they are united in the labor unions for the protection of their wage interests.

"It will surprise you," he said, "when you start this movement how quickly it will develop strength and unity of thought. In other places where workmen have opened their eyes to the necessity of political combination, such as Syracuse, Buffalo, Geneva, Utica and Schenectady, the results are inspiring. Labor unionists are now holding offices, drawing the salaries and performing the duties far better and more conscientiously than they have ever been performed before, for, I tell you, there are more honesty and capability in the labor movement than in any other movement on God's earth. We compel it to be so by our methods. Whenever we have landed one of our own in a county or city legislative body there have been enacted measures promoting the welfare of organized labor, and by that I mean all labor, because all labor can be organized. Our doors are open. We only demand from the applicant fidelity to his own interests. Now, if we can secure so much benefit from our few aldermen and supervisors, that we are now enjoying throughout the state, what can we not secure for ourselves by bending our energies to securing more representation in the state legislature? It is a duty we owe to ourselves to do this. Let us stop spending our money for conventions and jobbing and put this money and effort into the work of landing labor men where they will have power—in the legislature. Don't be discouraged if the man you send proves recreant. Send a different one next time, just the same as we do when one of our professional politicians gives us a more than ordinarily bitter dose. We change him for another of his kind. We cannot make many mistakes among our own men. We have lived, worked and fought together under the most trying conditions, and we know each other better than any other associated men. We can choose our representatives with a great deal less percentage of error than bank directors display in the selection of trusted officials.

"Again I appeal to you, workmen of Troy, to rise in your own behalf, so that if I am fortunate enough to come back to the legislature next session I will be met there by a man from Troy elected to represent labor."

Maltox makes the old feel young.

CHEATED

The merchant who pays for advertising and doesn't get it cries out that advertising doesn't pay. He is wrong. Advertising pays if you get it. If you pay for any commodity that is never delivered, you lose money on it, just the same as you lose on advertising that you pay for but never get.

When merchants learn to buy their advertising space in the newspapers as they buy their merchandise—by measure and weight—it will pay them. Buy space by the inch per thousand of circulation and see that you get what you pay for. Then you will never be cheated in advertising and it will pay you. The Sun will give you more advertising for your money than any other paper in Lowell.

LOWELL'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER.

Our esteemed contemporary, the Cedar Rapids Gazette, is wasting far too much of its valuable space upon an unworthy rival, called the Republican. It is safe to say that by these professional courtesies freely extended, at least 50,000 people have heard of The Republican, who would never have known that such a thing existed. Why sacrifice a white sheep to kill a black one? The name is enough to condemn it; let the horrid thing die a natural death.

Glancing at our exchanges, we see that the press of all parties is unanimous in condemning Secretary Alger of the war department. Here is the opinion of a western paper that meets very general endorsement:

"Poor old Alger and poor old Shaw. Both are where they ought not to be. Money and corporation influence put them there. Both have insulted the brave boys who went to the front in defense of their country, and both will soon be out of public view forever."

What is being done to save the little waifs suffering from the intense heat? Nothing. The board of health has done nothing, the city has done nothing, and the parents can do nothing except take their little ones out to the country to the cool shade and fresh air, put them under medical care if necessary, but this will not save them. Better get sterilized milk for them and avoid feeding them on anything sour or likely to disagree with their delicate stomachs.

THE WAR NOT AN ISSUE.

The republican leaders throughout the country are now endeavoring to make it appear that the republican party alone deserves all the credit for the victory in the Spanish-American war. It should be remembered, however, that the war was not fought on partisan lines. The democrats and republicans alike favored it, and the democrats did most of the fighting. It is now the custom of the republican leaders to represent to the country the importance of the victories over Spain and the imperial policy fostered as the means of advancing the status of this country among the nations of the earth. The imperial policy is against the traditions of this country, and while we are entitled to some recompense in lieu of the sacrifices made during the war, it is neither necessary nor advisable to make the war one of conquest by holding the Philippines. We have a right to hold Manila and perhaps the island of Luzon, but to go any further would be a serious mistake.

There is one thing for which the republican party deserves the entire and exclusive credit in connection with the war, and that is the mismanagement. The party which placed McKinley at the White House is responsible for his appointees, for Alger and Sternberg, two of the greatest misfits that ever held office anywhere. Alger's incompetency has killed more men than did the fire of our Spanish foes, because to him must be attributed the starving of the soldiers, the lack of medical supplies and proper regard for the safety of the men. Alger sent Otis to the pestiferous soil of Cuba without food and without water, without proper clothing and without shelter, either from the blistering sun or the drenching rain. To Alger's mismanagement is due a large portion of the illness reported, because had the army been properly cared for and properly fed, not one fourth of the sickness would have occurred. The cruel treatment of the soldiers on the transports caused hundreds of deaths. Take the single case of the Relief, on which a large number of typhoid patients died, including George C. Wenden of Lowell. Not one typhoid patient in a hundred in the worst stages of the disease can survive the heaving of a voyage at sea. But they were piled on the transports without regard to their fate and as a result hundreds met the inevitable end and all for want of proper management of the war department, all because of Alger's incompetency.

JUGGLING CITY AFFAIRS TO SUIT POLITICIANS.

The city council has had another meeting, but without result. The same story is to be told of the previous meetings, no business. It is now becoming more apparent from day to day that what has been suspected would come to pass. It has been charged that Mayor Bennett and a few friends in city hall are playing a big game of bluff, that while they are ostensibly working for the completion of Huntington hall, they are in reality working to delay both that and the sewer appropriation until the fall, when politics become more pertinent. Then the alleged scheme is to have both appropriations passed and put the growlers to work, so that they will vote for another year of Bennett. The taxpayers are, however, watching the course of events and will be ready to offset any such movement by voting for another candidate. Better, gentlemen, settle the Huntington hall matter at once, and do only what is necessary in regard to providing more sewers. If the city's affairs are to be juggled in the interest of candidates rather than the people at large, it is time the matter was generally known.

The war is not quite over, nor will it be until the articles of peace shall have been signed. It is just as well not to disband the army, pending Spain's display of subtlety in diplomatic relations.

LOWELL BOYS

REPORTED AT SPRINGFIELD ON HOBO WHEELING.

Two interesting young men on a "hobo" wheeling pilgrimage across the continent stopped in this city yesterday for a short time, freshening up at the Young Men's Christian association building and taking a look over the Art museum before proceeding to Hartford, where the first day's journey ended. The young men are E. Victor Sargent and Robert McKissock, both of Lowell, from which city they started yesterday morning without a cent to settle a wager made by members of the Vesper Country club of Lowell. To win they must reach San Francisco by December 1 without the aid of railroad or steamboat conveyance. They are on bicycles, but are pledged to walk or get a "lift" by horse power if necessary. If they accomplish the journey successfully, each is to receive $200, while several hundred more is involved in the wager by the club members.

They are stalwart fellows about 20 years old, each with a thick sweater, but otherwise not in wheelmen's attire. They carry a book in which residents of the towns through which they pass testify to the compliance with the terms of the wager and the good character of the travellers, so far as appears. They also have letters of introduction including letters to two New York newspapers and a personal letter to the proprietor of one of them. An Associated Press man is to meet them at the Brooklyn bridge. Mr. McKissock has lately moved to Lowell from Waterville, Me., from which place he was recently appointed by President McKinley to West Point military academy. He has a few months furlough and will enter the academy next June. His father is the captain of a steamer in the China trade and a friend of a prominent Maine man through whose indorsement the young man secured his appointment to West Point. The two were fresh for their journey when they left for Hartford last evening and had a little more than $1 procured since they left Lowell.—Springfield Republican.

NATIONAL HIGHLANDERS.

A meeting of more than ordinary significance will be held on Saturday next on the farm of Sergeant D. M. Ayer, on the Merrimack river, near Lawrence, on the line of the electric line to Lowell. The occasion will be the reunion of the National Highlanders, one of the old-time crack military organizations of New Hampshire.

THE ARENA OF POLITICS

He Renounces Republicanism and Joins the Party of His Father.

The announcement of Stephen A. Douglas, Jr., that he considers himself a member of the Democratic party is a political event of unusual significance. Mr. Douglas has always been a Republican, a hard party worker, conspicuous in Republican conventions and popular meetings and a favorite campaign orator. The Democracy of Mr. Douglas, though but recently acknowledged, comes to him by distinguished descent. He is the elder son of Stephen A. Douglas, the illustrious Democratic statesman and leader, whose name and public service are among the highest honors of the state of Illinois. On his dying bed he bequeathed to his sons their most valuable patrimony, his parting parental counsel, "Tell them to obey the laws and uphold the constitution."

These words are sculptured on the base of his monument at Douglas park. They constitute the foundation principle of the Democratic party. With this admonition left as his political inheritance, the younger Douglas has remained too long out of the Democratic party. He is welcome to its ranks and will become one of its most powerful and persuasive advocates before the people. In 1896 he secretly voted for Bryan. A few days ago he made his public declaration of faith. He will take the stump for free silver, the main cause of his conversion.

HOARDED GOLD.

Great Good Would Result If It Could Be Injected Into Trade.

As a proof of the wonderfully beneficial effects of the gold standard the accumulation of gold in the vaults of banks and subtreasuries is quoted. It is alleged that upward of 600 tons of gold, which is about one-twenty-fifth of all the gold in the world, lie in the treasure vaults of New York city. For all the good that gold is doing the people in the United States it might as well be in the frozen marshes of Klondike. Hoarded money is dead money, and gold is the money which bankers, brokers and misers hoard. Especially is this the case in times of war, and it is made the case by the demonetization of silver, which constitutes gold the only money of ultimate redemption.

If those tons of gold could be put into circulation, if the value they represent could be injected into the arteries of trade, then some benefit would be conferred. Indeed great benefit would result. But as this gold is simply piled up in the treasury of New York it confers no more benefits than so much brick dust. Wheat in an elevator will not keep people from starving. Wheat must be ground into flour, made into bread, placed in the reach of the individual, before it can relieve hunger. Gold in the vaults is as useless as wheat in the elevator. There is no benefit to the people in either so long as they are hoarded.

Robbed by Trusts.

Direct taxation is not borne with equanimity by the people of the United States. But when such taxes are imposed as a means of raising revenue to carry on war objections are silenced. There is a form of taxation, however, which is more heavy than any imposed by the government, and that is the tax levied on all consumers of the trusts. Almost every day the announcement is made of the formation of a new trust or of the increase in the price of articles manufactured by some trust. Yesterday it was the plate glass trust. Tomorrow it will be some other trust. Every one of these trusts is protected by the Republican administration. Every one of these trusts helped to elect McKinley. If the people are tired paying tribute to the trusts, they should cease to vote for the candidates of the Republican party. So long as Mark Hanna, Steve Elkins and McKinley are kept in power just so long will the trusts multiply and flourish. Just so long will the people be taxed to make the rich richer and the poor poorer. In the light of every day experience the people ought to see the result of Republican success and should take measures to destroy the party which creates the trust.

Humbug Vouches For Humbug.

There are numerous exploiters of the people, and perhaps they form a majority, who really believe that they have a perfect right to delude the masses and prey upon them. They have some sort of notion that it is an essential part of the scheme of creation that the people at large should labor and sweat in order that the sleek and the well fed may attend to certain wholly and unimportant things. Of course these wholly and unimportant and ridiculous things are made to appear very tremendous, and the deluded herd find the apparent triviality of it all a proof of the hidden significance alleged to pertain thereto. Thus humbug itself is accepted as the voucher of its own integrity, while truth is actually discredited for the reason that it is so simple and obvious. —Twentieth Century.

Theft.

Q. What is theft? A. Taking what does not belong to us.

Q. How comes it that things do not belong to us? A. The law is responsible.

Q. Do many people steal? A. Yes.

Q. Who? A. Generally the rich.

Q. What is done to them? A. Some are sent to the senate, others endow churches, and others get their indictments quashed.

Q. But do not the poor steal? A. Yes.

Q. What is done to them if they are found out? A. They go to prison.—Twentieth Century.

A Fundamental Principle.

Direct legislation is not only a method, but a principle, the principle that "the people must rule." Without this principle there is no such thing as liberty.—Kentucky New Era.

TWO MORE SISTERS

HAVE GONE TO CAMP ALGER.

Orders were received at St. John's hospital Tuesday noon for Sisters Isabella and Mary Agnes to report at Camp Alger, Va., to serve in the army hospital. At 3 o'clock they were on their way south. These sisters had been sent from Emmittsburg, Md., to take the places of Sisters Camilla and Mary Gabriel, who had been ordered to Camp Wickoff, and their withdrawal leaves the hospital rather short-handed. Both are experienced nurses, having been several years in the community. Their most recent mission was at Franklin in this state.

Sisters of Charity from all their institutions in the country are being called to the army hospitals. Among others Carney hospital in Boston and the Providence hospital in Washington have been drawn upon and a dozen Sisters were sent from the Charity hospital at New Orleans to Santiago.

VISIT SOLDIERS

MRS. ADELBERT AMES GOES TO MONTAUK POINT.

Mrs. Adelbert Ames and her daughters have started in the yacht America for Montauk Point, where Brig. Gen. Ames is now stationed.

Mrs. Ames will make an investigation of the needs of the soldiers and will report to the Lowell branch of the Massachusetts Volunteer Aid association.

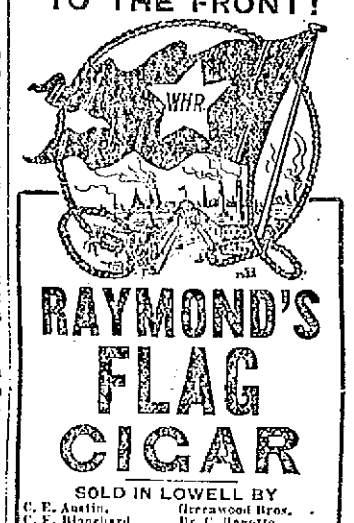

The Lowell women are still collecting supplies but will hold them until they hear from her. They will require all the contributions that are likely to come in.

No acknowledgement has yet been received for the four boxes of supplies sent to Fort Myer, but one of the nurses has written to tell how the $1.50 contributed by some neighbors in ward six was spent.

This money was given just as the supplies were being sent away and was mailed to the nurses with the request that it be at once spent where it was most needed. There were no easy chairs for convalescents at the time, and the nurse writes that the money bought two chairs that were very much required. Nobody can tell, she adds, how much comfort they have brought to somebody's boys.

Mallox will cure you in spite of yourself.

SEC'Y ALGER

Tries to Make Amends for Mistakes.

He Gave a Furlough to a Forlorn Soldier—Noble Women Make a Plea for Better Accommodations

New York, Aug. 25.—A special from Camp Wikoff, Montauk Point, L. I., says: In the camp of the Second Massachusetts volunteers, when Secretary of War Alger paid them a visit Tuesday, a pathetic incident occurred, one reminding of the little acts of kindness performed by President Lincoln in the civil war. When General Alger got out of the carriage at the regimental headquarters he was met by Colonel Clark. The two shook hands, and then the secretary's eye began to wander about the camp.

In front of the adjutant's tent was a poor fellow, hardly more than a boy, leaning against a standard, probably for support. His back was turned as the secretary approached in the carriage, but as the head of the war department was shaking hands with Colonel Clark, his eye caught a glimpse of a leaden cheek and a stubby beard. The man had on a worn uniform and was hatless. Beside him facing the secretary was another man, older and in civilian clothes. There was no hesitation on the part of the secretary. Evidently here was a case he wanted to investigate himself.

Dropping Colonel Clark's hand, Secretary Alger spoke to the hatless man. "Are you sick, my man?" asked the secretary, coming up suddenly from behind.

The man turned, and Secretary Alger saw, perhaps for the first time, the face of a man upon whom the hardships of the Cuban campaign had made great inroads. There were a few moments of conversation, and then the Massachusetts soldier went into the adjutant's tent. Soon he came out again, clasping a paper in his hand. Asked what it was, with tears in his eyes he said: "Furlough." Afterward he said he was Edward Slocum, corporal of company L. The man beside him was his father, and father and son had come to ask a leave of absence for this boy who had fought in Cuba.

Secretary Alger next went to the general hospital, and had scarcely stepped from the carriage before Mrs. Wilmerding, a daughter of Secretary Tracy, and Mrs. Ruggles, both from Southampton, L. I., made a plea for better accommodations for the sick men in the hospital. Colonel Forwood, chief surgeon here, was sent for to pilot Secretary Alger among the hospital cots filled with sick men burning with fever. From a slight elevation the general plan of the hospital was explained to the secretary, who, after paying his respects to Dr. Brown, who is in charge of the general hospital and who has been commended by all those familiar with the work he has done here, started on a tour of inspection among all the tents.

CRISP GOSSIP.

One of the most charming spots for summer weather in this vicinity I believe to be the beautiful and sequestered Long-Sought-For and Flushing ponds out in Westford hidden snugly away among thick woods and wealthy in the delights of picturesque environments, fine fertility, and the resultant country produce and rare opportunities for piscatorial pleasure. It is a hard place to find, leaving Lowell, which perhaps accounts for its exclusiveness for there are but few cottages, though very neighborly ones, along the ponds. The Felch family owns a large and thriving farm on the shores of Flushing pond, and but a few hundred shaded yards from Long-Sought-For pond the homelike farmhouse at present filled with Boston parties, while along the pretty shores of Long-Sought-For may be found but two Lowell families owning and occupying their cottages, —those of Charles Crevier, the well known blacksmith on the south side, and James J. Courtney of Market street on the north side. The ponds are fairly alive with perch of all sizes while pouts and pickerel abound there and many an exquisite fish fry is being enjoyed these warm evenings by the guests of Messrs. Courtney and Crevier, two royal entertainers.

Miss May Gertrude MacKenzie, the talented and charming young reader of this city, is about to take up the dramatic art as a profession, beginning in the fall with a leading New York company. Having ever been a zealous worker at the theatricals of the Mathew Temperance Institute, this grateful society is preparing to show its appreciation of her kind offices by tendering her a testimonial to take the form of a dramatic performance to be presented in the near future. "Ingomar" will be played with the fair recipient sustaining the part of "Parthenia."

Perhaps there is no question asked oftener than "Who Wrote 'Ingomar?'" To the English-speaking public, the name of Maria Lovell, whose adaptation into English is the best known version of this picturesque and popular play, is familiar enough, but the name of its German author seems to be practically unknown.

"Der Sohn der Wildniss," as "Ingomar," was known in the original, was written by Eligius Francis Joseph, Baron von Munch-Bellinghausen, who was known to the literary world under his nom-de-plume, Friedrich Halm. It was written in 1842 and the first English version of it was not the one which is so familiar to us today, but was a straight translation made by William Henry Charlton, and called "The Son of the Wilderness." This translation Halm highly complimented; but Maria Lovell's adaptation was the first used in London, where it was produced at the Drury Lane Theatre in June, 1837, by James Anderson, who had just become the manager of that theatre and who was the original Ingomar, with Miss Vandenhoff as the first Parthenia. The play was a great success. The first Ingomar died on March 3, 1896.

The play had its first production in this country in December, 1851, being brought out simultaneously at the Bowery and Broadway Theatres. At the former house, Ingomar was created by Edward Eddy, a well known actor of his day, at one time leading man at the National Theatre, Boston. Mrs. Edward Parker, nee Amelia Sylvia, was the Parthenia of the cast. One of the first and most notable successes of the play in Boston took place at the Howard Athenaeum, in February, 1852, when Anna Cora Mowatt, the first of the successful society actresses to make a stir in this country, played Parthenia to the Ingomar of Wyzeman Marshall. Since then the play has been one of the most successful in the repertoire of many American stars.

The story throughout is beautifully told and interesting to the last moment. The filial piety of the Greek maiden is placed before the audience in a most striking manner, even love—the strongest and most irresistible passion of the human heart—is made to yield to duty, and when appealed to by her barbarian lover—whose savage spirit she has at once tamed and subdued—who, in a tone of mental agony, exclaims, "Oh, Parthenia will thou leave me?" He at once resolves to be her guide and when arrived in sight of Massalia, her home, whence she strayed to offer herself a sacrifice as the ransom of an aged father, in the transport of her joy the hidden thought occurs that "Here we part;" but not so—he goes with her to the city, resolves for her sake to become a Greek, abandons even the dress of his favorite band of Attamans, yields up his sword for the handle of the plough, and doubly earns his bride; spurns indignantly the offer to betray his countrymen, but makes them at once the friends and allies of the Greeks, redeems his bride from slavery by the sacrifice of his own liberty and when finally rewarded by the gods for all his sufferings, he finishes: "To love do I owe this bliss;" Parthenia replies: "To love and honor;" Then are they forever joined—"Two souls with but a single thought Two hearts that beat as one."

The language, poetry, and dramatic action of this play, have not been excelled, if equalled, in the history of modern drama.

Mr. Henry Hunnewell of Boston is personally directing the rehearsals of the company which are now being held.

PRESIDENT AMES DEAD.

Boston, Aug. 25.—The death of Frank M. Ames, president of the Lampson Consolidated Store Service company, in Pemaquid, Me., was announced last night. Mr. Ames had served in the legislature from Canton, and in 1884 was a delegate to the Republican convention in Chicago.

A woman, who gave her name as Minnie Harrison, 26 years old, jumped into the Charles river at the Warren bridge at 12:15 o'clock this morning, and was rescued by Drawtender Pollard. Pollard's quick action in launching his boat and reaching the woman saved her life, for the tide was running out very swiftly at this point and would have carried her away.

James Williams & Co., chamber furniture manufacturers, suffered a loss by fire last night of $2000. One of the ladder trucks responding to the alarm struck an electric light pole. The iron pole struck Driver Hoes of the truck, rendering him unconscious, while the horses ran for quite a distance before they were stopped.

STORM IN NEW YORK STATE.

Utica, Aug. 25.—As the result of a furious storm which swept over the region north of Utica yesterday afternoon over $300,000 worth of damage was done to property. In Deerfield $10,000 damage was done to farm property, and every bridge on the highway east and west of the place was carried away by the swollen streams.

The Adirondack and Black River division of the Rome, Watertown and Ogdensburg railroad suffered severely from the cloudburst. In one place a washout 200 feet long occurred, while a railroad bridge near Trenton is reported to have been carried away. Between Remsen and Herkimer four bridges were carried away.

Earned runs—Chicagoes, 1. Left on bases—Bostons, 8; Chicagoes, 5. Two-base hit—Yeager. Sacrifice hits—Lowe, McCormick. Stolen bases—Green, Everett. Struck out—By Griffith, 3; by Klobedanz, 1. Base on balls—Off Griffith, 1; off Klobedanz, 3. Time—1:40. Umpires—O'Day and McDonald.

Fast work at the bat and on the bases enabled the Providences to score five runs on five hits early in the game yesterday. Braun, with splendid fielding support, held the visitors down to four hits and two runs. Up to the eighth inning the Syracuses were unable to send a man as far as first base only twice, and then they were doubled. Three singles in the ninth gave them two runs. Score: 6 to 2.

The Clevelands played at home Wednesday for the first time in seven weeks, and a small crowd saw the game with the New Yorks. Seymour's looseness in the first inning gave the home team the game. Rain stopped the play at the end of the sixth.

The Brooklyns won from the Pittsburgs in a game that was very tame and had not a distinguishing feature.

The Ottawas batted Korwan of the Springfields off the slab in two innings yesterday and Pappalau fared no better. The pitcher barely escaped a whitewash. Bonner of the Ottawas was disabled by a pitched ball in the fifth. Score: 13 to 1.

The St. Louis team won a slugging match from the Washingtons. Weyhing started to pitch, but was taken out after the browns had secured several runs and hits. Donovan, who succeeded, was also hit hard. Score: 14 to 5.

The St. Louises have returned home from the eastern trip to find the treasury depleted. President Muckenfuss, who is also the receiver of the club, states that there is no money at hand to pay the overdue salaries of the players. The players have agreed to wait till after Sunday's game in hopes of a large attendance.

Rain stopped the Louisville-Philadelphia game in the first half of the sixth inning, with the colonels in the lead. Both pitchers were batted hard.

YIELDING TO PUBLIC OPINION.

New York, Aug. 25.—The national board of arbitration of the National league did not meet yesterday. President Young is ill, and he sent his son, who is secretary of the board, to act in his place. Of those interested only Mr. Robinson of the Cleveland club was present, and he and Mr. Young talked the situation over. It was decided to send a dispatch to the various members of the board of directors of the league asking them to reconsider their decision in the New York-Baltimore case in regard to the suspension of Holmes of the Baltimores.

STRUCK OUT D FSYMPATHY.

Hazleton, Pa., Aug. 25.—Seven hundred men, employed at the strippings of the Lehigh and Wilkesbarre Coal company, went out on strike yesterday, and those who did not strike were told by the company officials to go home until the grievances which caused the difficulty are adjusted. The inauguration of the strike is said to be due to the alleged unjust discharge of two laborers. The company officials state that the men were incompetent. Last night Superintendent Richards posted a notice at the collieries to the effect that if the men are not at work today the mines will be shut down for the balance of the year.

The strikers had a meeting and decided to return to work today. President Duffy of the United Mine Workers authorizes the announcement that the discharged man will be reinstated.

SCORCHING IN NEW YORK.

New York, Aug. 25.—It was the hottest Aug. 24 on record. The highest temperature at the office of the weather bureau was 88 degrees at 4 o'clock. The temperature at the street level was 96 degrees for more than an hour. Not until 8 o'clock did New York's sweltering millions receive a temporary respite, a light thunderstorm passing over the city. The highest temperature on Aug. 24 last year was 72 degrees and the preceding year, while the terrible heat plague was scourging New York, the highest was 76 degrees. Heat prostration slips began to pour into police headquarters early in the morning, and there was no letup until midnight. Horses fell in all parts of the city.

ORDER OF FORESTERS.

St. Johnsbury, Vt., Aug. 25.—The state convention of the Catholic Order of Foresters closed its annual session yesterday. Reports of committees showed the order to be fraternally and financially prosperous. The convention voted in favor of creating a reserve fund and instructed the delegates to the international session to be held in Burlington, June, 1899, to favor this move.

THREE WERE KILLED.

Petersburg, Va., Aug. 25.—There was a horrible accident at a crossing known as Grossman's, a short distance from this city. J. P. Condrey, a prosperous farmer of Chesterfield county, was returning home with his wife and little son in a buggy, and when he reached the crossing the young horse he was driving became unmanageable and carried the party upon the track immediately in front of a train. The occupants of the buggy were instantly killed.

A CONFERENCE

Of Americans and Manila Insurgents.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

MANILA Aug. 24.—At a conference today between the insurgents and the Americans, the former declared emphatically that they were willing to co-operate with the Americans and to surrender their arms promptly if assured that the island would remain either an American or British colony or under the protectorate of the United States or Great Britain.

Otherwise, the insurgent leaders asserted they would not dare disarm and must positively refuse to do so. They threaten a fresh rebellion within a month if the Americans withdraw.

MUSTERED OUT.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—Orders have been issued for the mustering out of the following regiments: First Vermont, First Maine, Fifty-second Iowa, Sixth Penn., Fifth Maryland, Second New York Second Nebraska, One Hundred Fifty-seventh Indiana, all Volunteer Infantry; also battery of Ohio light artillery; First Illinois volunteer cavalry, Batteries A and B of Georgia light artillery, Twenty-eighth Indiana light battery and the New York and Pennsylvania cavalry troops now in Porto Rico.

Other orders to muster out troops will be announced as soon as definite decisions are reached.

MORE BLOOD

Spaniards and Insurgents Fight Again

Madrid, Aug. 24.—4 p. m.—The government has received a despatch from General Rios, governor of the Viscayas Islands and the successor of General Jaudenes in the governor-generalship of the Philippines, saying that there has been bloody fighting between the Spaniards and the insurgents, with an estimated loss to the latter of —e hundred men. The Spanish losses were "unimportant."

The despatch says that a number of the insurgent chiefs were captured and shot. A sergeant of gendarmes who attempted to incite a rising against the authorities, barely escaped lynching at the hands of the populace. He was turned over to the courts and shot.

General Rios adds that he has organized six battalions of natives and Spaniards for the purpose of resisting a threatened invasion of insurgents from the island of Luzon, and also a small squadron to watch the coasts and rivers of Mindanao Island and the Viscayas.

TELEGRAPHIC BREVITIES.

At the San Quentin mine, in the province of Ciudad Real, Spain, 2000 miners have gone on strike.

The 32nd annual convention of the Universal Peace union opened at the peace temple in Mystic, Conn., yesterday.

Judge Robert Motton, who was for 10 years judge of the city and civil courts in Halifax, died in Providence. He had been an invalid for a long time.

General Wilson will shortly permit the reopening of the Ponce, Porto Rico, saloons and cafes, but will prohibit the sale of liquor by the drink until a license system shall have been established.

Further reports from the officers in charge of the captured Spanish arms in Santiago show that the number taken will be about 25,000, with "several million" rounds of ammunition, the exact number not stated. The arms will be sent to New York and Springfield to be cleaned up, and if they can be put in proper condition they will be made use of by the army.

The president has called upon General Merritt for his recommendations regarding the operations that resulted in the surrender of the Spanish army in the Philippines. It is the president's purpose to promote the officers who rendered conspicuously meritorious services in the land fights in Manila just as was done in the case of the gallant officers in Santiago.

AID ASSOCIATION.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

Boston, Aug. 24.—The Massachusetts Volunteer Aid association has issued a letter stating that it has spent much more money than it expected in fitting out the hospital ship Bay State and in establishing a boat service to and a diet kitchen at Montauk Point, and asking for liberal contributions to carry on this work.

NO REPRESENTATION.

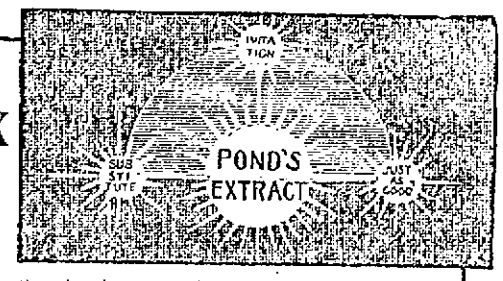

By Associated Press to The Sun.

Vancouver, B. C., Aug. 24.—The Provincial government has decided not to send any representative to Quebec to watch British Columbian interests at the International conference. The government, however, will prepare a memorandum to submit to the British members of the conference, setting the views of the government on all questions and all points on which it asks for action on the preservation of provincial interests.

HISSED FOR HIS SENTIMENTS.

Milwaukee, Aug. 25.—The proceedings at the German Roman Catholic societies' convention were somewhat exciting Wednesday. An effort was made to facilitate the work of conventions by cutting down the religious services. One of the delegates who favored this proposition was roundly hissed for several of his utterances. What services there will be at the future meetings is entirely discretionary with the committees.

ALGER VISITS

Camp Wikoff to Investigate Stories.

Of Its Terrible Condition as the Result of His Incompetency—He Was Cheered by the Soldiers.

Secretary of War Alger who arrived last night from Washington left at 7.40 o'clock this morning for Camp Wikoff. He was accompanied by Colonel Hecker of the quartermaster's department and Major Hopkins, assistant adjutant general.

The regular army men today received delicacies from the the Woman's War Relief associations. Many soldiers have been discharged from the hospitals, but there are others sick to take their places as soon as they vacate.

Three hundred men of the 13th regular infantry have disembarked from the Breakwater and have gone into the detention camp.

Secretary Alger arrived at the camp on a special train. To the newspaper correspondents Secretary Alger stated that he hoped to make a thorough inspection of the camp. He rode with the army officers who met him at the depot to headquarters and as soon as he was recognized by the volunteers and regulars the secretary was loudly cheered. Secretary Alger intimated that President McKinley was much interested in the matter of properly caring for the sick soldiers.

The secretary will make a complete tour of the big camp before he returns. He will also be fully informed when he leaves as to how the volunteers feel about their being mustered out. For this reason he will spend considerable time in the camps of the Rough Riders and the 71st regiment.

OFF THE CAMP.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

With the transports, off Camp Wikoff, Montauk Point, Aug. 23.—It is weary waiting for the American troops on the transports anchored off Camp Wikoff. There is absolutely nothing to do on board and the men lounge about the decks, seeking what scant shade can be found in the lee of the deck houses or under awnings, and longing for the orders that will free them from irksome confinement.

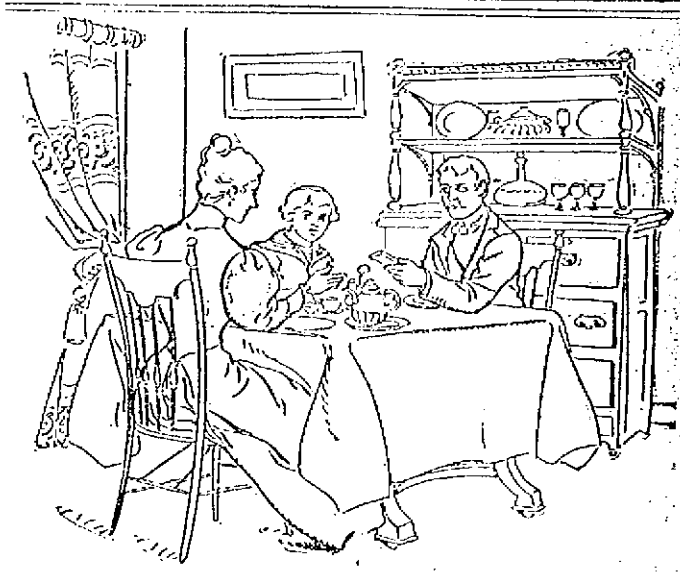

Fortunately the weather is cool. There is a good breeze every day and in the evenings it is even chilly.

Every tug that pulls out from shore may bring us the good news we are waiting for and we bet on the destinations of the puffing little quarantine boats for it is impossible to tell where they are coming, until they are close to us. Wives and daughters, sons and friends of men on the transports sometime scome out on these tugs and then there is calling from the soldier husband or father on the transport to the visitor on the tug. Their greetings often bring tears that are choked back and voices that are full and cannot be controlled. It is said that the transports or some of them, are bound for Boston. In that event, there is a consolation of knowing that those on board are fairly sure of seeing the whole Atlantic seaboard.

When the order came this morning for the hospital ship Olivette to proceed to Boston, she was short of certain provisions. A rather pompous looking individual asked from the deck of the Dexter what she wanted and he was given a short list of beef and potatoes, milk and brandy. He promised that the provisions would be on board in an hour, but after six hours there were still no signs of them.

The transport Arcadia which arrived last night was inspected today. Captain Capron, father of Captain Capron, of the Rough Riders, who was killed at Santiago is on board sick.

ALL DRUGGISTS

A Philadelphia lady relates an experience of her own, saying that after suffering untold agony, her husband, who had heard Ripans Tabules very highly commended for persons suffering from lack of appetite or any complicated stomach trouble, strongly urged her to try them. Her stomach had seemed cold and she had had little appetite for many weeks. She determined to try the Tabules and to follow all the directions, but had little faith that there was any cure for the serious complications that appeared to have taken possession of her. It seemed to her hardly possible that a 50-cent package of Ripans Tabules would cure when a large doctor's bill of $50 had failed to confer any benefit. "But," she added, joyfully, "they did! and my appetite improved almost immediately and now I can truly say that my general health was never better."

A new style pocket containing TEN RIPANS TABULES in a paper carton (without plate) is now for sale at some drug stores—FOR FIVE CENTS. This low-priced sort is intended for the poor and the economical. One dozen of the five-cent cartons (120 tabules) can be had by mailing forty-eight cents to the RIPANS CHEMICAL COMPANY, No. 10 Spruce Street, New York—or a single carton (TEN TABULES) will be sent for five cents.

SICK SOLDIERS

In the Hospitals Around Boston Doing Well.

Secy. Long Writes to Admiral Sicard Extending Thanks—Two Soldiers Cut to Pieces From a Train—Woodward Told to Stop Talking.

Boston, Aug. 25.—A tour among the various hospitals disclosed the welcome fact that none of the sick soldiers had died, though a number were still on the dangerous list. All the men are receiving the benefits of expert nursing, and as nearly all of them were in need of it, their ultimate recovery seems to be assured. A number who procured hospital discharges were enabled to go to the home of their friends, while some of the officers went to hotels. All the men are rapidly recovering their spirits, which were at a low ebb when they first landed. Some who were almost helpless when they were brought ashore regained their strength so rapidly that they were enabled to take short walks outside the different hospitals. It will take many days, however, for the dark circles to leave their eyes and the hollows in their cheeks to fill up.

At the general hospital the Volunteer Aid association has furnished fans, mosquito canopies and hospital clothing for those who are still in bed. The others, who are further along on the road to recovery, lounge around the grounds, most of them in their army clothes, or such portions of their uniforms as their Cuban allies did not make away with.

In addition to the appeal of the Massachusetts Volunteer Aid association for additional funds, Sherman Hoar has issued a statement, the salient points of which are as follows: "The Bay State has left Santiago with 191 sick, some desperate cases, and will most probably be ordered directly to Boston. We have already received 200 cases from the Olivette. We are credibly informed that the government intends to send here other hospital ships. Not only this work, but that at Montauk Point will require large sums.

"Of the 600 old men in Colonel Clark's regiment, fully one-third are not fit to take anything but the most delicate food, although they are borne on the rolls as well men. Their emaciated figures, their sunken eyes, the hesitating steps tell of the terrible ordeal through which they have passed.

"The Ninth Massachusetts is soon to come. Their later stay in Cuba may bring them to Montauk in even a more distressed condition than that of the Second. At the same time we must look out for the Eighth; we must look out for the recruits of the Ninth in Pennsylvania, and we must keep our hospital ship going. It is my judgment that the next six weeks will give us more work to do as an association than any three weeks through which we have passed."

TO BE MUSTERED OUT.

Washington, Aug. 25.—Orders have been issued for the mustering out of the following regiments: First Vermont, First Maine, Fifty-second Iowa, Sixth Pennsylvania, Second New York, Second Nebraska, One Hundred and Fifty-seventh Indiana, all volunteer infantry; also batteries A, B, C and D, Ohio light artillery; First Illinois volunteer cavalry, batteries A and B, Georgia light artillery; Twenty-eighth Indiana light battery and the New York and Pennsylvania cavalry troops now in Porto Rico.

RELEASE OF NAVAL AUXILIARIES.

Washington, Aug. 25.—Within the next week all the men called from various states to man ships of the auxiliary navy will be on their way home, with the possible exception of those on the four monitors around Boston. The department is deluged with inquiries as to how soon these naval militiamen can return home. The letters come not only from relatives, but from business firms, which say that as the war is over they want their clerks to return to duty. These influences have been aided by pressure from senators and congressmen, and the department feels some satisfaction in stating that all the men will be released by Sept. 1 except those on the monitors. Who are mainly from Maine and Massachusetts, delay in their cases being due to the necessity of sending tugs to convoy the monitors to the League island navy yard, Philadelphia, where the crews will be let go.

MR. LONG'S APPRECIATION.

Washington, Aug. 25.—The following letter was addressed by Secretary Long to the president of the war board, Admiral Sicard, in recognition of its services:

My Dear Admiral—In view of the practical ending of the war with Spain and the well-earned relief from further duty to which the naval war board is now entitled, I cannot, though absent from the department, forbear to express to you and through you to your associates on the board, Commodore Crowninshield and Captain Mahan (retired), the very high appreciation which the department has of the services it has rendered since the war began. That its members have been faithful and diligent in the highest measure goes without saying, for they are animated by the high professional spirit which distinguishes the navy and which they have themselves done much to stimulate; but from my personal knowledge and observation, I desire to add to this, that equally marked have been the intelligence, the wise judgment, the comprehensive forethought and the unfailing competency to meet every exigency which have distinguished their deliberations and action. May it not be said that not one error has been made? Proper control by the department has been exercised over all movements in the field, and yet at the same time commanding officers have been duly left to exercise discretion, and have never been hampered in their work. I do not know how your work, as members of that important board, could have been better done, or where in the arena of the war you could have rendered better service or deserved more honor.

LINE OF TRANSPORTS.

Washington, Aug. 25.—Assistant Secretary Meiklejohn of the war department contemplates the establishment of a line of transports from New York to Havana, Santiago and Ponce. It is expected that the new route will be ready for operation in two weeks. Havana will not be on the route at present, but as soon as that port is open the line will touch there. Operations would begin at once, but the transports are now being used for carrying troops. The line will be utilized for transporting supplies of the quartermaster's, commissar, and surgeon general's departments, as well as such other freights as may be needed at the points occupied by the United States forces. Mails will be carried also by these transports to and from the new American possessions. New York instead of Tampa has been selected because of the severe quarantine at Tampa against yellow fever.

NEWS FROM CUBA.

Havana, Aug. 25.—The steamer Barraco has arrived at Sagua with a cargo of provisions. She has not, however, begun to discharge, as she is awaiting a decision as to whether she will have to pay duties on the cargo, having paid at Santiago $15,000 for what she has on board.

The commanding general in the Sancti Spiritus district reports that two American soldiers of the column operating with Maximo Gomez have presented themselves to him, being ill. They were immediately sent to the hospital. General Blanco has ordered that all Americans who present themselves be well treated; that assistance be given them, and that they be treated with all consideration. The sick at the hospital, General Blanco's order says, must be treated with solicitude and kindness.

MINES IN HAVANA HARBOR.

Washington, Aug. 25.—Negotiations have been opened through diplomatic channels by which it is expected that the Spanish government will co-operate with the authorities here in the removal of the mines and torpedoes in Havana harbor before the military commission assembles there. The suggestion was made by the state department and has been forwarded to the Spanish government through the French embassy.

TO ACT WITH THE AMERICANS.

Madrid, Aug. 25.—The minister of war, Lieutenant General Correa, when asked what instructions had been given General Blanco in regard to opposing the insurgents in Cuba, replied that he had ordered the captains general of Cuba and the Philippines to act in accord with the Americans, and if the Americans should prove unable to make the insurgents respect the armistice, then the instructions were to repel by arms any attack upon the Spaniards.

LONDON TIMES EDITORIAL.

London, Aug. 25.—The Times this morning says editorially: "If half the Cuban stories are true, it is no wonder that the Americans are disgusted with the insurgents' conduct. The insurgent leaders make a great mistake if they imagine their conduct will go unpunished. It may be a troublesome business, but America, having put her hands to the plough, will not turn back."

Discussing the rumor that Secretary Alger will take refuge in the senate to escape the responsibility for his blunders in the war office, and that Senator McMillan will become ambassador to London, the article expresses the opinion that "If America becomes a colonizing power she will be compelled to abandon this fluctuating style of administration in favor of trained civil and military administrators, not liable to removal with each presidential change and not dependent upon politics for their selection and promotion. It will be equally important to cultivate permanence in diplomatic representation abroad."

MAJORITY MAY ENLIST.

South Framingham, Aug. 25.—A vote was taken in the camp of the Fifth regiment yesterday on the question of remaining in service after discharge. About 75 percent voted to join the regular army. The result of the vote is to be sent to Washington, and it is understood that influence will be brought to bear to have the men go into active service.

The vote was polled in quite a novel fashion in order that it would represent the actual opinion of the men. Colonel Whitney and Sergeant Major Burchmor instructed each company in the form of ballot. Slips of paper were distributed to each man, who wrote yes or no on one, depositing it in a box. Finally the boxes were collected and the vote canvassed. The result of 75 percent is a little under the estimate of the favorable vote anticipated. It was placed at 80 percent. The officers are yet to vote, but 90 percent are expected to favor garrison duty.

SOLDIERS CUT TO PIECES.

New York, Aug. 25.—Two privates of the Seventy-first New York regiment, M. D. Kane and Christopher Jurgenson, were killed while skylarking near Westbury, L. I. They belonged to the battalion which was expected to go south, but which got no further than Camp Black. The battalion left the camp Wednesday morning to join the main body of the Seventy-first at Montauk. The two men were in the baggage car, and one tried to take possession of a piece of watermelon held by the other. In a friendly scuffle both fell from the car and were cut to pieces.

CUBA AN EVOLUTION.

St. Paul, Aug. 25.—Senator M. A. Hanna of Ohio arrived in the city last evening from the Yellowstone park. Speaking of the annexation question he said: "The Philippines is a problem we cannot solve in a hurry. We, of course, must retain a coaling station there, but I do not think it likely we shall want more than Manila and its harbor. Cuba is another problem. I never was much of a Cuban, and am not prepared to commit myself as to the policy we should pursue there. We propose to establish a stable government in that island, but what constitutes a stable government has not yet been defined. I think, however, Cuba will be an evolution, and in about 20 years it will be so thoroughly Americanized that there will be no question as to what a stable government means."

NOT TO TALK FURTHER.

Boston, Aug. 25.—Colonel Woodward declines to be interviewed on a conference held with Governor Wolcott yesterday. It is understood, however, that after a discussion of the matter it was thought wise not to give the troubles of the Sixth regiment further publicity.

DOVER'S MYSTERIOUS POISONING

San Francisco, Aug. 25.—Mrs. D. A. Botkin, who is accused of causing the death of Mrs. J. P. Dunning and Mrs. J. D. Doane of Dover, Del., is now in the city prison here, having been brought from Stockton. Mrs. Botkin declines absolutely to talk to newspaper reporters, but to the chief of police she protested her innocence.

What the police regard as an important piece of evidence was made public in Stockton. Frank Gatrell, a salesman in a candy store, says that about three weeks ago a woman came into the store and asked for a "5-bit box" of candy, saying she had some candy that she desired to put in the box with some of the store candy. Gatrell gave her a box which did not have the firm name on it. The candy which she put in looked old to him, and it scarcely half filled the box. He says he did not observe the lady closely, and he can only describe her by saying that she was of medium height and build.

THREATEN TO STRIKE.

Lawrence, Aug. 25.—Owing to the fact that the Lowell, Lawrence and Haverhill Street Railway company has published notices to the effect that by Sept. 15 every employe shall file a bond of $200, the expense of the same to be borne by the men, it has leaked out that the men, 100 in number, have threatened to strike. The men claim an injustice has been done them, and that they have been given to understand that failure to file a bond is equal to discharge. The only bond allowed is that of a Baltimore concern.

ONE MAN KILLED.

Pittsburg, Aug. 25.—During a heavy thunderstorm yesterday, lightning struck a car, and as a result one passenger is dead, another will probably die and four others are badly hurt. The passengers were panic-stricken. D. S. Frear alighted on his head, crushing his skull. He lived but a short time. All the injured received their hurts in attempting to jump before the car came to a standstill.

GUILTY OF MURDER.

Lancaster, Pa., Aug. 25.—The jury in the case of Ralph W. Wirebach, on trial for the murder of David B. Landis, brought in a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree. Wirebach killed Landis on the 7th of April, when the latter, accompanied by deputy sheriffs, visited his home for the purpose of ejecting him, the premises having been sold and Wirebach refusing to vacate.

GRAND LODGE MEETING.

Betances May Be Cuba's First President

Scientist, Philanthropist and Patriot—Bought Children from Bondage—Spanish Spy System Drove Him to Seek Autonomy for all the West Indies.

Eleuterio Betances, the great Paris oculist, bachelor of science and of arts and doctor of medicine, whose name has been mentioned recently as possibly the first President of Cuba Libre, is as distinguished in letters as he is in science, but is distinguished more than all for his long and persistent personal warfare against Spanish dominion in the West Indies. Though he is a native of Porto Rico, he is revered for his devotion throughout Cuba as sincerely as in his native isle. He never would have received this reverence, however, nor achieved such distinction, probably, had he not in his younger days been in the habit of buying a negro baby every month.

EDUCATION IN EUROPE.

It all happened in this way. Betances was born 73 years ago in the little town of Cabo-Rojo near Mayagues, Porto Rico, which the United States troops captured with such eclat some weeks ago. He was a delicate boy and in another place than that land of soft sea breezes might have had small chance of living. His father, who was a man of means, had him educated by a private tutor who took so good care of him that at the age of fourteen he was sent abroad to complete his education. He studied in Tolouse until he was graduated with the degrees of B. A. and B. S. Then he went to Paris where he was graduated in medicine with honor. While he was abroad he had time for considerable travel and observation outside of his regular college and university work, and he visited those countries with whose languages, literatures, science and art his studies led him to be interested in.

BOUGHT A BABY A MONTH.

When he received his degree in medicine he returned to Mayaguez to practice. He made a special study of diseases peculiar to the country and soon the fame of his marvellous surgery spread over the whole island. He had his private hospital where the rich paid well for treatment; but the poor he treated without charge.

Young, charming of address and brilliant, the older practitioners were not altogether without envy in their regard for him. Another thing, too, attracted attention to Betances—not to his advantage. He did not believe in slavery, and in those days slavery was general over the island and the Spanish officials made much directly or indirectly by the traffic. Betances did not preach against slavery, but it was his custom each month to buy a baby slave and then present the infant's freedom papers to the child's mother.

ANNOYED BY SPIES.

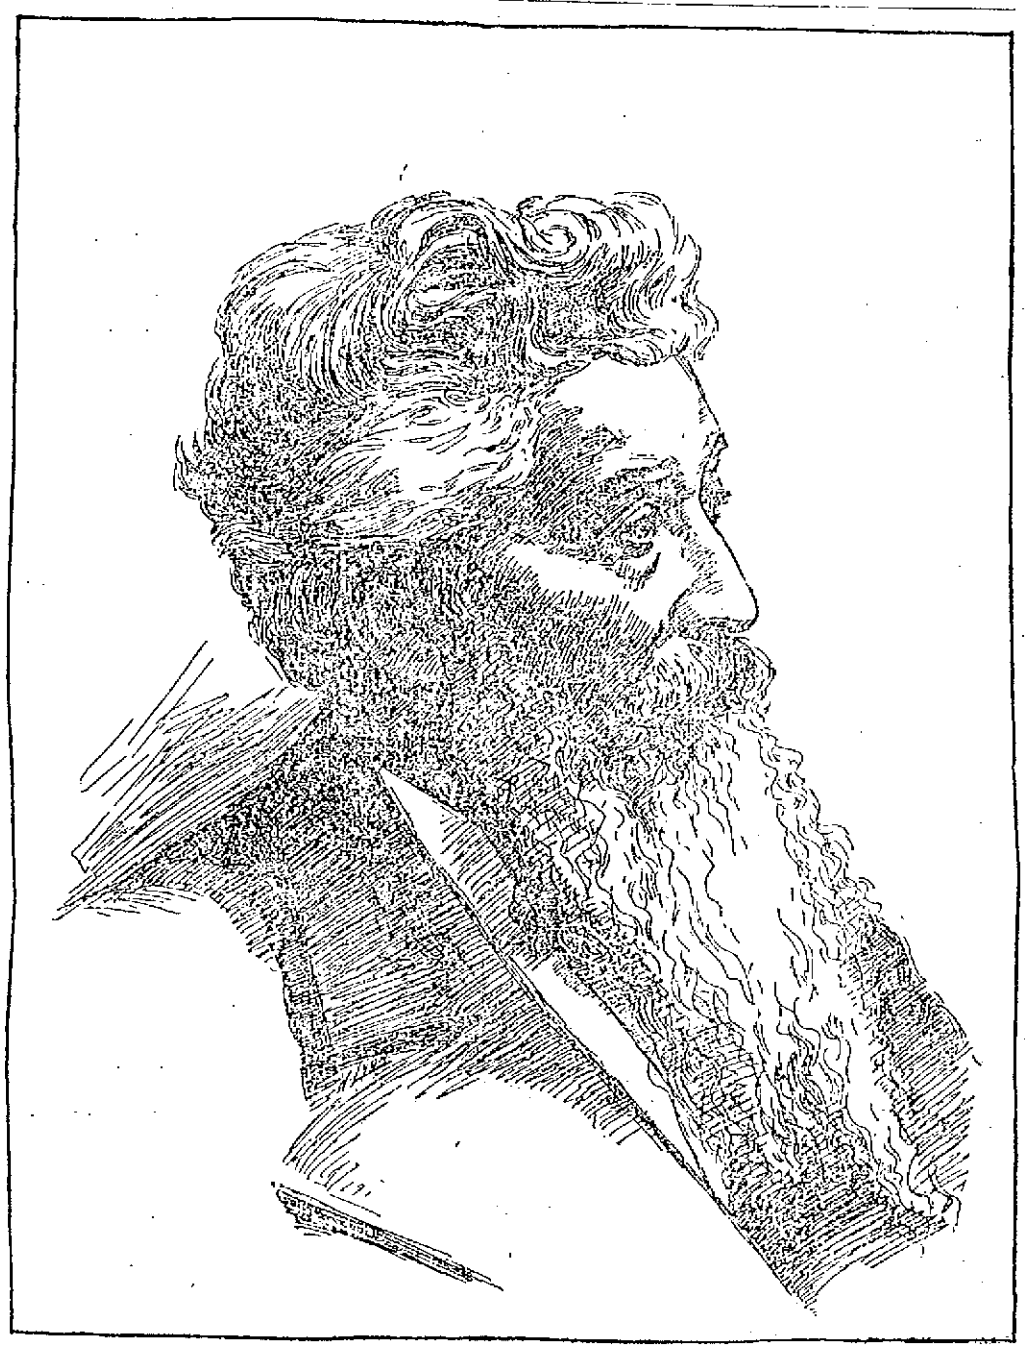

Naturally the authorities noticed this and though at first they may have regarded it as nothing more than a harmless eccentricity they grew suspicious and when some of the jealous physicians who would not have been sorry to have Betances out of the way suggested that he would bear watching the Spaniards set spies to observe him constantly. This annoyed Betances exceedingly and ere long became intolerable. Protest was of no avail, and one more instance of Spain's lack of foresight discovered itself, for the man who until this treatment was received had been her friend became the one who has done more than any other to bring about the final downfall of her rule in the Western Hemisphere. Cubans and Porto Ricans alike acknowledge this and so also do the Spaniards themselves. Spain complained to France in the last Cuban revolution.

When Betances had convinced himself that persecution was inevitable the Spanish official character revealed itself to him and much that had escaped his notice before he now saw clearly in its true light. He recognized that as long as Spain ruled Porto Rico the prosperity of the island would be hindered. He determined to study the effects of Spanish dominion on the other islands and to do this he made most thorough tours of investigation, visiting all the West Indies and studying conditions everywhere with the greatest care. He did not lay aside his medical work, however, but practiced continually. In Hayti, among the French-speaking part of the population he had an especially large number of patients. He travelled abroad also and in the United States, studying the political, social and economical conditions on the Peninsula and comparing them with those obtaining in other countries. In time he settled in Paris, where he was the accredited representative of the Cubans during the revolution of 1868-78, and again in the recent rebellion. Indeed, for over a generation he has been the recognized head of the anti-Spanish West Indies.

BETANCES'S WRITINGS.

He wrote many pamphlets on scientific, political, economic, legal and social and literary subjects, and for years has been one of the chief contributors to Le Temps. He took great interest in French politics and has had for his warm personal friends such men as Freycinet and Garibetta. He could have had political preferment in France had he wished.

While doing these things he established a reputation all over Europe as an Hellenist and also came to be acknowledged one of the most expert oculists in Paris, even in the world. Even the Spaniards are among his patients. He has made as much money as the famous American dentist, the late Dr. Evans and gave continuously large sums to aid insurgents whenever they have been at war against Spain. In spite of being continuously concerned with plots and revolutions, he is a man of gentle manners and lovable disposition. His Spanish patient feel affection for him, and some profess their love for him openly, though he has given their country more trouble than any other living man.

DR. BETANCES, WHO MAY BE CUBA'S FIRST PRESIDENT.

How They Keep Cool.

Whilst the American resigns himself at times of intense heat to perspiration and grumbling, his fellow-men in the East have solved the problem of "how to keep cool" by methods as ingenius as they are varied.

Of all these delightful methods the "sinking-rooms" of Persia commend themselves most to one's conception of the luxurious and delightful. When not required, these gilded, glass-walled palaces float gracefully on the blue waters of Lake Niris, the most lovely of Persian lakes. When the heat ceases to be comfortable their happy owners enter the floating palaces, which are drawn by heavy weights down into the transparent depths of the lake, and with an ample supply of air from above, luxurious surroundings, iced drinks, and fan-waving houris, the Persian millionaire who cannot enjoy 100 degrees in the shade must be difficult to please.

The Prince of Agra has a similar palace moored in one of the reaches of the Jumna. Its furniture and appointments are superb; the very chairs are made of gold and incrusted with jewels, and the curtains are of the most exquisite silks. On sultry days the Prince and his suite enter their river-palace, which is at once unmoored and floats gently on the bosom of the Jumna at the will of the tide, catching every breeze that blows, and gliding to the soothing music of harps played by fair hands. Who would not be the Prince of Agra?

The "cooling galleries" of China are little less delightful as refuges from a too torrid sun. They hang suspended over rivers or private lakes, and are sumptuously furnished with rare rugs and tayestry, settees, and lounging-chairs; whilst every cooling beverage that man can devise is there in profusion.

In India the well-to-do natives fly from the plains at the first blast of heat and take refuge in the hills, where the cool breezes blowing from snow-capped mountains drive away all thought of the simmering plains below.

Missionary Boards to "Invade" Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippines—Episcopalian Force Will Be Led By the Rev. P. Duarte—Planning a Great Concerted Agitation.

In consideration of the moral and religious responsibility involved in the political and military relations into which this country has been forced with Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippine Islands, Dr. Arthur J. Brown, secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian Church of the United States of America, a short time ago sent a letter to the foreign missionary bands of the various churches with a view to obtaining a frank mutual understanding and an agreement as to the most effective distribution of the work among the several Boards if it should be found expedient and practicable to undertake mission work in those fields.

Letters had come to the Presbyterian Board from persons in five different States urging the importance of taking up this work and offering to help furnish men and money, one minister having raised and paid over $1,000 for the support of the first missionary while the General Assembly itself gave strong approval in the report of the standing committee to the effect that "We cannot ignore the fact that God has given into the hands of the American Christians the Philippine Islands and thus opened a wide door to their population and by the guns of our battleships has summoned us to go up and possess the land."

Dr. Brown stated in his letter that the Presbyterian Board felt assured that this opinion was held by other denominations and that it would be unfortunate if several Boards should enter any one of these fields at the same time, thus unnecessarily duplicating expenses and perhaps introducing elements of rivalry.

TO PROMOTE COMITY.

"We have heard much in recent years of the principles of comity," he said, "and we are earnestly striving to promote that comity in lands that are already jointly occupied. We believe that the new situation thus providentially forced upon us affords an excellent opportunity, not only for beginning this work but for beginning it right from the view point of Christian fellowship and the economical use of men and money."

The invitation to this conference was sent to the American Board, the Baptist Missionary Union, the Missionary Society of the M. E. Church, the Board of Foreign and Domestic Missions of the P. E. Church and the Board of Foreign Missions of the Reformed Church in America.

The officers of the Protestant Episcopal Board expressed their sympathy with the object of the meeting, but held that it would be premature and impolitic for them to take action at present since their auxiliary, the American Church Missionary Society, has been conducting work in Cuba, since the Philippines and Porto Rico were not yet in possession of the United States and it was impossible to tell what their political status would be; and because the Board of Managers under whose province the work would come would not meet until September and the General Convention not until October.

"It is manifest," objected the Episcopal Board, "that an arrangement by which this Church would be restricted in its work to portions of the islands would interfere with the jurisdiction of missionary bishops who might be elected by the General Convention and would impede their efforts."

The American Church Missionary Society already has planned an invasion of Cuba under the Rev. Pedro Duarte, who is now in charge of the church at West Tampa, Florida, which is composed largely of Cubans, many of them eagerly waiting for an opportunity to return to the island. The Episcopalians had three chapels in Havana and its suburbs before the war but only one of these remains. Mr. Pena, a lay reader, conducts its services. The church missionary society has been unable to communicate with him by letter for several months, but money has been sent to him by cable to relieve distress among the Protestants.

In addition to the work in Havana the society supported a chapel and school in Matanzas. This was the former field of labor of the Rev. Mr. Duarte, he having obtained permission from the Cortes to hold Protestant meetings in Cuba. It was through his efforts also that a cemetery was provided where Protestants could be decently buried. When the war broke out the chapel at Matanzas had to be abandoned and was used for a vaudeville theater by the Spaniards. Mr. Duarte has hopes of regaining possession of it as soon as the Americans and Cubans can return to the island.

MISSION HOUSE IN MATANZAS.

FRUITFUL FIELD IN HAWAII.

The Episcopal church has another fruitful missionary field opening up before it in Hawaii where a diocese was formed by the English church as early as 1861. This was at one time offered to an American bishop, by the Archbishop of Canterbury, but was refused, and the present incumbent, Rt. Rev. Alfred Willis, D. D., was consecrated in 1872. Now that the islands become American territory the Episcopal church will push the work there with vigor.

The American Board did not accept the invitations of the Presbyterians to the conference because they already have a field in the Micronesian islands, which include the Carolines, the Ladrones, the Marshall and the Gilbert Islands.

Before the missionaries appeared the men in these islands went nearly or quite naked and the women wore two mats belted at their waists. Both men and women were elaborately tattooed. The people worshipped the spirits of their ancestors and were extremely superstitious.

The American Board has been assisted in its island work by missionaries from Hawaii. A feature of the work is the use of missionary ships. Since the beginning of its work in 1852 there have been four of these, all bearing the same name, the "Morning Star." These ships make yearly trips among the islands of Micronesia carrying missionaries and supplies.

It is the intention of the American Board to confine its labors for the present to this work, and to leave the Philippines to other boards that are not represented in this part of the world. The work in Cuba and Porto Rico will probably come within the province of the Home Missionary society.

THE DOOR IS OPEN.

With the exception of the Episcopal and American boards, the other Protestant missionary boards sent representatives to the conference called by the Presbyterians and resolutions were adopted declaring it to be the judgment of the conference "that the Christian people of America should immediately and prayerfully consider the duty of entering the door which God in his providence is opening."

The fact was noted that "Seven boards have already undertaken work in Cuba or are expecting to undertake it—namely, the Home Mission Board of the Southern Baptist convention, the missionary society of the Methodist Episcopal church, the Board of Missions of the M. E. Church, South, the General Conference of Free Baptists, the Foreign Missionary society of the United Brethren in Christ, the American church Missionary society of the Protestant Episcopal church, and the New York and Indiana Yearly Meeting of Friends.

"That three Boards contemplate work in Porto Rico, the M. E. Church, the M. E. Church South and the Southern Baptist Convention.

"And three Boards are disposed to consider seriously the opening of missionary work in the Philippine Islands, namely, the Presbyterian, the Methodist Episcopal and the Baptist.

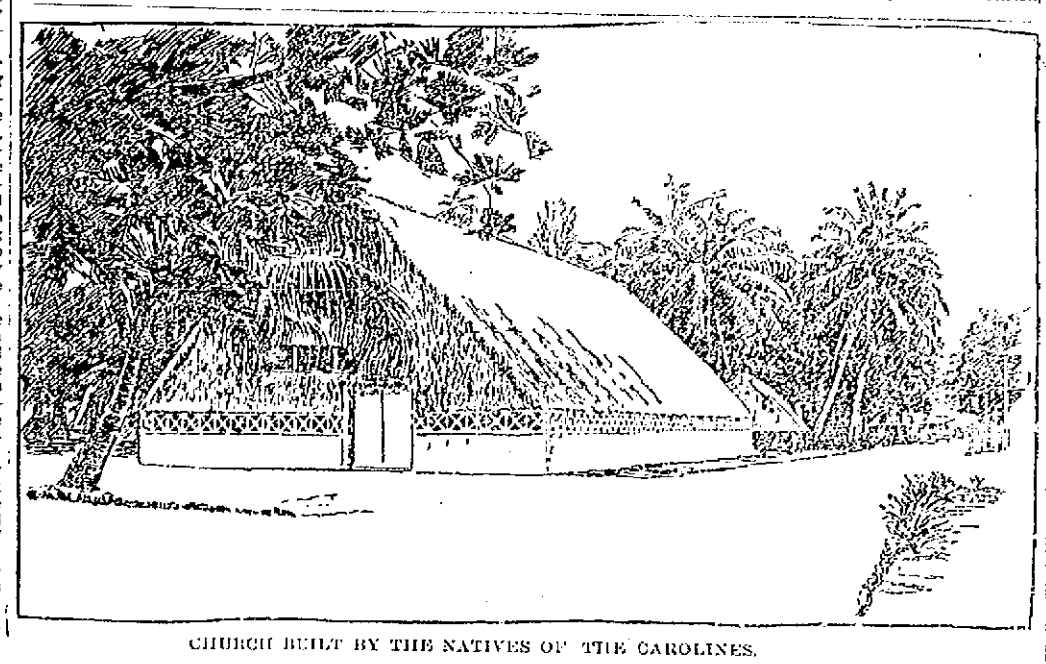

"We feel that it would be unfortunate if several Boards were to enter any one of these fields at the same time, except of course in large centers of population.

"We therefore recommend: (1) That each of the Boards mentioned appoint a committee of two on the field or fields which it thinks of entering, each group of committees to confer with a view to frank and mutual understanding of the most effective and equitable distribution of the territory and work under the several Boards.

"(2) That the committee take early steps to secure all available information regarding these various islands as missionary fields, and that all information thus obtained be shared with the other committees concerned, with a view to subsequent action.

"(3) That the committee on the Philippine Islands be requested to inform the American board that our board has expressed an intention of undertaking work in the Ladrone Islands, and that the question was raised as to whether the equipment of the American Board in connection with the Caroline Islands does not fit it better for work in the Ladrones."

The American Board has signified its intention to care for the work in the Ladrones. The committees are gathering all possible information about the conditions in the different islands, but no definite plans will be made until their political future is determined upon.

CHURCH BUILT BY THE NATIVES OF THE CAROLINES.

Peach Sandwiches.

The strawberry sandwiches, so called, of the earlier season are now succeeded by a similar article with a peach filling. Bread made of baking-powder biscuit dough is rid of its crust and cut into oblongs. The peaches are sliced, then sprinkled with powdered sugar, and if to be specially good, a dessert-spoonful of whipped cream is placed on each. They are of course served separately on small plates and eaten with a fork, not piled and handed around for the finger service so associated with a sandwich in its generic sense.

TRAINING GAME DOGS.

"It is not a wise plan to be too familiar with a young dog," said a clever dog trainer to the writer. "Make him recognize that you are his master, and this once accomplished, his one idea is to please you and to deserve a pat on the head and a word of praise. If the dog is of that breed which inherits the scent for game, the first thing to teach him is to fetch and carry—that is, to retrieve, and this without chewing or mutilating the object which he brings. A way to break a dog of this is to take an old glove, put a few tacks with the points extended outward, and fill it with cotton. He will find that by picking it up gently he can carry it without discomfort, while if he attempts to worry it, the consequences are not agreeable. This lesson is much better for him than any amount of whipping, and he will remember it much longer. Most game dogs are, however, so tender mouthed that they will retrieve the most delicate and dainty object without leaving on it the slightest impression of their teeth. But a dog of this description may be ruined by the inattention of his master, and neglect to take from him the article retrieved when offered for delivery. A young dog will, under such circumstances, almost invariably, think it is his privilege to play with it, and will relieve the itching of his teeth by proceeding to crush it or tear it to pieces. Once this is allowed it is an easy matter for it to become a fixed habit and a source of endless trouble."

THE WEATHER.

Moon sets—11:53 p. m.
High tide—5:45 a. m.; 6:15 p. m.

At present the conditions point to fair weather in New England Friday and Saturday, except that local showers are possible, most likely Friday morning; light variable winds; continued warm.

The management this season advertises a new show in every particular, and in fact nothing old but the name which is a household word with young and old.

The new dialogue and business introduced in the play this season with the great variety of new songs, dances, and specialties combine to make it even far better than ever. Those who appear in the cast are Dot Hoyt, Lester Howard, Emma Rossley, Robert Evans, Minnie Lee, A. C. Taylor and others.

POPULAR MR. IVES

OF LAWRENCE PRESENTED WITH PURSE.

Turner Ives, the well known ex-starter of the Lowell, Lawrence and Haverhill street railway, who was discharged by the L. L. and H. R. R. as a result of the collision near Belle Grove, has been presented with a purse of $100 by his late associates. Mr. Ives was invited to the L. L. and H. restaurant by a companion. There he was astonished to find a large gathering and for a few minutes he was bewildered as to its meaning.

Three rousing cheers were given for Mr. Ives and Fred Morton called him before him. In a neat speech, Mr. Morton presented him with the $100 on behalf of his fellows, thus indicating the respect and esteem in which he is held by his former associates. Mr. Ives acknowledged the purse in a few well chosen words.

CYCLING NEWS.

Chicago, claims the youngest bicyclist in the country in the person of Gladys Inglis, 2 years and 1 month old, who rides a wheel with an 8-inch frame, 14-inch wheels, and correspondingly small in the other measurements.

Charlie Kilpatrick, the one-legged cyclist of international fame has branched out as a marksman and recently broke 95 out of 100 clay pigeons at a rise of 30 feet while riding around a 20-foot circle. He loaded a single-barrel gun for each pigeon, riding hands off, and completed the task in 28 minutes, an average of a little less than four birds a minute.

It is reported that Tom Linton will sail for home next Saturday. He will hardly be likely to do so before he hears the decison of the Orient people, which has not yet been reached, on the question of sending a pacing team over with him for a European attack. It is reported in Philadelphia papers that Linton is to meet Charlie Church there Saturday at 25 miles, but the race may be declared off.

The Pennsylvania division will make a determined effort for the passage of a large sum for road improvement by the state legislature in the way of macadam roads. There is also a probability that another bill taxing bicycles will be passed which the division will fight hard.

The circuit chasers have thirty days of racing before them so that the championship fight will be a long one, and it is not yet over by any means.

Some of the best amateur bicycle races of the season will take place Saturday afternoon at Charles River Park.

Tommy McDermott of Gorham street is ready to meet Frank McGilley, the speedy rider of Belvidere, for any distance, the latter agrees upon. Challenges to the former from young riders will be received by Michael McDonough, 47 Summer street.

Dan Coughlin, Bill Creadon, George Maguire and Phil Carroll will compete in a two mile bicycle race to be held on the boulevard the early part of next week.

How Old She Looks

Your household cares may be heavy and disappointments may be deep, but they cannot make you look old.

Ayer's Hair Vigor

permanently postpones the tell-tale signs of age. Used according to directions it gradually brings back the color of youth. At fifty your hair may look as it did at fifteen. It thickens the hair also; stops it from falling out; and cleanses the scalp from dandruff. Shall we send you our book on the Hair and its Diseases?

The Best Advice Free.

If you do not obtain all the benefits you expected from the use of the Vigor, write the doctor about it. Probably there is some difficulty with your general system which may be easily removed. Address,

MATRIMONIAL.

LANOUETTE—LEMAITRE.

Tuesday afternoon, at 5 o'clock, at Manchester, N. H., Miss Eva Lanouette eldest daughter of Dr. J. E. A. Lanouette, became the wife of George L. Lemaitre, formerly of Lowell. The marriage took place in St. Augustine's church and was performed by Rev. Fr. Chevalier. A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents after the ceremony and many beautiful gifts were received. Mr. and Mrs. Lemaitre left on the 7.50 train south for their wedding trip. They will make their home in Manchester on their return.

COLEMAN—DONAHUE.

Mr. Michael Coleman of Lawrence and Miss Nellie Donahue were united in marriage at St. Patrick's parsonage at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Rev. Fr. Walsh tied the nuptial knot. Mr. Dennis Kelley was best man and Miss Mary Spring of Fitchburg attended the bride. Both attendants are first cousins of the bride. The bride was becomingly attired in white Swiss muslin and carried bride's roses. The bridesmaid wore an organdie gown and carried pink roses.

A reception was held from 4 to 9 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, 111 Common street. Many friends were present to extend the best wishes for a happy, wedded life to the young couple. Guests were present from Boston, Fitchburg, Salem, Lawrence and Haverhill. A list too numerous to mention of costly and appropriate wedding gifts was received by the newly wedded pair. Mr. and Mrs. Coleman left on the 9.50 train for a bridal tour. Upon their return they will reside in Lawrence.

ROSE—WALSH.

Mr. Harry W. Rose and Miss Annie Walsh, both of this city, were united in marriage at the parsonage of the Central M. E. church, 37 Eleventh street, yesterday, by Rev. W. H. Meredith.

WILSON—ULLOCK.

Mr. Harry Wilson and Miss Margaret Ullock were married by Rev. W. H. Meredith at the parsonage of the Central M. E. church, 37 Eleventh street, yesterday. Both are of this city.

THE RIGBY RACES

Were Attended by More Than 700 Persons.

ONLY FOUR HEATS WERE RUN OFF.

Whon Rain Interfered With the Sport.

Portland, Me., Aug. 24.—The largest crowd that has been in attendance at the New England fair—numbering about 7000 persons—was prevented by the weather clerk today from getting more than a taste of what promised to be rare sport. As it was, four heats were got off.

The unfinished pacing race is as much of a conundrum as ever, three horses having won heats. B.B. and Norvin G. were the heat winners today, duplicating their performance of yesterday. Outside of the heat winners, all of the other horses in the race have been distanced from time to time, so that the rule regarding all horses not winning a heat in the first five will not have to be enforced.

So far, the racing in this class has not developed a decided race winner, and it looks like tossing up a cent as to whether the roan or the bay gets the final heat, while Winfield is liable, after a long rest, to be very dangerous.

The 2.19 trot, so far as it has proceeded—two heats—has given the talent a decided upset. Nick was favorite, but the first two heats went to Warren Guy, a brown stallion from Nova Scotia, that sold in the auctions for $2 in $50. The favorite was a long way from good and his bad acting caused him to be behind the flag in the second heat, while Warren Guy equalled his record of 2.14½, made in the first heat.

Warren Guy is a horse that H. C. Lydard of Kentville, N. S., has been working at the kite track, Old Orchard, for 10 days or so. He arrived at that track with pails, blankets, etc. strapped under the road cart and attracted considerable attention at the time by jogging out that way.

The same man brought out Gordon Sims a few years ago, and sold him for a long price after a clever race. Warren Guy looks like a good thing and has been priced, it is said, at $6000.

With several inches of mud after the thunder storm, the judges were forced to postpone until tomorrow at 10.

DEFEATS CRACK RIDERS AT ASBURY PARK.

Michael Also Gave a Grand Exhibition.

Asbury Park, N. J., Aug. 25.—Fully 8000 people witnessed the races in this city under the auspices of the American Cycle Racing association. The one mile L. A. W. championship professional brought out a field of the most noted crack riders, including Bald, Cooper, Major Taylor, Stevens, Eaton and Gardiner. Bald was the favorite, and by hard riding he succeeded in winning his heat, and later captured the final by a superhuman spurt on the stretch. The race between Michael and Lefferson was the event of the day. It was Lefferson's first middle distance paced race, and he acquitted himself with honors, although he was defeated. Michael's exhibition was a grand one and disclosed most conclusively the staying powers of the famous rider.

A PACED RACE.

New Bedford, Aug. 25.—C. S. Bolting of Providence defeated Frederick Beauregard of Fall River at the Buttonwood cycle track last evening in a 25-mile paced race. Bolting led his opponent by three laps at the finish. Superior pacing was a factor in the victory, but no records were broken. The time was 52:30 4-5.

LOWELL'S SICK.

E. F. McSweeny, agent of the Massachusetts Volunteer association in New York, has made a report concerning the Massachusetts men who arrived on the Relief in New York last Saturday. The report gives the following account of Lowell men, their sickness and where they are being treated:

F. C. Douglass, Co. C, 6th Mass., Lowell—Long Island College Hospital.

J. A. Donahue, Co. G., 6th Mass., Lowell—Fort Hamilton Military Hospital; intermittent fever; convalescent.

G. H. Connell, Co. E, 6th Mass., Lowell—Fort Hamilton Military Hospital; typhoid fever; convalescent.

CAPT. MITTEN'S HEALTH.

Capt. Mitten's residence was besieged with visitors all day yesterday and though the captain disliked to disappoint any of his friends still under his physician's orders, it was necessary to deny the privilege of meeting him to many, as he is in imperative need of a good rest. He has slept comparatively well since his return home, and will soon be restored to health.

UNIONISTS REBEL

Against Tory Domination in England.

They Helped the Liberals to Victory Making a Change of 1000 Votes—Mr. Curzon's Seat Capby tured Liberals—The Result a Rebuff to Salisbury.

London, Aug. 25.—The election for the seat in the house of commons for the Southport division of Lancashire, made vacant by the acceptance of Mr. Curzon of the viceroyalty of India, resulted in the return of Sir Herbert Leyland, Liberal, by a majority of 272 votes over his Conservative opponent, Lord Skelmerdale. The polling was: Leyland, 5100; Skelmersdale, 4828.

At the last election for the seat, Mr. Curzon, in the Conservative interest, was returned by a majority of 764. Lady Leyland was Jennie Chamberlain of Cleveland.

The result of the election is a bad defeat for the government, Mr. Curzon having held the seat since 1892. Peculiar circumstances affected the contest. A section of Liberal-Unionists, headed by the chairman of the local Unionist association, declined to support Lord Skelmersdale on the ground that now that the home rule agitation was dead, there was no longer any need for Liberals to vote for Conservatives. Thereupon Mr. Chamberlain, secretary of state for the colonies, plunged into the fray with a letter urging the Unionists to vote solidly for Lord Skelmersdale because home rule was not dead, but only sleeping. The Unionist leaders professed to feel contempt for this "little Unionist revolt," the success of which is likely to have important results as regards the relations of the parties in the future.

All the papers agree that Lord Skelmersdales' defeat is an expression of the electors' dissatisfaction with Lord Salisbury's Chinese policy. The Chronicle and News declare that it sounds the knell of the conservative government.

CHELMSFORD MEETING.

WAIVES ITS RIGHT TO CONTRACT.

There was a very large attendance at Chelmsford's town meeting last night. J. A. Bartlett was elected moderator.

The substance of Article 2 was to see if the town would vote to contract with the state highway commission to build a section of state highway in North Chelmsford, known as Princeton street extension—$8000 having been alloted by the commission—or to see if the town would vote to waive all rights to contract for the work.

After brief remarks by Selectmen Sheldon and C. E. A. Bartlett, the following vote was passed to wit: "That the town to waive all rights to contract for the work. Contractor Goddard who has had charge of similar work in Lowell was invited to explain the method of doing such work and responded.

Under Article 3 relating to widening and straightening a road leading to the new Catholic cemetery in North Chelmsford, voted that the selectmen be requested to petition the county commissioners to grant another hearing in the matter of said road, the public having received insufficient notice and that the expense to the town would be too great.

Article 4 which hinged upon Article 3 was dismissed.

Under Article 6, relating to a new cemetery near the Centre village, it was voted on motion of C. E. A. Bartlett that a committee consisting of Harry L. Parkhurst, Arthur M. Warren, Charles E. Bartlett, Albert P. Perham and Walter Perham be appointed to consider the question of the purchase of a suitable lot of land near the Centre village for cemetery purposes, to ascertain what lots can be obtained and to report the result of its investigations, with such recommendations as they shall see fit to make to the town at its next annual meeting.

NORTH BILLERICA.

The Talbot and Faulkner mills of North Billerica are still busy on government goods. During the summer, months night work (over time) has been in progress at these mills four nights a week. Only one night overtime was worked last week and that was Tuesday.

The materials produced for the government are principally rough blue flannel cloths for blouses and twilled goods of an exceptionally fine grade. It has been customary for these mills to give the help an annual vacation and that during the month of August.

As peace has been now declared with Spain, it is thought the operatives of both of the above mills will be given an opportunity to enjoy their vacation some time during the next month.

EXTRA

Gen. Miles Ordered to Send Troops Back.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—Orders have been issued directing General Miles to send home from Porto Rico all troops not actually needed for service there. No point has been designated as yet for their disembarkation in the United States, but an examination of several sites is in progress. It is desired to secure a healthful camp and at the same time one where disembarkation can take place at once without any delay such as occurred at Montauk.

It is expected that some of the troops to be sent home from Porto Rico will sail today or tomorrow. The first arrivals will be landed at New York city.

QUIET CONFERENCE.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—Senator Davis of Minnesota and Senator Frye of Maine, who have been selected for peace commissioners, arrived at the White House a little before ten o'clock today and immediately began a conference with the president.

The conference of Senators Davis and Frye with the president lasted two hours and a half and then the two senators called on Secretary Day who will be chairman of the commission. Reticence was observed respecting the conference, which went fully into details of the American position at the meeting of the peace commission.

THREE DEATHS And Much Sickness From Ice Cream.

Summer Boarders at Middleton, N. Y. Eat Ice Cream Made From Poisoned Lemon Extract With Fatal Result.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

Middleton, N. Y., Aug. 25.—Ice cream prepared with lemon extract purchased from a travelling salesman a few days ago has caused the death of three persons and a score of others are sick and more fatalities are expected.

The dead are: Mrs. Herman Michaels, No. 613 Ninth avenue, New York; Mrs. William Seder, wife of a Mount Vernon man street inspector; Robert Jones, farmer near Greenfield, Ulster county.

The dangerously sick are:

H. J. Harding of New York.

Herman Ausferch, Mount Vernon.

Mark Holmes, 157 West 111th street, New York.

Mrs. Snyder and daughter, West 11th street, New York.

Mrs. Hanson, 310 Amsterdam avenue, New York.

Mrs. D. A. Orsborn, New Burgh.

Mrs. Katherine Taylor, Philadelphia.

Miss Alice Cleater, 57 Dove street, Brooklyn.

Otto Seifert, East End avenue, New York.

Mr. H. A. Stusthefe, No. 25 Adams street, Brooklyn.

Henry Webber, No. 814 Tenth avenue Brooklyn.

Mrs. Arthur Jones and sons, Floyd, Ward and Edward; Mr and Mrs. William Jones of Mountaindale.

These constitute early all the summer guest at Jones' cottages at Greenfield, which is about five miles from Mountaindale and the proprietor's parents and his family. The ice cream was eaten at Sunday's dinner and about nine o'clock that night Mrs. Seder was attacked with nausea. Soon after others were similarly attacked and by midnight the two cottages were filled with the sick. Dr. J. F. Curlette of Mountaindale was summoned and he diagnosed the cases at Ptomaine poisoning. He called Dr. Munson of Woodbourne, and the two have worked incessantly. Mrs. Seder died Tuesday. Mrs. Michael Wednesday night, and early this morning Robert Jones died.

Dr. Curlette believes at least half a dozen more death will occur.

FUNERALS.

DONAHUE—Thomas Donahue, aged one year and three months, child of Patrick and Alice Donahue, died yesterday at the home of his parents, 11 Bassett street. The funeral took place this afternoon and burial was in the Catholic cemetery.

DR. C. E. DONLAN

His Success Pleases His Friends Here.

Dr. Charles E. Donlan, who was recommended to Surgeon General Sternberg for appointment as one of the physicians to accompany the army of occupation to Cuba, sailed on the Olivette from Boston this morning for Fernandina, Fla. Dr. Donlan left home this morning to visit Washington and have a meeting with Surgeon General Sternberg and Assistant Secretary Allen. He had with him recommendations and letters of introduction from all the leading physicians of this city and many of our prominent citizens. It is believed that when he reached Boston he called on Dr. Bradford, who recommended his appointment, and was ordered to go on board the Olivette, it being likely that his appointment had already been decided upon and it was thought best to save him the trip to Washington. He at once sent a despatch to his brother-in-law, Mr. Thomas C. Lee of this city, informing him that he had boarded the Olivette.

The appointment gives Dr. Donlan the rank of Lieutenant and his friends will be more than pleased at his great and early success in his profession.

STIFF SENTENCE

Patrick Davis Get 16 Months in Jail

AFTER TRIAL BEFORE JUDGE HADLEY TODAY

For Assaulting Two Persons in Dracut.

The town of Dracut was largely represented in police court this morning, its interest being centred in the case of Patrick Davis, a farmhand charged with a severe assault upon Mrs. Mary J. Smith, his employer, and Patrick Egan, her would-be rescuer.

This is the case in which Davis while drunk severely beat Mrs. Smith and later attacked Egan with a hoe also setting a dog upon him.

The case had had several continuances owing to the fact that Egan, who was badly used up, was unable to appear.

Davis, though slight of stature, is an ugly looking customer. He pleaded not guilty and was without counsel.

Mary Jane Smith was first called and she testified that Davis was in her employ and on August 2nd, the day of the assault, she ordered him to feed the cows, which he refused to do, whereupon she ordered him to get out of the house. He did so, but not before he had made the threat that he would get even with her. "I then went upstairs," said Mrs. Smith, "and was engaged cleaning my chamber when Davis came up and struck me on the chin, knocking one of my teeth out. Dazed by the blow, he gave me, I fell to my knees. As I did he punched me twice on the back. I then ran out on the road with him following me, and had gone but a short distance when he caught me, threw me to the ground and struck me several times after which Mr. Egan appeared."

Patrick Egan, the other complainant, was the next to give evidence. He stated that being attracted by screams apparently uttered by the Smith woman, he reached the place of assault to see Davis kneeling on Mrs. Smiths' arm and striking her. He immediately interfered, whereupon Davis turned from the woman and hit him with a hoe until he was rendered insensible.

Chief of Police Hill and Officer Jesse Richardson of the town of Dracut testified to having arrested Davis and to his being an undesirable citizen.

Dr. Smart of St. Johns hospital who is attending Egan testified as to the nature of Egan's injuries. In concluding the doctor stated Egan's life was in great danger upon his arrival at the hospital.

In his own behalf the defendant testified that Mrs. Smith was a woman of bad character and for weeks previous to the assault she had been tantalizing him while in a state of intoxication, and on August 2, she struck him with a coffee can on the head and he then turned on her and struck her. She screamed and ran out on the road. He followed her to bring her back as there was a crowd gathering. She refused to come back however and fell down. He was endeavoring to carry her home when Egan appeared and struck him on the head with the hoe. He then left the woman and took the hoe from Egan while the latter took hold of his leg and tried to bite it. He then struck Egan several times with the hoe until the latter let go and he then walked away from the scene and was later arrested by the town officers. After all the testimony had been submitted Judge Hadley found the defendant guilty and ordered him to be committed to the house of correction for one year for assault on Egan and four months additional for assault on Mrs. Smith.

The new dialogue and business introduced in the play this season with the great variety of new songs, dances, and specialties combine to make it even far better than ever. Those who appear in the cast are Dot Hoyt, Lester Howard, Emma Rossley, Robert Evans, Minnie Lee, A. C. Taylor and others.

POPULAR MR. IVES

OF LAWRENCE PRESENTED WITH PURSE.

Turner Ives, the well known ex-starter of the Lowell, Lawrence and Haverhill street railway, who was discharged by the L. L. and H. R. R. as a result of the collision near Belle Grove, has been presented with a purse of $100 by his late associates. Mr. Ives was invited to the L. L. and H. restaurant by a companion. There he was astonished to find a large gathering and for a few minutes he was bewildered as to its meaning.

Three rousing cheers were given for Mr. Ives and Fred Morton called him before him. In a neat speech, Mr. Morton presented him with the $100 on behalf of his fellows, thus indicating the respect and esteem in which he is held by his former associates. Mr. Ives acknowledged the purse in a few well-chosen words.

CYCLING NEWS.

Chicago, claims the youngest bicyclist in the country in the person of Gladys Inglis, 2 years and 1 month old, who rides a wheel with an 8-inch frame, 14-inch wheels, and correspondingly small in the other measurements.

Charlie Killpatrick, the one-legged cyclist of international fame has branched out as a marksman and recently broke 95 out of 100 clay pigeons at a rise of 30 feet while riding around a 20-foot circle. He loaded a single-barrel gun for each pigeon, riding hands off, and completed the task in 28 minutes, an average of a little less than four birds a minute.

It is reported that Tom Linton will sail for home next Saturday. He will hardly be likely to do so before he hears the decison of the Orient people, which has not yet been reached, on the question of sending a pacing team over with him for a European attack. It is reported in Philadelphia papers that Linton is to meet Charlie Church there Saturday at 25 miles, but the race may be declared off.

The Pennsylvania division will make a determined effort for the passage of a large sum for road improvement by the state legislature in the way of macadam roads. There is also a probability that another bill taxing bicycles will be passed which the division will fight hard.

The circuit chasers have thirty days of racing before them so that the championship fight will be a long one, and it is not yet over by any means.

Some of the best amateur bicycle races of the season will take place Saturday afternoon at Charles River Park.

Tommy McDermott of Gorham street is ready to meet Frank McGilley, the speedy rider of Belvidere, for any distance, the latter agrees upon. Challenges to the former from young riders will be received by Michael McDonough, 47 Summer street.

Dan Coughlin, Bill Croaden, George Maguire and Phil Carroll will compete in a two mile bicycle race to be held on the boulevard the early part of next week.

MATRIMONIAL.

LANOUETTE—LEMAITRE.

Tuesday afternoon, at 5 o'clock, at Manchester, N. H., Miss Eva Lanouette eldest daughter of Dr. J. E. A. Lanouette became the wife of George L. Lemaitre, formerly of Lowell. The marriage took place in St. Augustine's church and was performed by Rev. Fr. Chevalier. A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents after the ceremony and many beautiful gifts were received. Mr. and Mrs. Lemaitre left on the 7.50 train south for their wedding trip. They will make their home in Manchester on their return.

COLEMAN—DONAHUE.

Mr. Michael Coleman of Lawrence and Miss Nellie Donahue were united in marriage at St. Patrick's parsonage at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Rev. Fr. Walsh tied the nuptial knot. Mr. Dennis Kelley was best man and Miss Mary Spring of Fitchburg attended the bride. Both attendants are first cousins of the bride. The bride was becomingly attired in white Swiss muslin and carried bride's roses. The bridesmaid wore an organdie gown and carried pink roses.

A reception was held from 4 to 9 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, 111 Common street. Many friends were present to extend the best wishes for a happy wedded life to the young couple. Guests were present from Boston, Fitchburg, Salem, Lawrence and Haverhill. A list too numerous to mention of costly and appropriate wedding gifts was received by the newly wedded pair. Mr. and Mrs. Coleman left on the 9.50 train for a bridal tour. Upon their return they will reside in Lawrence.

ROSE—WALSH.

Mr. Harry W. Rose and Miss Annie Walsh, both of this city, were united in marriage at the parsonage of the Central M. E. church, 37 Eleventh street, yesterday, by Rev. W. H. Meredith.

WILSON—ULLOCK.

Mr. Harry Wilson and Miss Margaret Ullock were married by Rev. W. H. Meredith at the parsonage of the Central M. E. church, 37 Eleventh street, yesterday. Both are of this city.

THE RIGBY RACES

Were Attended by More Than 700 Persons.

When Rain Interfered With the Sport.

Portland, Me., Aug. 24.—The largest crowd that has been in attendance at the New England fair—numbering about 7000 persons—was prevented by the weather clerk today from getting more than a taste of what promised to be rare sport. As it was, four heats were got off.

The unfinished pacing race is as much of a conundrum as ever, three horses having won heats. B.B. and Norvin G. were the heat winners today, duplicating their performance of yesterday. Outside of the heat winners, all of the other horses in the race have been distanced from time to time, so that the rule regarding all horses not winning a heat in the first five will not have to be enforced.

So far, the racing in this class has not developed a decided race winner, and it looks like tossing up a cent as to whether the roan or the bay gets the final heat, while Winfield is liable, after a long rest, to be very dangerous.

The 2.10 trot, so far as it has proceeded—two heats—has given the talent a decided upset. Nick was favorite, but the first two heats went to Warren Guy, a brown stallion from Nova Scotia, that sold in the auctions for $2 in $50. The favorite was a long way from good and his bad acting caused him to be behind the flag in the second heat, while Warren Guy equalled his record of 2.14½, made in the first heat.

Warren Guy is a horse that H. C. Lydiard of Kentville, N. S., has been working at the kite track, Old Orchard, for 10 days or so. He arrived at that track with pails, blankets, etc. strapped under the road cart and attracted considerable attention at the time by jogging out that way.

The same man brought out Gordon Sims a few years ago, and sold him for a long price after a clever race. Warren Guy looks like a good thing and has been priced, it is said, at $5000.

With several inches of mud after the thunder storm, the judges were forced to postpone until tomorrow at 10.

DEFEATS CRACK RIDERS AT ASBURY PARK.

Michael Also Gave a Grand Exhibition.

Asbury Park, N. J., Aug. 25.—Fully 5000 people witnessed the races in this city under the auspices of the American Cycle Racing association. The one mile L. A. W. championship professional brought out a field of the most noted cruck riders, including Bald, Cooper, Major Taylor, Stevens, Eaton and Gardiner. Bald was the favorite, and by hard riding he succeeded in winning his heat, and later captured the final by a superhuman spurt on the stretch. The race between Michael and Lefferson was the event of the day. It was Lefferson's first middle distance paced race, and he acquitted himself with honors, although he was defeated. Michael's exhibition was a grand one and disclosed most conclusively the staying powers of the famous rider.

LOWELL'S SICK.

E. F. McSweeny, agent of the Massachusetts Volunteer association in New York, has made a report concerning the Massachusetts men who arrived on the Relief in New York last Saturday. The report gives the following account of Lowell men, their sickness and where they are being treated:

F. C. Douglass, Co. C, 6th Mass., Lowell—Long Island College Hospital.

J. A. Donahue, Co. G., 6th Mass., Lowell—Fort Hamilton Military Hospital; intermittent fever; convalescent.

G. H. Connell, Co. E, 6th Mass., Lowell—Fort Hamilton Military Hospital; typhoid fever; convalescent.

UNIONISTS REBEL

Against Tory Domination in England.

They Helped the Liberals to Victory Making a Change of 1000 Votes—Mr. Curzon's Seat Captured by the Liberals—The Result a Rebuff to Salisbury.

London, Aug. 25.—The election for the seat in the house of commons for the Southport division of Lancashire, made vacant by the acceptance of Mr. Curzon of the viceroyalty of India, resulted in the return of Sir Herbert Leyland, Liberal, by a majority of 272 votes over his Conservative opponent, Lord Skelmersdale. The polling was: Leyland, 5100; Skelmersdale, 4328.

At the last election for the seat, Mr. Curzon, in the Conservative interest, was returned by a majority of 761. Lady Leyland was Jennie Chamberlain of Cleveland.

The result of the election is a bad defeat for the government, Mr. Curzon having held the seat since 1892. Peculiar circumstances affected the contest. A section of Liberal-Unionists, headed by the chairman of the local Unionist association, declined to support Lord Skelmersdale on the ground that now that the home rule agitation was dead, there was no longer any need for Liberals to vote for Conservatives. Thereupon Mr. Chamberlain, secretary of state for the colonies, plunged into the fray with a letter urging the Unionists to vote solidly for Lord Skelmersdale because home rule was not dead, but only sleeping. The Unionist leaders professed to feel contempt for this "little Unionist revolt," the success of which is likely to have important results as regards the relations of the parties in the future.

All the papers agree that Lord Skelmersdales' defeat is an expression of the electors' dissatisfaction with Lord Salisbury's Chinese policy. The Chronicle and News declare that it sounds the knell of the conservative government.

CHELMSFORD MEETING.

WAIVES ITS RIGHT TO CONTRACT.

There was a very large attendance at Chelmsford's town meeting last night. J. A. Bartlett was elected moderator.

The substance of Article 2 was to see if the town would vote to contract with the state highway commission to build a section of state highway in North Chelmsford, known as Princeton street extension—$8000 having been alloted by the commission—or to see if the town would vote to waive all rights to contract for the work.

After brief remarks by Selectmen Sheldon and C. E. A. Bartlett, the following vote was passed to wit: "That the town to waive all rights to contract for the work. Contractor Goddard who has had charge of similar work in Lowell was invited to explain the method of doing such work and responded.

Under Article 3 relating to widening and straightening a road leading to the new Catholic cemetery in North Chelmsford, voted that the selectmen be requested to petition the county commissioners to grant another hearing in the matter of said road, the public having received insufficient notice and that the expense to the town would be too great.

Article 4 which hinged upon Article 3 was dismissed.

Under Article 6, relating to a new cemetery near the Centre village, it was voted on motion of C. E. A. Bartlett that a committee consisting of Harry L. Parkhurst, Arthur M. Warren, Charles E. Bartlett, Albert P. Perham and Walter Perham be appointed to consider the question of the purchase of a suitable lot of land near the Centre village for cemetery purposes, to ascertain what lots can be obtained and to report the result of its investigations, with such recommendations as they shall see fit to make to the town at its next annual meeting.

NORTH BILLERICA.

The Talbot and Faulkner mills at North Billerica are still busy on government goods. During the summer, months night work (over time) has been in progress at these mills four nights a week. Only one night overtime was worked last week and that was Tuesday.

The materials produced for the government are principally rough blue flannel cloths for blouses and twilled goods of an exceptionally fine grade. It has been customary for these mills to give the help an annual vacation and that during the month of August.

As peace has been now declared with Spain, it is thought the operatives of both of the above mills will be given an opportunity to enjoy their vacation some time during the next month.

MILES' TROOPS TO RETURN

EXTRA

Gen. Miles Ordered to Send Troops Back.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—Orders have been issued directing General Miles to send home from Porto Rico all troops not actually needed for service there. No point has been designated as yet for their disembarkation in the United States, but an examination of several sites is in progress. It is desired to secure a healthful camp and at the same time one where disembarkation can take place at once without any delay such as occurred at Montauk.

It is expected that some of the troops to be sent home from Porto Rico will sail today or tomorrow. The first arrivals will be landed at New York city.

QUIET CONFERENCE.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—Senator Davis of Minnesota and Senator Frye of Maine, who have been selected for peace commissioners, arrived at the White House a little before ten o'clock today and immediately began a conference with the president.

The conference of Senators Davis and Frye with the president lasted two hours and a half and then the two senators called on Secretary Day who will be chairman of the commission. Reticence was observed respecting the conference, which went fully into details of the American position at the meeting of the peace commission.

STIFF SENTENCE

Patrick Davis Get 16 Months in Jail

AFTER TRIAL BEFORE JUDGE HADLEY TODAY

For Assaulting Two Persons in Dracut.

The town of Dracut was largely represented in police court this morning, its interest being centred in the case of Patrick Davis, a farmhand charged with a severe assault upon Mrs. Mary J. Smith, his employer, and Patrick Egan, her would-be rescuer.

This is the case in which Davis while drunk severely beat Mrs. Smith and later attacked Egan with a hoe also setting a dog upon him.

The case had had several continuances owing to the fact that Egan, who was badly used up, was unable to appear.

Mary Jane Smith was first called and she testified that Davis was in her employ and on August 2nd, the day of the assault, she ordered him to feed the cows, which he refused to do, whereupon she ordered him to get out of the house. He did so, but not before he had made the threat that he would get even with her. "I then went upstairs," said Mrs. Smith, "and was engaged cleaning my chamber when Davis came up and struck me on the chin, knocking one of my teeth out. Dazed by the blow, he gave me, I fell to my knees. As I did he punched me twice on the back. I then ran out on the road with him following me, and had gone but a short distance when he caught me, threw me to the ground and struck me several times after which Mr. Egan appeared."

Patrick Egan, the other complainant, was the next to give evidence. He stated that being attracted by screams apparently uttered by the Smith woman, he reached the place of assault to see Davis kneeling on Mrs. Smiths' arm and striking her. He immediately interfered, whereupon Davis turned from the woman and hit him with a hoe until he was rendered insensible.

Chief of Police Hill and Officer Jesse Richardson of the town of Dracut testified to having arrested Davis and to his being an undesirable citizen.

Dr. Smart of St. Johns hospital who is attending Egan testified as to the nature of Egan's injuries. In concluding the doctor stated Egan's life was in great danger upon his arrival at the hospital.

In his own behalf the defendant testified that Mrs. Smith was a woman of bad character and for weeks previous to the assault she had been tantalizing him while in a state of intoxication, and on August 2, she struck him with a coffee can on the head and he then turned on her and struck her. She screamed and ran out on the road. He followed her to bring her back as there was a crowd gathering. She refused to come back however and fell down. He was endeavoring to carry her home when Egan appeared and struck him on the head with the hoe. He then left the woman and took the hoe from Egan while the latter took hold of his leg and tried to bite it. He then struck Egan several times with the hoe until the latter let go and he then walked away from the scene and was later arrested by the town officers. After all the testimony had been submitted Judge Hadley found the defendant guilty and ordered him to be committed to the house of correction for one year for assault on Eagan and four months additional for assault on Mrs. Smith.

THREE DEATHS

And Much Sickness From Ice Cream.

Summer Boarders at Middleton, N. Y. Eat Ice Cream Made From Poisoned Lemon Extract With Fatal Result.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

Middleton, N. Y., Aug. 25.—Ice cream prepared with lemon extract purchased from a travelling salesman a few days ago has caused the death of three persons and a score of others are sick and more fatalities are expected.

The dead are: Mrs. Herman Michaels, No. 613 Ninth avenue, New York; Mrs. William Seder, wife of a Mount Vernon street inspector; Robert Jones, farmer near Greenfield, Ulster county.

The dangerously sick are:

H. J. Harding of New York.

Heurian Ausderch, Mount Vernon.

Mark Holmes, 157 West 111th street, New York.

Mrs. Snyder and daughter, West 47th street, New York.

Mrs. Hanson, 310 Amsterdam avenue, New York.

Mrs. C. E. Allen and two children, West 47th street, New York.

Mrs. D. A. Orsborn, New Burgh.

Mrs. Katherine Taylor, Philadelphia.

Otto Selfert, East End avenue, New York.

Mr. H. A. Stuethefo, No. 25 Adams street, Brooklyn.

Henry Webber, No. 814 Tenth avenue Brooklyn.

Mrs. Arthur Jones and sons, Floyd, Ward and Edward; Mr and Mrs. William Jones of Mountaindale.

These constitute early all the summer guest at Jones' cottages at Greenfield, which is about five miles from Mountaindale and the proprietor's parents and his family. The ice cream was eaten at Sunday's dinner and about nine o'clock that night Mrs. Seder was attacked with nausea. Soon after others were similarly attacked and by midnight the two cottages were filled with the sick. Dr. J. F. Curlette of Mountaindale was summoned and he diagnosed the cases at Ptomaine poisoning. He called Dr. Munson of Woodbourne, and the two have worked incessantly. Mrs. Seder died Tuesday. Mrs. Michael Wednesday night, and early this morning Robert Jones died.

Dr. Curlette believes at least half a dozen more death will occur.

DR. C. E. DONLAN

His Success Pleases His Friends Here.

Dr. Charles E. Donlan, who was recommended to Surgeon General Sternberg for appointment as one of the physicians to accompany the army of occupation to Cuba, sailed on the Olivette from Boston this morning for Fernandina, Fla. Dr. Donlan left home this morning to visit Washington and have a meeting with Surgeon General Sternberg and Assistant Secretary Allen. He had with him recommendations and letters of introduction from all the leading physicians of this city and many of our prominent citizens. It is believed that when he reached Boston he called on Dr. Bradford, who recommended his appointment, and was ordered to go on board the Olivette, it being likely that his appointment had already been decided upon and it was thought best to save him the trip to Washington. He at once sent a despatch to his brother-in-law, Mr. Thomas C. Lee of this city, informing him that he had boarded the Olivette.

The appointment gives Dr. Donlan the rank of lieutenant and his friends will be more than pleased at his great and early success in his profession.

MILES ANGRY

GEN. MILES, Who Comes Out Boldly Against Shafter and Alger.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—The dispute which has arisen between the friends of Secretary Alger and the friends of General Miles over the Santiago campaign, is attracting a great deal of a ttention at the war department, where the differences between the general commanding the army and his official superior have been the theme for gossip ever since the outbreak of the war. The interviews which Miles is reported to have given out at Porto Rico are so characteristic of him, and at many points touch so closely upon the truth, as it is understood here that they are regarded as authentic and it is expected that Miles will follow them up with more explicit comments on his arrival in Washington.

It is taken for granted among army officers that the statements with regard to the suppression of his despatches from Santiago are true, and most are ready to fix the responsibility for the unfortunate conditions at Santiago where he places them. There is little question that Miles sent a despatch July 21, calling attention to the prevailing sickness among the troops and advising that the troops be sent up into the mountains as soon as possible.

Gen. Miles further charges that Gen. Shafter failed to carry out his orders to burn certain houses infected with yellow fever. One of the houses ordered burned was used by soldiers for their quarters and as a result, 37 died.

The chief interview credited to Gen. Miles appeared in the Kansas City Star but as yet its authenticity is in doubt. One thing certain, however, is that Gen. Miles is determined to resent some of the indignities cast upon him by the war department.

A COLLISION

In Which Sixteen Were Lost—Captain and Eight of Crew of Twenty-five Were Saved—The Norge Captain Claims He Was Not to Blame—Accident Off the Grand Banks.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—The Thingvalla Line steamer Norge sank the French fishing schooner La Coquette, off Bayonne, on Saturday, Aug. 20, on the Grand Banks. The captain and eight seamen were saved and sixteen went down with the unfortunate vessel. The Norge sailed from Stettin August 3rd and Christiansend August 13th, with seven first, and thirty-three second cabin passengers, and 143 steerage passengers. The weather was generally fine to the banks of Newfoundland, when it became foggy with patches of clear weather. On Saturday, Aug. 20, between 3 and 4 o'clock in the afternoon, the weather was foggy, but not so thick that the vessel's speed was reduced. Captain Knudsen said he could see about three cable lengths ahead. The wind was fairly brisk from the west southwest, when a vessel suddenly loomed up with sails full and stood directly across the bow of the steamer. The bells were rung to stop and back at full speed, but too late to check the steamer's headway. The stranger, a fishing schooner, fell across the bow and with a crash was forced over and sunk. As the impact occurred three men sprang aboard the Norge. The passengers, most of whom were about the decks, rushed about in confusion with alarm at the shock but were soon quieted when they learned that the steamer was uninjured. In the meantime a boat was lowered and six men and a dog were picked up. The schooner sank almost immediately and carried with her sixteen of her crew.

Among those saved was the captain. Captain Knudsen of the steamer said that as a steam vessel, the Norge was obliged to keep out of the way of all sailing craft, but this was a time when the sailing vessel could do more to help herself than the steamer. The latter was going ahead at full speed for the fog was not, in the judgment of the captain, sufficient to reduce headway. The fisherman was an active vessel, had a good breeze, and was under good steerageway, but made no attempt to avoid the collision, keeping his sails full until squarely under the bow. The large hull of the Norge should have been visible for a long distance. This is the substance of Captain Knudsen's statement. The nine rescued sailors were brought to port and will be landed this morning. The lost vessel carried a crew of 25 men in all.

CHINESE WOMEN QUARANTINED.

Woman's power is largely dependent upon her ability to interest, entertain, attract and please. It is for this reason that women strive to become accomplished. They study in order that they may converse intelligently on all subjects. They strive to become good musicians, graceful dancers and amiable hostesses.

All accomplishments are unavailing if a woman suffers from ill-health in a womanly way. The special weakness peculiar to the womanly organism, will rapidly wreck the general health. The sufferer will lose her natural vivacity, her wit, her good looks, and the ambition and power to display the accomplishments at her command. Any woman affected in this way should resort to Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is a wonderful medicine for ailing women. It is the invention of an eminent and skillful physician, Dr. R. V. Pierce, for thirty years chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y. It aims to cure but one class of diseases, and claims to be good for nothing else. It imparts health, elastic strength, vigor and virility to the delicate feminine organs. It prepares a woman for wifehood and motherhood.

Mrs. Ramon Sanchez, Tenasco, Taos County, N. Mex., in a letter to Dr. Pierce says: "From a grateful heart my voice goes up to God both night and day in a solemn prayer that He may guard your health and preserve your life. I hereby express my gratitude to you for the relief I have received from your wonderful medicine, 'Favorite Prescription.' After suffering years of misery I am to-day a healthy and happy wife, and can truthfully recommend to women the use of the 'Favorite Prescription' as a regulator of the monthly periods."

CASTE IN AMERICA?

What Is the Meaning and the Effect of the One Sided Familiarity Between Employers and Employees?—An Investigation's Queer Revelations.

[Special Correspondence.]

I did not understand why we call people who serve in a domestic capacity by their first names, without a title, while for all other people we prefix Mr., Mrs. or Miss. I undertook to find out the cause of the custom.

Encyclopedias do not treat of this subject specifically, so I inquired of a Mrs. Rich, who keeps seven servants, thinking she would be a woman who would know. She said she supposed it was good usage which made the custom.

"But where did our good usage come from? There's been in history a great deal of good usage which now we see wasn't good. What if sometimes people find out that our good usage was not right and that we've been doing a wrong thing—maybe a ridiculous thing—all our lives? What if this custom should be a remnant of something un-American and new peoples should laugh at us as we laugh at the old world?"

"Why," said Mrs. Rich, "I suppose we drop titles because of a feeling of good fellowship—a feeling of all being in one family—a family familiarity, you know."

"Then why do not Mary and John drop your title and that of Miss Ida? And why, when we travel, do we carry everywhere this family familiarity among strangers who are domestic servants, but with no other strangers? If the familiarity is complimentary expressly for these strangers, why do they never return the compliment? And I do not see how it is complimentary to Mary, the waitress, to be addressed familiarly by every fellow if to Miss Ida it would be an insult."

Mrs. Rich said she was sure she did not know, and she presumed that strictly speaking it could not be perfectly right.

Can etiquette and ethics conflict?

I spoke of this to Mrs. Waturhead, who keeps two servants, thinking she would have more time to deliberate and answer questions. She said we drop the title because it's easier to say Mary than Miss Mary, for the same reason that she always called her cook Mary and her second girl Biddy, whatever their real names might be, because she was used to those names and they were easy to speak.

"And do you suggest to Mary and Biddy to call you by some easy name? It must be very wearing on their untrained vocal organs if they have to be calling you Mrs. Waturhead, your son Master Christopher and your little girl Miss Dorothea so many times a day."

Mrs. Waturhead replied that "such familiarity from servants would lessen their respect for the family, and, indeed, the respect of others for the family and of the family for themselves."

"But does not such familiarity from families lessen their respect for servants, and, indeed, the respect of others for the servants and of the servants for themselves? You know we have to do as we would be done by."

Mrs. Waturhead said: "I wish you wouldn't get such notions into your head. I can't see any sense in anything like that."

I was puzzled when I thought over this, for Mrs. Waturhead was a very active church member, and now she had spoken impatiently of the golden rule and could see no sense in trying to apply it. Why did she retain her membership in the church if that was her feeling?

I asked little Miss Smith, a fashionable dressmaker, why she called the aged person who did her housework for her Nell.

Miss Smith said it was proper. She was brought up to do so, and she did not wish a servant to speak familiarly to her because it was not proper respect which help owed to their employer. There must be some mark to distinguish between employers and their help or they would run over you.

I asked if she would like the women who employed her to help on their dresses to use such a distinguishing mark. At which she turned dark red and bit her lips so that I could not find out. I think I must have inadvertently touched some sensitive place in her mind.

I called at a boarding house to see a faded girl who stays ten hours or more of the day in a shop, and whom a benevolent society has had taught to make her own dresses evenings to give her habits of industry to keep her off the street nights (out of the air) and to save her employers the expense of paying her wages large enough to employ a dressmaker, so that there may be more healthful competition among dressmakers, and the bread cast on the waters in the form of moral help to girls and financial help to employers (the benevolent ladies' husbands) may return in the form of cheaper dressmaking for these very ladies of this very benevolent society. This girl was not careless of her opportunities, as the manner of some is, and was sewing as usual. My face was burning hot at the visions suggested by the faded girl's rapid incessant use of her fingers, her rounded back and wasted chest—wasted life indeed. Overexertion long continued, especially indoors, acts on a woman's nerves so that she dwells often in gloom which is much less easily and quietly borne than tired muscles. Out of such gloom came functional derangements in the race which lead certainly to crime. In such gloom is hell.

"Read? No. I ain't got no time fr reading, I can tell y'. I ain't read a book in months."

"Well," I said, trying to shake off the gloom which surrounded us, "I was asking questions about a thing I don't understand. Could you tell me why cooks and waiters are never called Mr. and Mrs. or Miss?"

"But I have been near enough to that class so that I have thought that if they were addressed like other people they would have more self respect and be more likely to really improve."

"Well, I don't train in no such crowd. I was brought up to keep out of low company. I don't believe they've got any feelings at all, they're so low and ignerent."

I approached the cook, a woman whose brain and hands shaped our destinies to a considerable extent, for dyspepsia or otherwise. "Do you know, so long as I've known you, I've no idea what your last name is."

Her last husband's name was Fitzgerald, she said.

"Well, if my last husband's name was Fitzgerald I suppose I should wish to be called Mrs. Fitzgerald, especially if I liked the deceased as you did. I have been studying the matter of titles in this country, and I believe that we have made a titled class larger in this country than that of the old countries, to take in all but a few, which makes it all the worse for those few. So I will call you Mrs. Fitzgerald if you don't care."

"What are you up to now?" said Mrs. Fitzgerald. "That's not my place, and I won't answer to it."

"I wish you wouldn't be so fiery. You always heat up and scare me so, as if you abode in continual conflagration. Can't you retain the respect you owe to this powerful boarding house if a revolutionary boarder talks confidentially to you? The quality of respect is not strained and should be too strong to get strained in such ways."

Mrs. Fitzgerald cooled and smoothed and laughed, so that I could tell her something which, if true, we ought to tell one to another. We ought to confer concerning it. Must not truth, from its very nature, be safest, even the truth as to a social structure? Do not lies beget lies, and finally become ruinous to those who tell and act them and to those who hear and see and imitate them?

"Society has done many people a great wrong. It has injured itself and these people more than it can ever know by being too hurried and thoughtless, and, in fact, too generally mean to give them any good chance. Society blames them for its own neglect, and even robberies of them and their ancestors, and adds insult to injury by classifying them and taking away the titles of one class, so that every time they are spoken to all may be indelicately reminded of the class distinction. Our practicing such ill manners, as a matter of course, shows how grossly inconsiderate and pompous or slavish we are.

"It's very sweet of you, Mrs. Fitzgerald, to approve a custom which treads you down, but such sweetness under injustice does not help the progress of the world. Rebellions against injustice, while they create much unpleasantness at the time, finally make for righteousness. If you find that being addressed respectfully doesn't hurt you any, you will reason that abusing tramps, as people do, will make them feel an awful degradation, but will not inspire them to improve themselves. I don't believe it truly elevates any class to tread on others."

"Do you want me feeding victuals to tramps and encouraging laziness?" asked Mrs. Fitzgerald.

"Oh, there you open the great question of whether the plain teachings of Jesus are practical, or even were, and the question of whether the victuals would hold out. The question of what to do while society keeps on making more and more tramps is appalling. But one thing is very clear—you could speak respectfully, even kindly, to them. As yet there is no law to regulate the tones of one's voice or the expression of one's eyes when they look at tramps. That last tramp this morning had a weak walk and a pale, helpless, patient face. How very helpless he was—not understanding our language or knowing what he ought to do. I can't forget the story of his startled eyes, like those of a poor cur who sees thoroughbreds fed and praised while he gets starved and scolded because he is not bright, handsome and tricky like the others. He couldn't help being born somewhere amid overwork, no work and malaria. He was never fed on good food for body or mind, or taught to keep clean or dress well, or how to do good work in order that he might be self respecting and happy. He had no idea of how he ought to live. Society never seemed to need his poor work. It kept telling him to go to work, but it would not allow him much work to do, and after awhile it seemed no more disgraceful to beg for bread than to beg for work, for if he begged for work people would say he did not really wish to work. Society's policy toward the unfittest is to let them beg, either of individuals or associations, and to let the employers take their choice from the most humble and most competent as best they can, while society rails at them, imprisons them, preaches to and about them, patronizes them and insults them.

"And once a week in all the great churches and small churches society worships with much ceremony one who had not where to lay his head, and who was very solicitous about those similarly situated, who said, 'Inasmuch as ye did it unto one of the least of these, my brethren, ye did it unto me.'"

Mrs. Fitzgerald said she was very sorry, and she really must go about her dinner, or she would be a tramp herself if tramps were so easily made.

RASCALLY STEWARD

But Was Exposed by a Captain of the Second Massachusetts—Letter from Lieut. McNulty of Co. M, Ninth Regiment.

Camp Wikoff, L. I., Aug. 24.—Pale, wan and weary were the boys of the Second Massachusetts,, who stumbled ashore from the transport Mobile Sunday morning.

The quaint little place was crowded by nearly 10,000 people who had come up from New York and other places to witness the home coming of the gallant boys of the Old Bay State.

Immediately upon arrival the entire regiment was ordered into quarantine where the men were forced to remain until Wednesday noon. This is considered absolutely necessary for the safety of the other regiments, as there is considerable apprehension lest there be a few cases of yellow fever among the soldiers.

When the waiting crowds saw the men of the Second tottering down the gang plank there was many a tear of sympathy and many a lump rose in the throats of the on-lookers. Colonel Clark is not exempt from the quarantine restrictions. He was ordered to the hospital in company with his men, and he will of necessity remain with them till the embargo is lifted by Major General Ferwood.

The greatest indignation prevails here today among the visitors, all of whom roundly score the administration for the manner in which the sick men are being taken care of. They are placed on an abutment,, where the strong sea wind sweeps with a velocity of nearly twenty miles an hour, and the sudden change from the transport is regarded as too severe a strain for the soldiers in their already weakened condition.

Then, again, there is absolutely no accommodation for the hosts of people who have come to the camp prepared to remain near their loved ones. There are no hotels, no eating houses worth patronizing, and when the last train left here this evening, it carried nearly all the visitors who had arrived this morning.

Fresh revelations are being made regarding the transport Mobile. The Second Massachusetts suffered fearfully on board and the large number of sick and dead is considered wholly due to the conditions which prevailed on the transport.

A captain of one of the companies of the Second Massachusetts said today: "My men were fed on mouldy hardtack, tainted meat and beans that would turn one's stomach. Well men could not eat such stuff, let alone sick men, and the result was great suffering that might have been spared the men if enough of dainty food had been put aboard at Santiago to feed the sick. Lives would have been saved if this simple precaution had been taken. The old belief that men will take what they can get if they can't get better was disproved by the voyage of the transport.

"Sick men couldn't take the stuff that was offered to them on that ship, and so they died of starvation, although the records give dysentery, malaria and other disorders as the cause of death. On every transport that has arrived here during the past week there have been stories told by the men of outrageous extortions by the stewards, who have run private messes for the benefit of those who could pay high prices for nourishing food.

"When conditions got so bad there was danger of the sick men dying I went to Steward Hughes and asked him to make me some biscuits. I told him my men were in danger of dying unless they got better food than the army regulations which were being dealt out, but he refused to make any though he had plenty of proper materials at hand. Now I had heard from Captain Hicks of our regiment that he had purchased some biscuits from the steward, so I said to that worthy: 'You made some biscuits for Captain Hicks. Why can't you make some for me?' 'Oh, he paid me five cents apiece for them,' he said. 'Well,' I said, 'I'll pay you the same price. I have got to have them, for my men are starving. Then that miserable scoundrel turned around with a leer and said: 'Oh, I cant' do the work so cheaply now. Things like biscuits get more valuable every day we are out.'

"Well, I finally got him to make me fifteen biscuits at 10 cents apiece, and the next day he made me fifteen more. In payment I handed him a $10 bill. He took four dollars out. He said he ought to have an extra dollar as a tip for being so obliging. I refused to allow this and he gave me another dollar in change. The whole thing made me so boiling mad that I went to Captain Layland the next day and asked him if the steward had a right to sell food.

'He said he had not, and then I told him of the biscuits. He hauled Hughes up in short order and made him give me back my $3. Others had the same experience with Hughes that I did and I tell you we were heartily disgusted with a man who could do such things. He sold sandwiches for 25 cents each and coffee for 25 cents a cup.

"He charged from $3 to $5 each for pies and equally exorbitant prices for other kinds of food. He was a constant aggravation to the starving man who had no money. The captain of the transport was a splendid man and he put a stop to the steward's outrageous doings as soon as he heard of them, but he didn't hear of them until we were almost here and no one dared report him for fear that it would put a stop to all chance of our getting decent things for our sick."

Manila, August 6, 1898.
Friend Frank—I received your letter and paper on July 29, also your paper Aug. 5, and it was with great pleasure I learned that my Lowell friends are well. How wide a contrast is the life we are subjected to here to the happy days we spent in our native city! It is within the last two weeks that we have got our mail regularly. But everything is in good working order now. There is a United States post office established in Santiago and the mail matter is hardly delayed. We have not been in a battle since July 16th, but all the while we are fighting a more deadly enemy than the Spaniards in the shape of yellow fever, chills, and many other complaints. They have made their marks on our regiment within the last few weeks. I suppose you saw in the newspapers the account of Major and Brother Grady's death. Four privates died since then and a crowning effort on the diseases carried away Major O'Connor, brother of Rev. Fr. O'Connor of Boston, last night. God knows how many more victims there have been. The division hospital is crowded to overflowing with men of our regiment. The other two regiments in our division have not been on the island as long as we, so there are not so many of them affected as yet. The number of Washington troops at the hospital is increasing and is now almost as large as that of the Ninth. I have not been ill myself but neither have I been enjoying what I could call good health. This is the first day I felt like doing anything, even to write. We all have a sort of a "dopey" feeling down here. I have no idea what the authorities are going to do with the boys with whom it is the universal wish and hope that they will soon be sent back to the states, and that in a hurry. We are camping now behind a mountain above Santiago. There is another thing the boys are short of; it is writing paper, envelopes and stamps. The supplies that they had were left at Siboney and when a party returned to the latter city to procure them, they found that the Cubans had stolen them. I have not been off the field since July 1. We are not allowed to enter Santiago as yet; too much yellow fever. If I had more paper, I might describe the battle of San Juan hill, and the terrors of the sick and wounded, with the sufferings, privations and neglect which the soldiers had to endure with a self-sacrifice that only the most unflinching patriotism could sustain. But if we are soon to be removed from this pest hole then all will be well and we may reach home alive. It is hard to think that many brave men have died of neglect after the enemy was defeated. But I must close. From

Your friend,

Philip.

NEW VOLUNTEERS

AS MEMBERS OF THE AMBULANCE CORPS

To Care for the Sick and Wounded Soldiers.

The Ambulance Corps will probably see service after all, for the demand for them is growing. When the Olivette arrived in Boston Tuesday, 50 members of the corps, 34 of whom were from Lowell assisted in removing the sick and wounded.

Last night Sergt. Foss received a call for volunteers to ship on the Olivette and take charge of the sick, who are being removed to the north. It is said 14 men were wanted and had more time been allowed, the full number could have been furnished.

With only a few hours' notice, four Lowell volunteers were found. They are Edward F. Maguire, son of John E. Maguire, the constable; Con. Kelleher, formerly of the Phalanx; a young man named Butterfield, formerly of Co. M, and one other.

At noon the Olivette sailed from T wharf, her destination being Fernandina, Fla., where she will take on the sick of a Pennsylvania regiment. Then she will proceed to Key West and Fortress Munroe, thence to Philadelphia and Boston. Constable Maguire saw the boys off.

The members of the local Ambulance Corps have received orders to report at Boston and assist in the removal of soldiers from the hospital ship Bay State.

Cuban Weather Caused Lowell to Swelter.

Horse Struck By Lightning in Chelmsford.

It took yesterday's weather to make the folks at home fully realize and appreciate the hardships which our boys at the front have been undergoing, for yesterday was typical Santiago weather almost too hot for health during the day with a deluge in the evening.

The storm last night was even worse than that of the previous night and as usual, it was at its height just at the hour when the unfortunate mill people were returning from work, for if you have ever noticed it, it appears always to storm the hardest at noon and at 6 o'clock in the evening. Last evening, the rain fell in sheets and the hailstones were big enough to sting one when they struck.

There was an immense crowd in the square when the rain began and immediately the waiting rooms, the neighboring stores and the doorways were crowded, the entire square being left to Starter Tom Lees and a couple of fearless newsboys who yelled "Latest! Full account of the rain!" to the vacant space. Carter & Sherburne's store was packed almost to suffocation, it seemed, and when during a temporary calm, the crowd emerged from that store, a little newsboy standing near by remarked to his running mate: "Gee! dat's a cheap gang. Dey've been holding up de buck's store for 15 minutes an' not a one of them blew demselves."

Very little damage was done in this vicinity though a horse attached to a wood cart was stricken down in North Chelmsford.

The most remarkable feature of the storm was the hail which is reported to have done much damage to crops in the suburban towns, laying low a good deal of corn and things.

In front of Lawyer Wilson's residence, corner of Stevens and Marginal streets, a beautiful young tree was broken off about six feet from the ground presumably by the wind.

The team of the Wollaston Golf club will come to Lowell Saturday to play the Vesper club team a return match. Two weeks ago the Lowell players went to Norfolk Downs and returned hence not one of them with a single hole to his credit. There is a good deal of curiosity in the Vesper club as to whether the Wollastons can play as well away from home as on their own links.

LABOR POLITICS.

New York Workingmen Urged to Elect Men From Their Own Ranks.

At a recent meeting of the Troy Central Federation of Labor Hon. H. Streifler of Buffalo made some interesting remarks on the duty of workingmen in the field of politics. He reminded them of the necessity of taking some united action this fall in the direction of putting into the legislature men from the ranks of labor. He urged the workingmen of Troy to start in at once on this project by forming a political alliance independent of the labor organizations, but maintained on the same principles plus political action. Through this organization workmen of all parties could be united solely in their own interest politically as they are united in the labor unions for the protection of their wage interests.

"It will surprise you," he said, "when you start this movement how quickly it will develop strength and unity of thought. In other places where workmen have opened their eyes to the necessity of political combination, such as Syracuse, Buffalo, Genova, Utica and Schenectady, the results are inspiring. Labor unionists are now holding offices, drawing the salaries and performing the duties far better and more conscientiously than they have ever been performed before, for, I tell you, there are more honesty and capability in the labor movement than in any other movement on God's earth. We compel it to be so by our methods. Whenever we have landed one of our own in a county or city legislative body there have been enacted measures promoting the welfare of organized labor, and by that I mean all labor, because all labor can be organized. Our doors are open. We only demand from the applicant fidelity to his own interests. Now, if we can secure so much benefit from our few aldermen and supervisors, that we are now enjoying throughout the state, what can we not secure for ourselves by bending our energies to securing more representation in the state legislature? It is a duty we owe to ourselves to do this. Let us stop spending our money for conventions and lobbies and put this money and effort into the work of landing labor men where they will have power—in the legislature. Don't be discouraged if the man you send proves recreant. Send a different one next time, just the same as we do when one of our professional politicians gives us a more than ordinarily bitter dose. We change him for another of his kind. We cannot make many mistakes among our own men. We have lived, worked and fought together under the most trying conditions, and we know each other better than any other associated men. We can choose our representatives with a great deal less percentage of error than bank directors display in the selection of trusted officials.

"Again I appeal to you, workmen of Troy, to rise in your own behalf, so that if I am fortunate enough to come back to the legislature next session I will be met there by a man from Troy elected to represent labor."

Maltox makes the old feel young.

CHEATED

The merchant who pays for advertising and doesn't get it tries out that advertising doesn't pay. He is wrong. Advertising pays if you get it. If you pay for any commodity that is never delivered, you lose money on it, just the same as you lose on advertising that you pay for but never get.

When merchants learn to buy their advertising space in the newspapers as they buy their merchandise—by measure and weight—it will pay them. Buy space by the inch per thousand of circulation and see that you get what you pay for. Then you will never be cheated in advertising and it will pay you. The Sun will give you more advertising for your money than any other paper in Lowell.

LOWELL'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER.

Our esteemed contemporary, the Cedar Rapids Gazette, is wasting far too much of its valuable space upon an unworthy rival, called the Republican. It is safe to say that by these professional courtesies freely extended, at least 50,000 people have heard of The Republican, who would never have known that such a thing existed. Why sacrifice a white sheep to kill a black one? The name is enough to condemn it; let the horrid thing die a natural death.

Glancing at our exchanges, we see that the press of all parties is unanimous in condemning Secretary Alger of the war department. Here is the opinion of a western paper that meets very general endorsement:

"Poor old Alger and poor old Shaw. Both are where they ought not to be. Money and corporation influence put them there. Both have insulted the brave boys who went to the front in defense of their country, and both will soon be out of public view forever."

What is being done to save the little waifs suffering from the intense heat? Nothing. The board of health has done nothing, the city has done nothing, and the parents can do nothing except take their little ones out to the country to the cool shade and fresh air, put them under medical care if necessary, but this will not save them. Better get sterilized milk for them and avoid feeding them on anything sour or likely to disagree with their delicate stomachs.

THE WAR NOT AN ISSUE.

The republican leaders throughout the country are now endeavoring to make it appear that the republican party alone deserves all the credit for the victory in the Spanish-American war. It should be remembered, however, that the war was not fought on partisan lines. The democrats and republicans alike favored it, and the democrats did most of the fighting. It is now the custom of the republican leaders to represent to the country the importance of the victories over Spain and the imperial policy fostered as the means of advancing the status of this country among the nations of the earth. The imperial policy is against the traditions of this country, and while we are entitled to some recompense in lieu of the sacrifices made during the war, it is neither necessary nor advisable to make the war one of conquest by holding the Philippines. We have a right to hold Manila and perhaps the island of Luzon, but to go any farther would be a serious mistake.

There is one thing for which the republican party deserves the entire and exclusive credit in connection with the war, and that is the mismanagement. The party which placed McKinley at the White House is responsible for his appointees, for Alger and Sternberg, two of the greatest misfits that ever held office anywhere. Alger's incompetency has killed more men than did the fire of our Spanish foes, because to him must be attributed the starving of the soldiers, the lack of medical supplies and proper regard for the safety of the men. Alger sent them to the pestiferous soil of Cuba without food and without water, without proper clothing and without shelter, either from the blistering sun or the drenching rain. To Alger's mismanagement is due a large portion of the illness reported, because had the army been properly cared for and properly fed, not one fourth of the sickness would have occurred. The cruel treatment of the soldiers on the transports caused hundreds of deaths. Take the single case of the Relief, on which a large number of typhoid patients died, including George C. Wenden of Lowell. Not one typhoid patient in a hundred in the worst stages of the disease can survive the heaving of a voyage at sea. But they were piled on the transports without regard to their fate and as a result hundreds met the inevitable end and all for want of proper management of the war department, all because of Alger's incompetency.

JUGGLING CITY AFFAIRS TO SUIT POLITICIANS.

The city council has had another meeting, but without result. The same story is to be told of the previous meetings, no business. It is now becoming more apparent from day to day that what has been suspected would come to pass. It has been charged that Mayor Bennett and a few friends in city hall are playing a big game of bluff, that while they are ostensibly working for the completion of Huntington hall, they are in reality working to delay both that and the sewer appropriation until the fall, when politics become more pertinent. Then the alleged scheme is to have both appropriations passed and put the growlers to work, so that they will vote for another year of Bennett. The taxpayers are, however, watching the course of events and will be ready to offset any such movement by voting for another candidate. Better, gentlemen, settle the Huntington hall matter at once, and do only what is necessary in regard to providing more sewers. If the city's affairs are to be juggled in the interest of candidates rather than the people at large, it is time the matter was generally known.

The war is not quite over, nor will it be until the articles of peace shall have been signed. It is just as well not to disband the army, pending Spain's display of subtlety in diplomatic relations.

LOWELL BOYS

REPORTED AT SPRINGFIELD ON HOBO WHEELING.

Two interesting young men on a "hobo" wheeling pilgrimage across the continent stopped in this city yesterday for a short time, freshening up at the Young Men's Christian association building and taking a look over the Art museum before proceeding to Hartford, where the first day's journey ended. The young men are E. Victor Sargent and Robert McKissock, both of Lowell, from which city they started yesterday morning without a cent to settle a wager made by members of the Vesper Country club of Lowell. To win they must reach San Francisco by December 1 without the aid of railroad or steamboat conveyance. They are on bicycles, but are privileged to walk or get a "lift" by horse power if necessary. If they accomplish the journey successfully, each is to receive $200, while several hundred more is involved in the wager by the club members.

They are stalwart fellows about 20 years old, each with a thick sweater, but otherwise not in wheelmen's attire. They carry a book in which residents of the towns through which they pass testify to the compliance with the terms of the wager and the good character of the travellers, so far as appears. They also have letters of introduction including letters to two New York newspapers and a personal letter to the proprietor of one of them. An Associated Press man is to meet them at the Brooklyn bridge. Mr. McKissock has lately moved to Lowell from Waterville, Me., from which place he was recently appointed by President McKinley to West Point military academy. He has a few months 'furlough and will enter the academy next June. His father is the captain of a steamer in the China trade and a friend of a prominent Maine man through whose indorsement the young man secured his appointment to West Point. The two were fresh for their journey when they left for Hartford last evening and had a little more than $1, procured since they left Lowell.—Springfield Republican.

NATIONAL HIGHLANDERS.

A meeting of more than ordinary significance will be held on Saturday next on the farm of Sergeant D. M. Ayer, on the Merrimack river, near Lawrence, on the line of the electric line to Lowell. The occasion will be the reunion of the National Highlanders, one of the old-time crack military organizations of New Hampshire.

THE ARENA OF POLITICS

The announcement of Stephen A. Douglas, Jr., that he considers himself a member of the Democratic party is a political event of unusual significance. Mr. Douglas has always been a Republican, a hard party worker, conspicuous in Republican conventions and popular meetings and a favorite campaign orator. The Democracy of Mr. Douglas, though but recently acknowledged, comes to him by distinguished descent. He is the elder son of Stephen A. Douglas, the illustrious Democratic statesman and leader, whose name and public service are among the highest honors of the state of Illinois. On his dying bed he bequeathed to his sons their most valuable patrimony, his parting parental counsel, "Tell them to obey the laws and uphold the constitution."

These words are sculptured on the base of his monument at Douglas park. They constitute the foundation principle of the Democratic party. With this admonition left as his political inheritance, the younger Douglas has remained too long out of the Democratic party. He is welcome to its ranks and will become one of its most powerful and persuasive advocates before the people. In 1896 he secretly voted for Bryan. A few days ago he made his public declaration of faith. He will take the stump for free silver, the main cause of his conversion.

HOARDED GOLD.

Great Good Would Result If It Could Be Injected Into Trade.

As proof of the wonderfully beneficial effects of the gold standard the accumulation of gold in the vaults of banks and subtreasuries is quoted. It is alleged that upward of 600 tons of gold, which is about one-twenty-fifth of all the gold in the world, lie in the treasure vaults of New York city. For all the good that gold is doing the people in the United States it might as well be in the frozen marshes of Klondike. Hoarded money is dead money, and gold is the money which bankers, brokers and miners hoard. Especially is this the case in times of war, and it is made the case by the demonetization of silver, which constitutes gold the only money of ultimate redemption.

If these tons of gold could be put into circulation, if the value they represent could be injected into the arteries of trade, then some benefit would be conferred. Indeed great benefit would result. But as this gold is simply piled up in the treasury of New York it confers no more benefits than so much brick dust. Wheat in an elevator will not keep people from starving. Wheat must be ground into flour, made into bread, placed in the reach of the individual, before it can relieve hunger. Gold in the vaults is as useless as wheat in the elevator. There is no benefit to the people in either so long as they are hoarded.

Robbed by Trusts.

Direct taxation is not borne with equanimity by the people of the United States. But when such taxes are imposed as a means of raising revenue to carry on war objections are silenced. There is a form of taxation, however, which is more heavy than any imposed by the government, and that is the tax levied on all consumers of the trusts. Almost every day the announcement is made of the formation of a new trust or of the increase in the price of articles manufactured by some trust. Yesterday it was the plate glass trust. Tomorrow it will be some other trust. Every one of these trusts is protected by the Republican administration. Every one of these trusts helped to elect McKinley. If the people are tired paying tribute to the trusts, they should cease to vote for the candidates of the Republican party. So long as Mark Hanna, Steve Elkins and McKinley are kept in power just so long will the trusts multiply and flourish. Just so long will the people be taxed to make the rich richer and the poor poorer. In the light of every day experience the people ought to see the result of Republican success and should take measures to destroy the party which creates the trust.

Humbug Vouches For Humbug.

There are numerous exploiters of the people, and perhaps they form a majority, who really believe that they have a perfect right to delude the masses and prey upon them. They have some sort of notion that it is an essential part of the scheme of creation that the people at large should labor and sweat in order that the sleek and the well fed may attend to certain wholly and unimportant things. Of course these wholly and unimportant and ridiculous things are made to appear very tremendous, and the deluded herd find the apparent triviality of it all a proof of the hidden significance alleged to pertain thereto. Thus humbug itself is accepted as the voucher of its own integrity, while truth is actually discredited for the reason that it is so simple and obvious. —Twentieth Century.

Theft.

Q. What is theft? A. Taking what does not belong to us.

Q. How comes it that things do not belong to us? A. The law is responsible.

Q. Do many people steal? A. Yes.

Q. Who? A. Generally the rich.

Q. What is done to them? A. Some are sent to the senate, others endow churches, and others get their indictments quashed.

Q. But do not the poor steal? A. Yes.

Q. What is done to them if they are found out? A. They go to prison.—Twentieth Century.

A Fundamental Principle.

Direct legislation is not only a method, but a principle, the principle that "the people must rule." Without this principle there is no such thing as liberty.—Kentucky New Era.

HAVE GONE TO CAMP ALGER.

Orders were received at St. John's hospital Tuesday noon for Sisters Isabella and Mary Agnes to report at Camp Alger, Va., to serve in the army hospital. At 3 o'clock they were on their way south. These sisters had been sent from Emmittsburg, Md., to take the places of Sisters Camilla and Mary Gabriel, who had been ordered to Camp Wickoff, and their withdrawal leaves the hospital rather short-handed. Both are experienced nurses, having been several years in the community. Their most recent mission was at Franklin in this state.

Sisters of Charity from all their institutions in the country are being called to the army hospitals. Among others Carney hospital in Boston and the Providence hospital in Washington have been drawn upon and a dozen Sisters were sent from the Charity hospital at New Orleans to Santiago.

VISIT SOLDIERS

MRS. ADELBERT AMES GOES TO MONTAUK POINT.

Mrs. Adelbert Ames and her daughters have started in the yacht America for Montauk Point, where Brig. Gen. Ames is now stationed.

Mrs. Ames will make an investigation of the needs of the soldiers and will report to the Lowell branch of the Massachusetts Volunteer Aid association.

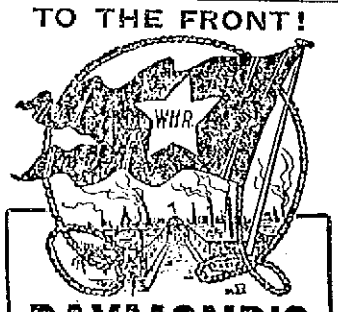

The Lowell women are still collecting supplies but will hold them until they hear from her. They will require all the contributions that are likely to come in.

No acknowledgement has yet been received for the four boxes of supplies sent to Fort Myer, but one of the nurses has written to tell how the $1.50 contributed by some neighbors in ward six was spent.

This money was given just as the supplies were being sent away and was mailed to the nurses with the request that it be at once spent where it was most needed. There were no easy chairs for convalescents at the time, and the nurse writes that the money bought two chairs that were very much required. Nobody can tell, she adds, how much comfort they have brought to somebody's boys.

SECR'Y ALGER

He Gave a Furlough to a Forlorn Soldier—Noble Women Make a Plea for Better Accommodations

New York, Aug. 25.—A special from Camp Wikoff, Montauk Point, L. I., says: In the camp of the Second Massachusetts volunteers, when Secretary of War Alger paid them a visit Tuesday, a pathetic incident occurred, one reminding of the little acts of kindness performed by President Lincoln in the civil war. When General Alger got out of the carriage at the regimental headquarters he was met by Colonel Clark. The two shook hands, and then the secretary's eye began to wander about the camp.

In front of the adjutant's tent was a poor fellow, hardly more than a boy, leaning against a standard, probably for support. His back was turned as the secretary approached in the carriage, but as the head of the war department was shaking hands with Colonel Clark, his eye caught a glimpse of a leaden cheek and a stubby beard. The man had on a worn uniform and was hatless. Beside him facing the secretary was another man, older and in civilian clothes. There was no hesitation on the part of the secretary. Evidently here was a case he wanted to investigate himself.

Dropping Colonel Clark's hand, Secretary Alger spoke to the hatless man. "Are you sick, my man?" asked the secretary, coming up suddenly from behind.

The man turned, and Secretary Alger saw, perhaps for the first time, the face of a man upon whom the hardships of the Cuban campaign had made great inroads. There were a few moments of conversation, and then the Massachusetts soldier went into the adjutant's tent. Soon he came out again, clasping a paper in his hand. Asked what it was, with tears in his eyes he said: "Furlough." Afterward he said he was Edward Slocum, corporal of company L. The man beside him was his father, and father and son had come to ask a leave of absence for this boy who had fought in Cuba.

Secretary Alger next went to the general hospital, and had scarcely stepped from the carriage before Mrs. Wilmerding, a daughter of Secretary Tracy, and Mrs. Ruggles, both from Southampton, L. I., made a plea for better accommodations for the sick men in the hospital. Colonel Forwood, chief surgeon here, was sent for to pilot Secretary Alger among the hospital cots filled with sick men burning with fever. From a slight elevation the general plan of the hospital was explained to the secretary, who, after paying his respects to Dr. Brown, who is in charge of the general hospital and who has been commended by all those familiar with the work he has done here, started on a tour of inspection among all the tents.

Earned runs—Chicagoes, 1. Left on bases—Bostons, 6; Chicagoes, 5. Two-base hit—Yeager. Sacrifice hits—Lowe, McCormick. Stolen bases—Green, Everett. Struck out—By Griffith, 3; by Klobedanz, 1. Base on balls—Off Griffith, 1; off Klobedanz, 3. Time—1:10. Umpires—O'Day and McDonald.

Fast work at the bat and on the bases enabled the Providences to score five runs on five hits early in the game yesterday. Braun, with splendid fielding support, held the visitors down to four hits and two runs. Up to the eighth inning the Syracuses were unable to send a man as far as first base only twice, and then they were doubled. Three singles in the ninth gave them two runs. Score: 6 to 2.

The Clevelands played at home Wednesday for the first time in seven weeks, and a small crowd saw the game with the New Yorks. Seymour's looseness in the first inning gave the home team the game. Rain stopped the play at the end of the sixth.

The Ottawas batted Korwan of the Springfields off the slab in two innings yesterday and Pappalau fared no better. The ponies barely escaped a whitewash. Bonner of the Ottawas was disabled by a pitched ball in the fifth. Score: 12 to 1.

The St. Louis team won a slugging match from the Washingtons. Weyhing started to pitch, but was taken out after the browns had secured several runs and hits. Donovan, who succeeded, was also hit hard. Score: 14 to 5.

The St. Louises have returned home from the eastern trip to find the treasury depleted. President Muckenfuss, who is also the receiver of the club, states that there is no money at hand to pay the overdue salaries of the players. The players have agreed to wait till after Sunday's game in hopes of a large attendance.

Rain stopped the Louisville-Philadelphia game in the first half of the sixth inning, with the colonels in the lead. Both pitchers were batted hard.

YIELDING TO PUBLIC OPINION.

New York, Aug. 25.—The national board of arbitration of the National league did not meet yesterday. President Young is ill, and he sent his son, who is secretary of the board, to act in his place. Of those interested only Mr. Robinson of the Cleveland club was present, and he and Mr. Young talked the situation over. It was decided to send a dispatch to the various members of the board of directors of the league asking them to reconsider their decision in the New York-Baltimore case in regard to the suspension of Holmes of the Baltimores.

STRUCK OUT O FSYMPATHY.

Hazleton, Pa., Aug. 25.—Seven hundred men, employed at the strippings of the Lehigh and Wilkesbarre Coal company, went out on strike yesterday, and those who did not strike were told by the company officials to go home until the grievances which caused the difficulty are adjusted. The inauguration of the strike is said to be due to the alleged unjust discharge of two laborers. The company officials state that the men were incompetent. Last night Superintendent Richards posted a notice at the collieries to the effect that if the men are not at work today the mines will be shut down for the balance of the year.

The strikers had a meeting and decided to return to work today. President Duffy of the United Mine Workers authorizes the announcement that the discharged man will be reinstated.

SCORCHING IN NEW YORK.

New York, Aug. 25.—It was the hottest Aug. 24 on record. The highest temperature at the office of the weather bureau was 88 degrees at 4 o'clock. The temperature at the street level was 96 degrees for more than an hour. Not until 8 o'clock did New York's sweltering millions receive a temporary respite, a light thunderstorm passing over the city. The highest temperature on Aug. 24 last year was 72 degrees and the preceding year, while the terrible heat plague was scourging New York, the highest was 76 degrees. Heat prostration slips began to pour into police headquarters early in the morning, and there was no letup until midnight. Horses fell in all parts of the city.

ORDER OF FORESTERS.

St. Johnsbury, Vt., Aug. 25.—The state convention of the Catholic Order of Foresters closed its annual session yesterday. Reports of committees showed the order to be fraternally and financially prosperous. The convention voted in favor of creating a reserve fund and instructed the delegates to the international session to be held in Burlington, June, 1899, to favor this move.

These officers were elected: Chief ranger, L. N. Provost, Rutland; sub chief, J. Calvin, Brattleboro; secretary, H. A. Dubue, Montpelier; treasurer, N. T. Ryan, Brattleboro.

THREE WERE KILLED.

Petersburg, Va., Aug. 25.—There was a horrible accident at a crossing known as Grossman's, a short distance from this city. J. P. Condrey, a prosperous farmer of Chesterfield county, was returning home with his wife and little son in a buggy, and when he reached the crossing the young horse he was driving became unmanageable and carried the party upon the track immediately in front of a train. The occupants of the buggy were instantly killed.

A CONFERENCE

By Associated Press to The Sun.

MANILA Aug. 24.—At a conference today between the insurgents and the Americans, the former declared emphatically that they were willing to co-operate with the Americans and to surrender their arms promptly if assured that the island would remain either an American or British colony or under the protectorate of the United States or Great Britain.

Otherwise, the insurgent leaders asserted they would not dare disarm and must positively refuse to do so. They threaten a fresh rebellion within a month if the Americans withdraw.

MUSTERED OUT.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—Orders have been issued for the mustering out of the following regiments: First Vermont, First Maine, Fifty-second Iowa, Sixth Penn., Fifth Maryland, Second New York Second Nebraska, One Hundred Fifty-seventh Indiana, all Volunteer infantry; also battery of Ohio light artillery; First Illinois volunteer cavalry, Batteries A and B of Georgia light artillery, Twenty-eighth Indiana light battery and the New York and Pennsylvania cavalry troops now in Porto Rico.

Other orders to muster out troops will be announced as soon as definite decisions are reached.

MORE BLOOD

Spaniards and Insurgents Fight Again

Madrid, Aug. 24.—4 p. m.—The government has received a despatch from General Rios, governor of the Visayan Islands and the successor of General Jaudenes in the governor-generalship of the Philippines, saying that there has been bloody fighting between the Spaniards and the insurgents, with an estimated loss to the latter of —e hundred men. The Spanish losses were "unimportant."

The despatch says that a number of the insurgent chiefs were captured and shot. A sergeant of gendarmes who attempted to incite a rising against the authorities, barely escaped lynching at the hands of the populace. He was turned over to the courts and shot.

General Rios adds that he has organized six battalions of natives and Spaniards for the purpose of resisting a threatened invasion of insurgents from the island of Luzon, and also a small squadron to watch the coasts and rivers of Mindanao Island and the Visayas.

TELEGRAPHIC BREVITIES.

At the San Quentin mine, in the province of Ciudad Real, Spain, 2000 miners have gone on strike.

The 32nd annual convention of the Universal Peace union opened at the peace temple in Mystic, Conn., yesterday.

Judge Robert Motton, who was for 10 years judge of the city and civil courts in Halifax, died in Providence. He had been an invalid for a long time.

General Wilson will shortly permit the reopening of the Ponce, Porto Rico, saloons and cafes, but will prohibit the sale of liquor by the drink until a license system shall have been established.

Further reports from the officers in charge of the captured Spanish arms in Santiago show that the number taken will be about 25,000, with "several million" rounds of ammunition, the exact number not stated. The arms will be sent to New York and Springfield to be cleaned up, and if they can be put in proper condition they will be made use of by the army.

The president has called upon General Merritt for his recommendations regarding the operations that resulted in the surrender of the Spanish army in the Philippines. It is the president's purpose to promote the officers who rendered conspicuously meritorious services in the land fights in Manila just as was done in the case of the gallant officers in Santiago.

AID ASSOCIATION.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

Boston, Aug. 24.—The Massachusetts Volunteer Aid association has issued a letter stating that it has spent much more money than it expected in fitting out the hospital ship Bay State and in establishing a boat service to and a diet kitchen at Montauk Point, and asking for liberal contributions to carry on this work.

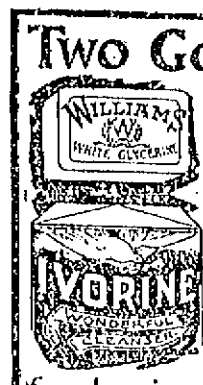

NO REPRESENTATION.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

Vancouver, B. C., Aug. 24.—The Provincial government has decided not to send any representative to Quebec to watch British Columbian interests at the International conference. The government, however, will prepare a memorandum to submit to the British members of the conference, setting the views of the government on all questions and all points on which it asks for action on the preservation of provincial interests.

HISSED FOR HIS SENTIMENTS.

Milwaukee, Aug. 25.—The proceedings at the German Roman Catholic societies' convention were somewhat exciting Wednesday. An effort was made to facilitate the work of conventions by cutting down the religious services. One of the delegates who favored this proposition was roundly hissed for several of his utterances. What services there will be at the future meetings is entirely discretionary with the committees.

ALGER VISITS

Camp Wikoff to Investigate Stories.

Of Its Terrible Condition as the Result of His Incompetency—He Was Cheered by the Soldiers.

Secretary of War Alger who arrived last night from Washington left at 7.40 o'clock this morning for Camp Wikoff. He was accompanied by Colonel Hecker of the quartermaster's department and Major Hopkins, assistant adjutant general.

The regular army men today received delicacies from the the Woman's War Relief associations. Many soldiers have been discharged from the hospitals, but there are others sick to take their places as soon as they vacate.

Three hundred men of the 12th regular infantry have disembarked from the breakwater and have gone into the detention camp.

Secretary Alger arrived at the camp on a special train. To the newspaper correspondents Secretary Alger stated that he hoped to make a thorough inspection of the camp. He rode with the army officers who met him at the depot to headquarters and as soon as he was recognized by the volunteers and regulars the secretary was loudly cheered. Secretary Alger intimated that President McKinley was much interested in the matter of properly caring for the sick soldiers.

The secretary will make a complete tour of the big camp before he returns. He will also be fully informed when he leaves as to how the volunteers feel about their being mustered out. For this reason he will spend considerable time in the camps of the Rough Riders and the 71st regiment.

OFF THE CAMP.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

With the transports, off Camp Wikoff, Montauk Point, Aug. 25.—It is weary waiting for the American troops on the transports anchored off Camp Wikoff. There is absolutely nothing to do on board and the men lounge about the decks, seeking what scant shade can be found in the lee of the duck houses or under awnings, and longing for the orders that will free them from irksome confinement.

Fortunately the weather is cool. There is a good breeze every day and in the evenings it is even chilly.

Every tug that pulls out from shore may bring us the good news we are waiting for and we bet on the destinations of the puffing little quarantine boats for it is impossible to tell where they are coming until they are close to us. Wives and daughters, sons and friends of men on the transports sometime come out on these tugs and then there is calling from the soldier husband or father on the transport to the visitor on the tug. Their greetings often bring tears that are choked back and voices that are full and cannot be controlled. It is said that the transports or some of them, are bound for Boston. In that event, there is a consolation of knowing that those on board are fairly sure of seeing the whole Atlantic seaboard.

When the order came this morning for the hospital ship Olivette to proceed to Boston, she was short of certain provisions. A rather pompous looking individual asked from the deck of the Dexter what she wanted and he was given a short list of beef and potatoes, milk and brandy. He promised that the provisions would be on board in an hour, but after six hours there were still no signs of them.

The transport Arcadia which arrived last night was inspected today. Captain Capron, father of Captain Capron, of the Rough Riders, who was killed at Santiago is on board sick.

CRISP GOSSIP.

One of the most charming spots for summer weather in this vicinity I believe to be the beautiful and sequestered Long-Sought-For and Flushing ponds out in Westford hidden snugly away among thick woods and wealthy in the delights of picturesque environments, fine fertility, and the resultant country produce and rare opportunities for piscatorial pleasure. It is a hard place to find, leaving Lowell, which perhaps accounts for its exclusiveness for there are but few cottages, though very neighborly ones, along the ponds. The Felch family owns a large and thriving farm on the shores of Flushing pond, and but a few hundred shaded yards from Long-Sought-For pond the homelike farmhouse at present filled with Boston parties, while along the pretty shores of Long-Sought-For may be found but two Lowell families, owning and occupying their cottages, —those of Charles Crevier, the well known blacksmith on the south side, and James J. Courtney of Market street on the north side. The ponds are fairly alive with perch of all sizes while pouts and pickerel abound there and many an exquisite fish fry is being enjoyed these warm evenings by the guests of Messrs. Courtney and Crevier, two royal entertainers.

Miss May Gertrude MacKenzie, the talented and charming young reader of this city, is about to take up the dramatic art as a profession, beginning in the fall with a leading New York company. Having ever been a zealous worker at the theatricals of the Mathew Temperance Institute, this grateful society is preparing to show its appreciation of her kind offices by tendering her a testimonial to take the form of a dramatic performance to be presented in the near future. "Ingomar" will be played with the fair recipient sustaining the part of "Parthenia."

Perhaps there is no question asked oftener than "Who Wrote 'Ingomar?'" To the English-speaking public, the name of Maria Lovell, whose adaptation into English is the best known version of this picturesque and popular play, is familiar enough, but the name of its German author seems to be practically unknown.

"Der Sohn der Wildniss," as "Ingomar," was known in the original, was written by Eligius Francis Joseph, Baron von Munch-Bellinghausin, who was known to the literary world under his nom-de-plume, Friedrich Holm. It was written in 1812 and the first English version of it was not the one which is so familiar to us today, but was a straight translation made by William Henry Charlton, and called "The Son of the Wilderness." This translation Halm highly complimented; but Maria Lovell's adaptation was the first used in London, where it was produced at the Drury Lane Theatre in June, 1851, by James Anderson, who had just become the manager of that theatre and who was the original Ingomar, with Miss Vandenhoff as the first Parthenia. The play was a great success. The first Ingomar died on March 3, 1895.

The play had its first production in this country in December, 1851, being brought out simultaneously at the Bowery and Broadway Theatres. At the former house, Ingomar was created by Edward Eddy, a well known actor of his day, at one time leading man at the National Theatre, Boston. Mrs. Edward Parker, nee Amelia Sylvia, was the Parthenia of the cast. One of the first and most notable successes of the play in Boston took place at the Howard Athenaeum, in February, 1852, when Anna Cora Mowatt, the first of the successful society actresses to make a stir in this country, played Parthenia to the Ingomar of Wyzeman Marshall. Since then the play has been one of the most successful in the repertoire of many American stars.

The story throughout is beautifully told and interesting to the last moment. The filial piety of the Greek maiden is placed before the audience in a most striking manner, even love—the strongest and most irresistible passion of the human heart—is made to yield to duty, and when appealed to by her barbarian lover—whose savage spirit she has at once tamed and subdued—who, in a tone of mental agony, exclaims, "Oh, Parthenia will thou leave me?" He at once resolves to be her guide and when arrived in sight of Massella, her home, whence she strayed to offer herself a sacrifice as the ransom of an aged father, in the transport of her joy the hidden thought occurs that "Here we part;" but not so—he goes with her to the city, resolves for her sake to become a Greek, abandons even the dress of his favorite band of Attamans, yields up his sword for the handle of the plough, and doubly earns his bride; spurns indignantly the offer to betray his countrymen, but makes them at once the friends and allies of the Greeks, redeems his bride from slavery by the sacrifice of his own liberty and when finally rewarded by the gods for all his sufferings, he finishes: "To love do I owe this bliss;" Parthenia replies: "To love and honors;" Then are they forever joined—"Two souls with but a single thought Two hearts that beat as one."

The language, poetry and dramatic action of this play, have not been excelled, if equalled, in the history of modern drama.

Mr. Henry Hanscombe of Boston is personally directing the rehearsals of the company which are now being held.

PRESIDENT AMES DEAD.

Boston, Aug. 25.—The death of Frank M. Ames, president of the Lampson Consolidated Store Service company, in Pemaquid, Me., was announced last night. Mr. Ames had served in the legislature from Canton, and in 1884 was a delegate to the Republican convention in Chicago.

A woman, who gave her name as Minnie Harrison, 26 years old, jumped into the Charles river at the Warren bridge at 12:15 o'clock this morning, and was rescued by Drawtender Pollard. Pollard's quick action in launching his boat and reaching the woman saved her life, for the tide was running out very swiftly at this point and would have carried her away.

STORM IN NEW YORK STATE.

Utica, Aug. 25.—As the result of a furious storm which swept over the region north of Utica yesterday afternoon over $500,000 worth of damage was done to property. In Deerfield $10,000 damage was done to farm property, and every bridge on the highway east and west of the place was carried away by the swollen streams.

The Adirondack and Black River division of the Rome, Watertown and Ogdensburg railroad suffered severely from the cloudburst. In one place a washout 200 feet long occurred, while a railroad bridge near Trenton is reported to have been carried away. Between Remsen and Herkimer four bridges were carried away.

Maltox will make you well and strong.

A Philadelphia lady relates an experience of her own, saying that after suffering untold agony, her husband, who had heard Ripans Tabules very highly commended for persons suffering from lack of appetite or any complicated stomach trouble, strongly urged her to try them. Her stomach had seemed cold and she had had little appetite for many weeks. She determined to try the Tabules and to follow all the directions, but had little faith that there was any cure for the serious complications that appeared to have taken possession of her. It seemed to her hardly possible that a 50-cent package of Ripans Tabules would cure when a large doctor's bill of $50 had failed to confer any benefit. "But," she added, joyfully, "they did! and my appetite improved almost immediately and now I can truly say that my general health was never better."

A new style pocket containing TEN RIPANS TABULES in a paper carton (without glass) is now for sale at some drug stores FOR FIVE CENTS. This low-priced form is intended for the poor and the economical. One dozen of the five cent cartons (SIXTY TABULES) can be had by mail by sending forty-eight cents to the RIPANS CHEMICAL COMPANY, No. 10 Spruce Street, New York—or a single carton (TEN TABULES) will be sent for five cents.

SICK SOLDIERS

In the Hospitals Around Boston Doing Well.

Secy. Long Writes to Admiral Sicard Extending Thanks—Two Soldiers Cut to Pieces From a Train—Woodward Told to Stop Talking.

Boston, Aug. 25.—A tour among the various hospitals disclosed the welcome fact that none of the sick soldiers had died, though a number were still on the dangerous list. All the men are receiving the benefit of expert nursing, and as nearly all of them were in need of it, their ultimate recovery seems to be assured. A number who procured hospital discharges were enabled to go to the home of their friends, while some of the officers went to hotels. All the men are rapidly recovering their spirits, which were at a low ebb when they first landed. Some who were almost helpless when they were brought ashore regained their strength so rapidly that they were enabled to take short walks outside the different hospitals. It will take many days, however, for the dark circles to leave their eyes and the hollows in their cheeks to fill up.

At the general hospital the Volunteer Aid association has furnished fans, mosquito canopies and hospital clothing for those who are still in bed. The others, who are farther along on the road to recovery, lounge around the grounds, most of them in their army clothes, or such portions of their uniforms as their Cuban allies did not make away with.

In addition to the appeal of the Massachusetts Volunteer Aid association for additional funds, Sherman Hoar has issued a statement, the salient points of which are as follows: "The Bay State has left Santiago with 101 sick, some desperate cases, and will most probably be ordered directly to Boston. We have already received 200 cases from the Olivette. We are credibly informed that the government intends to send here other hospital ships. Not only this work, but that at Montauk Point will require large sums.

"Of the 600 odd men in Colonel Clark's regiment, fully one-third are not fit to take anything but the most delicate food, although they are borne on the rolls as well men. Their emaciated figures, their sunken eyes, the hesitating steps tell of the terrible ordeal through which they have passed.

"The Ninth Massachusetts is soon to come. Their later stay in Cuba may bring them to Montauk in even a more distressed condition than that of the Second. At the same time we must look out for the Eighth; we must look out for the recruits of the Ninth in Pennsylvania, and we must keep our hospital ship going. It is my judgment that the next six weeks will give us more work to do as an association than any three weeks through which we have passed."

TO BE MUSTERED OUT.

Washington, Aug. 25.—Orders have been issued for the mustering out of the following regiments: First Vermont, First Maine, Fifty-second Iowa, Sixth Pennsylvania, Second New York, Second Nebraska, One Hundred and Fifty-seventh Indiana, all volunteer infantry; also batteries A, B, C and D, Ohio light artillery; First Illinois volunteer cavalry, batteries A and B, Georgia light artillery; Twenty-eighth Indiana light battery and the New York and Pennsylvania cavalry troops now in Porto Rico.

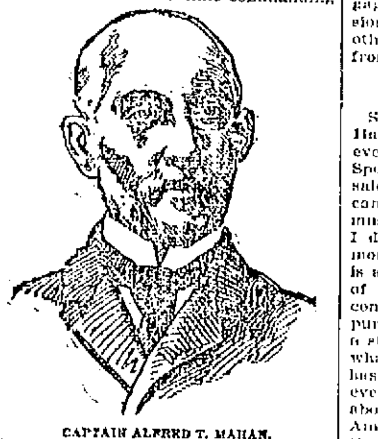

RELEASE OF NAVAL AUXILIARIES.

Washington, Aug. 25.—Within the next week all the men called from various states to man ships of the auxiliary navy will be on their way home, with the possible exception of those on the four monitors around Boston. The department is deluged with inquiries as to how soon these naval militiamen can return home. The letters come not only from relatives, but from business firms, which say that as the war is over they want their clerks to return to duty. These influences have been aided by pressure from senators and congressmen, and the department feels some satisfaction in stating that all the men will be released by Sept. 1 except those on the monitors. who are mainly from Maine and Massachusetts, delay in their cases being due to the necessity of sending tugs to convoy the monitors to the League Island navy yard, Philadelphia, where the crews will be let go.

MR. LONG'S APPRECIATION.

Washington, Aug. 25.—The following letter was addressed by Secretary Long to the president of the war board, Admiral Sicard, in recognition of its services:

My Dear Admiral—In view of the practical ending of the war with Spain and the well-earned relief from further duty to which the naval war board is now entitled, I cannot, though absent from the department, forbear to express to you and through you to your associates on the board, Commodore Crowninshield and Captain Mahan (retired), the very high appreciation which the department has of the services it has rendered since the war began. That its members have been faithful and diligent in the highest measure goes without saying, for they are animated by the high professional spirit which distinguishes the navy and which they have themselves done much to stimulate; but from my personal knowledge and observation, I desire to add to this, that equally marked have been the intelligence, the wise judgment, the comprehensive forethought and the unfailing competency to meet every exigency which have distinguished their deliberations and action. May it not be said that not one error has been made? Proper control by the department has been exercised over all movements in the field, and yet at the same time commanding officers have been duly left to exercise discretion, and have never been hampered in their work. I do not know how your work, as members of that important board, could have been better done, or where in the arena of the war you could have rendered better service or deserved more honor.

LINE OF TRANSPORTS.

Washington, Aug. 25.—Assistant Secretary Meiklejohn of the war department contemplates the establishment of a line of transports from New York to Havana, Santiago and Ponce. It is expected that the new route will be ready for operation in two weeks. Havana will not be on the route at present, but as soon as that port is open the line will touch there. Operations would begin at once, but the transports are now being used for carrying troops. The line will be utilized for transporting supplies of the quartermaster's, commissar, and surgeon general's departments, as well as such other freights as may be needed at the points occupied by the United States forces. Mails will be carried also by these transports to and from the new American possessions. New York instead of Tampa has been selected because of the severe quarantine at Tampa against yellow fever.

NEWS FROM CUBA.

Havana, Aug. 25.—The steamer Baracoa has arrived at Sagua with a cargo of provisions. She has not, however, begun to discharge, as she is awaiting a decision as to whether she will have to pay duties on the cargo, having paid at Santiago $15,700 for what she has on board.

The commanding general in the Sancti Spiritus district reports that two American soldiers of the column operating with Maximo Gomez have presented themselves to him, being ill. They were immediately sent to the hospital. General Blanco has ordered that all Americans who present themselves be well treated; that assistance be given them, and that they be treated with all consideration. The sick at the hospital, General Blanco's order says, must be treated with solicitude and kindness.

MINES IN HAVANA HARBOR.

Washington, Aug. 25.—Negotiations have been opened through diplomatic channels by which it is expected that the Spanish government will co-operate with the authorities here in the removal of the mines and torpedoes in Havana harbor before the military commission assembles there. The suggestion was made by the state department and has been forwarded to the Spanish government through the French embassy.

TO ACT WITH THE AMERICANS.

Madrid, Aug. 25.—The minister of war, Lieutenant General Correa, when asked what instructions had been given General Blanco in regard to opposing the insurgents in Cuba, replied that he had ordered the captains general of Cuba and the Philippines to act in accord with the Americans, and if the Americans should prove unable to make the insurgents respect the armistice, then the instructions were to repel by arms any attack upon the Spaniards.

LONDON TIMES EDITORIAL.

London, Aug. 25.—The Times this morning says editorially: "If half the Cuban stories are true, it is no wonder that the Americans are disgusted with the insurgents' conduct. The insurgent leaders make a great mistake if they imagine their conduct will go unpunished. It may be a troublesome business, but America, having put her hands to the plough, will not turn back."

Discussing the rumor that Secretary Alger will take refuge in the senate to escape the responsibility for his blunders in the war office, and that Senator McMillan will become ambassador to London, the article expresses the opinion that "if America becomes a colonizing power she will be compelled to abandon this fluctuating style of administration in favor of trained civil and military administrators, not liable to removal with each presidential change and not dependent upon politics for their selection and promotion. It will be equally important to cultivate permanence in diplomatic representation abroad."

MAJORITY MAY ENLIST.

South Framingham, Aug. 25.—A vote was taken in the camp of the Fifth regiment yesterday on the question of remaining in service after discharge. About 75 percent voted to join the regular army. The result of the vote is to be sent to Washington, and it is understood that influence will be brought to bear to have the men go into active service.

The vote was polled in quite a novel fashion in order that it would represent the actual opinion of the men. Colonel Whitney and Sergeant Major Buechner instructed each company in the form of ballot. Slips of paper were distributed to each man, who wrote yes or no on one, depositing it in a box. Finally the boxes were collected and the vote canvassed. The result of 75 percent is a little under the estimate of the favorable vote anticipated. It was placed at 80 percent. The officers are yet to vote, but 90 percent are expected to favor garrison duty.

SOLDIERS CUT TO PIECES.

New York, Aug. 25.—Two privates of the Seventy-first New York regiment, M. D. Kane and Christopher Jurgenson, were killed while skylarking near Westbury, L. I. They belonged to the battalion which was expected to go south, but which got no further than Camp Black. The battalion left the camp Wednesday morning to join the main body of the Seventy-first at Montauk. The two men were in the baggage car, and one tried to take possession of a piece of watermelon held by the other. In a friendly scuffle both fell from the car and were cut to pieces.

CUBA AN EVOLUTION.

St. Paul, Aug. 25.—Senator M. A. Hanna of Ohio arrived in the city last evening from the Yellowstone park. Speaking of the annexation question he said: "The Philippines is a problem we cannot solve in a hurry. We, of course, must retain a coaling station there, but I do not think it likely we shall want more than Manila and its harbor. Cuba is another problem. I never was much of a Cuban, and am not prepared to commit myself as to the policy we should pursue there. We propose to establish a stable government in that island, but what constitutes a stable government has not yet been defined. I think, however, Cuba will be an evolution, and in about 20 years it will be so thoroughly Americanized that there will be no question as to what a stable government means."

NOT TO TALK FURTHER.

Boston, Aug. 25.—Colonel Woodward declines to be interviewed on a conference held with Governor Wolcott yesterday. It is understood, however, that after a discussion of the matter it was thought wise not to give the troubles of the Sixth regiment further publicity.

DOVER'S MYSTERIOUS POISONING

San Francisco, Aug. 25.—Mrs. D. A. Botkin, who is accused of causing the death of Mrs. J. P. Dunning and Mrs. J. D. Deane of Dover, Del., is now in the city prison here, having been brought from Stockton. Mrs. Botkin declines absolutely to talk to newspaper reporters, but to the chief of police she protested her innocence.

What the police regard as an important piece of evidence was made public in Stockton. Frank Gatcell, a salesman in a candy store, says that about three weeks ago a woman came into the store and asked for a "4-bit box" of candy, saying she had some candy that she desired to put in the box with some of the store candy. Gatrell gave her a box which did not have the firm name on it. The candy which she put in looked old to him, and it scarcely half filled the box. He says he did not observe the lady closely, and he can only describe her by saying that she was of medium height and build.

THREATEN TO STRIKE.

Lawrence, Aug. 25.—Owing to the fact that the Lowell, Lawrence and Haverhill Street Railway company has published notices to the effect that by Sept. 15 every employe shall file a bond of $300, the expense of the same to be borne by the men, it has leaked out that the men, 100 in number, have threatened to strike. The men claim an injustice has been done them, and that they have been given to understand that failure to file a bond is equal to discharge. The only bond allowed is that of a Baltimore concern.

ONE MAN KILLED.

Pittsburg, Aug. 25.—During a heavy thunderstorm yesterday, lightning struck a car, and as a result one passenger is dead, another will probably die and four others are badly hurt. The passengers were panicstricken. D. S. Frear alighted on his head, crushing his skull. He lived but a short time. All the injured received their hurts in attempting to jump before the car came to a standstill.

GUILTY OF MURDER.

Lancaster, Pa., Aug. 25.—The jury in the case of Ralph W. Wireback, on trial for the murder of David B. Landis, brought in a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree. Wireback killed Landis on the 7th of April, when the latter, accompanied by deputy sheriffs, visited his home for the purpose of ejecting him, the premises having been sold and Wireback refusing to vacate.

GRAND LODGE MEETING.

Betances May Be Cuba's First President

Scientist, Philanthropist and Patriot—Bought Children from Bondage—Spanish Spy System Drove Him to Seek Autonomy for all the West Indies.

Eleuterio Betances, the great Paris oculist, bachelor of science and of arts and doctor of medicine, whose name has been mentioned recently as possibly the first President of Cuba Libre, is as distinguished in letters as he is in science, but is distinguished more than all for his long and persistent personal warfare against Spanish dominion in the West Indies. Though he is a native of Porto Rico, he is reverenced for his devotion throughout Cuba as sincerely as in his native isle. He never would have received this reverence, however, nor achieved such distinction, probably, had he not in his younger days been in the habit of buying a negro baby every month.

EDUCATION IN EUROPE.

It all happened in this way. Betances was born 73 years ago in the little town of Cabo-Rojo near Mayagues, Porto Rico, which the United States troops captured with such eclat some weeks ago. He was a delicate boy and in another place than that land of soft sea breezes might have had small chance of living. His father, who was a man of means, had him educated by a private tutor who took so good care of him that at the age of fourteen he was sent abroad to complete his education. He studied in Tolouse until he was graduated with the degrees of B. A. and B. S. Then he went to Paris where he was graduated in medicine with honor. While he was abroad he had time for considerable travel and observation outside of his regular college and university work, and he visited those countries with whose languages, literatures, science and art his studies led him to be interested in.

When he received his degree in medicine he returned to Mayaguez to practice. He made a special study of diseases peculiar to the country and soon the fame of his marvellous surgery spread over the whole island. He had his private hospital where the rich paid well for treatment; but the poor he treated without charge.

Young, charming of address and brilliant, the older practitioners were not altogether without envy in their regard for him. Another thing, too, attracted attention to Betances—not to his advantage. He did not believe in slavery, and in those days slavery was general over the island and the Spanish officials made much directly or indirectly by the traffic. Betances did not preach against slavery, but it was his custom each month to buy a baby slave and then present the infant's freedom papers to the child's mother.

ANNOYED BY SPIES.

Naturally the authorities noticed this and though at first they may have regarded it as nothing more than a harmless eccentricity they grew suspicious and when some of the jealous physicians who would not have been sorry to have Betances out of the way suggested that he would bear watching the Spaniards set spies to observe him constantly. This annoyed Betances exceedingly and ere long became intolerable. Protest was of no avail, and one more instance of Spain's lack of foresight discovered itself, for the man who until this treatment was received had been her friend became the one who has done more than any other to bring about the final downfall of her rule in the Western Hemisphere. Cubans and Porto Ricans alike acknowledge this and so also do the Spaniards themselves. Spain complained to France in the last Cuban revolution.

When Betances had convinced himself that persecution was inevitable the Spanish official character revealed itself to him and much that had escaped his notice before he now saw clearly in its true light. He recognized that as long as Spain ruled Porto Rico the prosperity of the island would be hindered. He determined to study the effects of Spanish dominion on the other islands and to do this he made most thorough tours of investigation, visiting all the West Indies and studying conditions everywhere with the greatest care. He did not lay aside his medical work, however, but practiced continually. In Hayti, among the French-speaking part of the population he had an especially large number of patients. He travelled abroad also and in the United States, studying the political, social and economical conditions on the Peninsula and comparing them with those obtaining in other countries. In time he settled in Paris, where he was the accredited representative of the Cubans during the revolution of 1868-78, and again in the recent rebellion. Indeed, for over a generation he has been the recognized head of the anti-Spanish West Indies.

BETANCES'S WRITINGS.

He wrote many pamphlets on scientific, political, economic, legal and social and literary subjects, and for years has been one of the chief contributors to Le Temps. He took great interest in French politics and has had for his warm personal friends such men as Freycinet and Gambetta. He could have had political preferment in France had he wished.

While doing these things he established a reputation all over Europe as an Hellenist and also came to be acknowledged one of the most expert oculists in Paris, even in the world. Even the Spaniards are among his patients. He has made as much money as the famous American dentist, the late Dr. Evans and gave continuously large sums to aid insurgents whenever they have been at war against Spain. In spite of being continuously concerned with plots and revolutions, he is a man of gentle manners and lovable disposition. His Spanish patient feel affection for him, and some profess their love for him openly, though he has given their country more trouble than any other living man.

DR. BETANCES, WHO MAY BE CUBA'S FIRST PRESIDENT.

How They Keep Cool.

Whilst the American resigns himself at times of intense heat to perspiration and grumbling, his fellow-men in the East have solved the problem of "how to keep cool" by methods as ingenius as they are varied.

Of all these delightful methods the "sinking-rooms" of Persia commend themselves most to one's conception of the luxurious and delightful. When not required, these gilded, glass-walled palaces float gracefully on the blue waters of Lake Niris, the most lovely of Persian lakes. When the heat ceases to be comfortable their happy owners enter the floating palaces, which are drawn by heavy weights down into the transparent depths of the lake, and with an ample supply of air from above, luxurious surroundings, iced drinks, and fan-waving houris, the Persian millionaire who cannot enjoy 100 degrees in the shade must be difficult to please.

The Prince of Agra has a similar palace moored in one of the reaches of the Jumna. Its furniture and appointments are superb; the very chairs are made of gold and incrusted with jewels, and the curtains are of the most exquisite silks. On sultry days the Prince and his suite enter their river-palace, which is at once unmoored and floats gently on the bosom of the Jumna at the will of the tide, catching every breeze that blows, and gliding to the soothing music of harps played by fair hands. Who would not be the Prince of Agra?

The "cooling galleries" of China are little less delightful as refuges from a too torrid sun. They hang suspended over rivers or private lakes, and are sumptuously furnished with rare rugs and tayestry, settees, and lounging-chairs; whilst every cooling beverage that man can devise is there in profusion.

In India the well-to-do natives fly from the plains at the first blast of heat and take refuge in the hills, where the cool breezes blowing from snow-capped mountains drive away all thought of the simmering plains below.

Economy Of Men And Money In New American Isfands.

Missionary Boards to "Invade" Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippines—Episcopalian Force Will Be Led By the Rev. P. Duarte—Planning a Great Concerted Agitation.

In consideration of the moral and religious responsibility involved in the political and military relations into which this country has been forced with Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippine Islands, Dr. Arthur J. Brown, secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian Church of the United States of America, a short time ago sent a letter to the foreign missionary bands of the various churches with a view to obtaining a frank mutual understanding and an agreement as to the most effective distribution of the work among the several Boards if it should be found expedient and practicable to undertake mission work in these fields.

Letters had come to the Presbyterian Board from persons in five different States urging the importance of taking up this work and offering to help furnish men and money, one minister having raised and paid over $1,000 for the support of the first missionary while the General Assembly itself gave strong approval in the report of the standing committee to the effect that "We cannot ignore the fact that God has given into the hands of the American Christians the Philippine Islands and thus opened a wide door to their population and by the guns of our battleships has summoned us to go up and possess the land."

Dr. Brown stated in his letter that the Presbyterian Board felt assured that this opinion was held by other denominations and that it would be unfortunate if several Boards should enter any one of these fields at the same time, thus unnecessarily duplicating expenses and perhaps introducing elements of rivalry.

TO PROMOTE COMITY.

"We have heard much in recent years of the principles of comity," he said, "and we are earnestly striving to promote that comity in lands that are already jointly occupied. We believe that the new situation thus providentially forced upon us affords an excellent opportunity, not only for beginning this work but for beginning it right from the view point of Christian fellowship and the economical use of men and money."

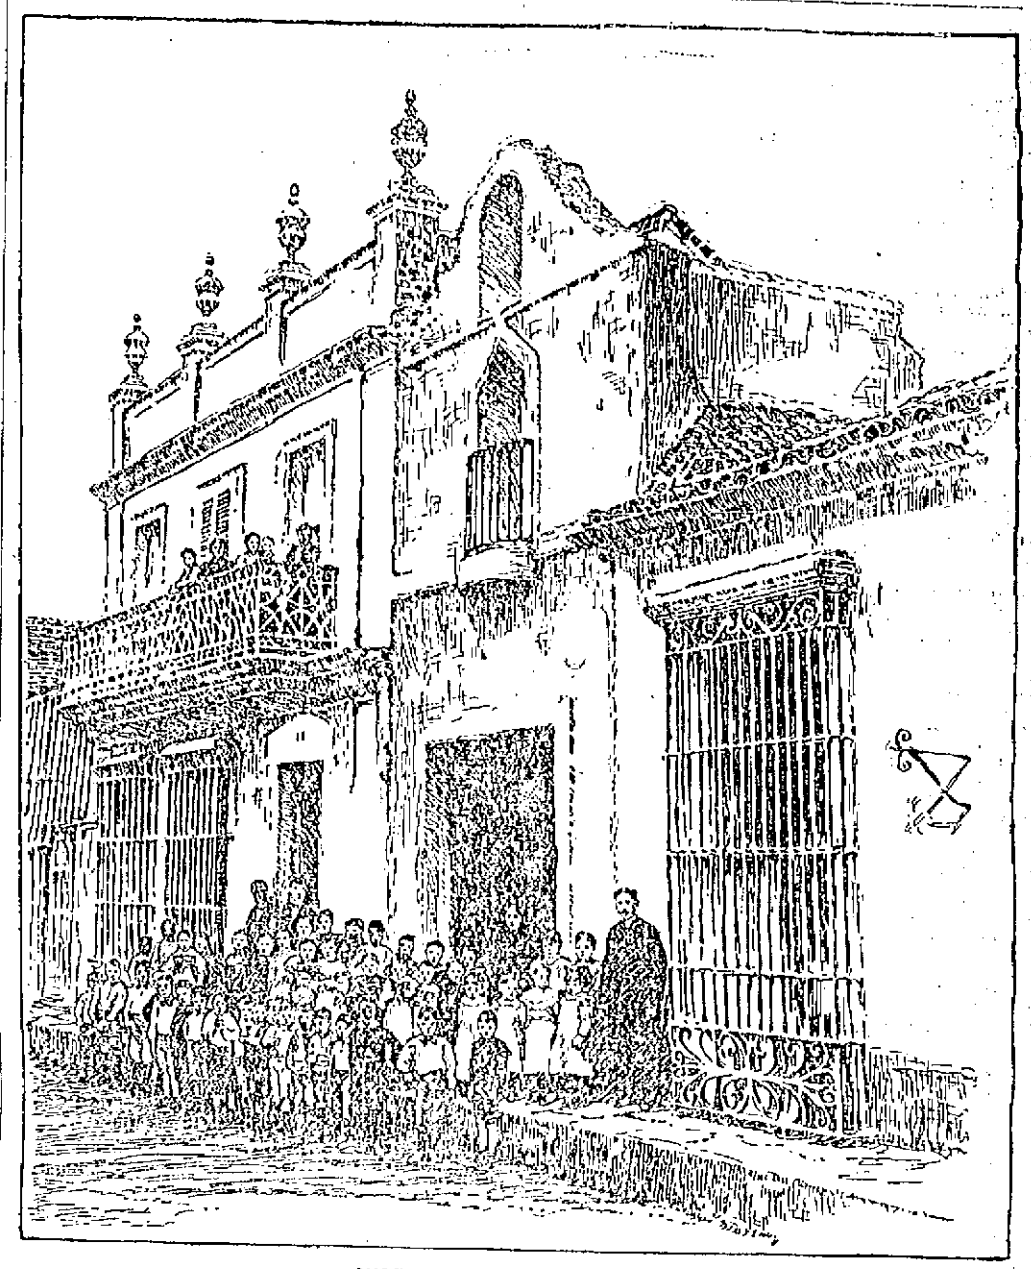

The invitation to this conference was sent to the American Board, the Baptist Missionary Union, the Missionary Society of the M. E. Church, the Board of Foreign and Domestic Missions of the P. E. Church and the Board of Foreign Missions of the Reformed Church in America.

The officers of the Protestant Episcopal Board expressed their sympathy with the object of the meeting, but held that it would be premature and impolitic for them to take action at present since their auxiliary, the American Church Missionary Society, has been conducting work in Cuba, since the Philippines and Porto Rico were not yet in possession of the United States and it was impossible to tell what their political status would be; and because the Board of Managers under whose province the work would come would not meet until September and the General Convention not until October.

"It is manifest," objected the Episcopal Board, "that an arrangement by which this Church would be restricted in its work to portions of the islands would interfere with the jurisdiction of missionary bishops who might be elected by the General Convention and would impede their efforts."

The American Church Missionary Society already has planned an invasion of Cuba under the Rev. Pedro Duarte, who is now in charge of the church at West Tampa, Florida, which is composed largely of Cubans, many of them eagerly waiting for an opportunity to return to the island. The Episcopalians had three chapels in Havana and its suburbs before the war but only one of these remains. Mr. Pena, a lay reader, conducts its services. The church missionary society has been unable to communicate with him by letter for several months, but money has been sent to him by cable to relieve distress among the Protestants.

In addition to the work in Havana the society supported a chapel and school in Mantanzas. This was the former field of labor of the Rev. Mr. Duarte, he having obtained permission from the Cortes to hold Protestant meetings in Cuba. It was through his efforts also that a cemetery was provided where Protestants could be decently buried. When the war broke out the chapel at Mantanzas had to be abandoned and was used for a vaudeville theater by the Spaniards. Mr. Duarte has hopes of regaining possession of it as soon as the Americans and Cubans can return to the island.

MISSION HOUSE IN MATANZAS.

FRUITFUL FIELD IN HAWAII.

The Episcopal church has another fruitful missionary field opening up before it in Hawaii where a diocese was formed by the English church as early as 1861. This was at one time offered to an American bishop, by the Archbishop of Canterbury, but was refused, and the present incumbent, Rt. Rev. Alfred Willis, D. D., was consecrated in 1872. Now that the Islands become American territory the Episcopal church will push the work there with vigor.

The American Board did not accept the invitations of the Presbyterians to the conference because they already have a field in the Micronesian islands, which include the Carolines, the Ladrones, the Marshall and the Gilbert Islands.

Before the missionaries appeared the men in these islands went nearly or quite naked and the women wore two mats belted at their waists. Both men and women were elaborately tattooed. The people worshipped the spirits of their ancestors and were extremely superstitious.

The American Board has been assisted in its inland work by missionaries from Hawaii. A feature of the work is the use of missionary ships. Since the beginning of its work in 1852 there have been four of these, all bearing the same name, the "Morning Star." These ships make yearly trips among the Islands of Micronesia carrying missionaries and supplies.

It is the intention of the American Board to confine its labors for the present to this work, and to leave the Philippines to other boards that are not represented in this part of the world. The work in Cuba and Porto Rico will probably come within the province of the Home Missionary society.

THE DOOR IS OPEN.

With the exception of the Episcopal and American boards, the other Protestant missionary boards sent representatives to the conference called by the Presbyterians and resolutions were adopted declaring it to be the judgment of the conference "that the Christian people of America should immediately and prayerfully consider the duty of entering the door which God in his providence is opening."

The fact was noted that "Seven boards have already undertaken work in Cuba or are expecting to undertake it—namely, the Home Mission Board of the Southern Baptist convention, the missionary society of the Methodist Episcopal church, the Board of Missions of the M. E. Church, South, the General Conference of Free Baptists, the Foreign Missionary society of the United Brethren in Christ, the American church Missionary society of the Protestant Episcopal church, and the New York and Indiana Yearly Meeting of Friends.

"That three Boards contemplate work in Porto Rico, the M. E. Church, the M. E. Church South and the Southern Baptist Convention.

"And three Boards are disposed to consider seriously the opening of missionary work in the Philippine Islands, namely, the Presbyterian, the Methodist Episcopal and the Baptist.

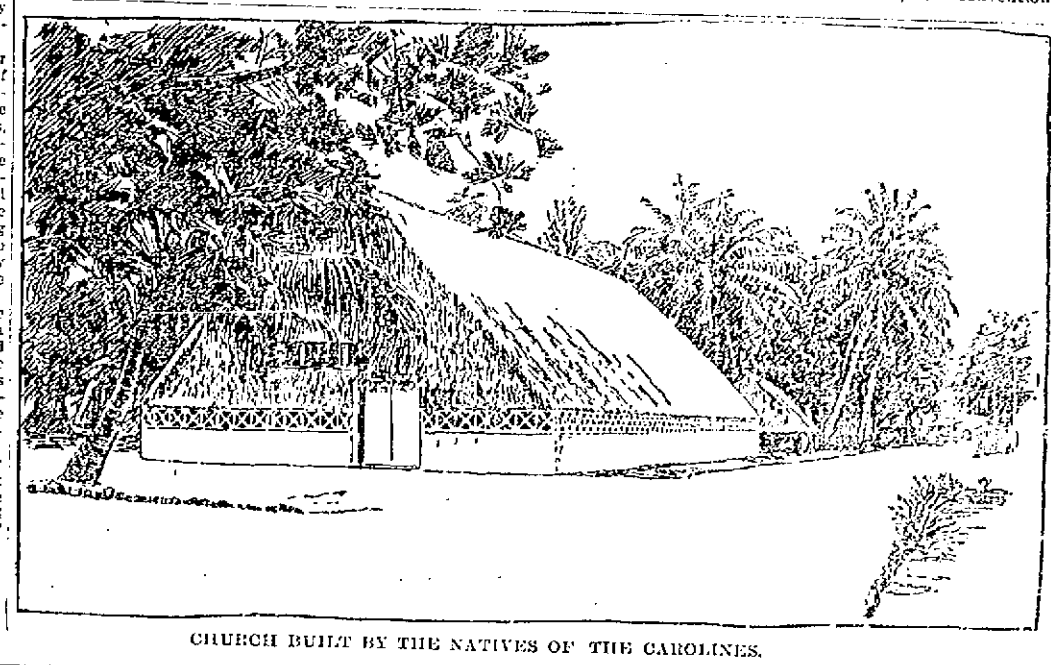

"We feel that it would be unfortunate if several Boards were to enter any one of these fields at the same time, except of course in large centers of population.

"We therefore recommend: (1) That each of the Boards mentioned appoint a committee of two on the field or fields which it thinks of entering, each group of committees to confer with a view to frank and mutual understanding of the most effective and equitable distribution of the territory and work under the several Boards.

"(2) That the committee take early steps to secure all available information regarding these various islands as missionary fields, and that all information thus obtained be shared with the other committees concerned, with a view to subsequent action.

"(3) That the committee on the Philippine Islands be requested to inform the American board that our board has expressed an intention of undertaking work in the Ladrone Islands, and that the question was raised as to whether the equipment of the American Board in connection with the Caroline Islands does not fit it better for work in the Ladrones."

The American Board has signified its intention to care for the work in the Ladrones. The committees are gathering all possible information about the conditions in the different islands, but no definite plans will be made until their political future is determined upon.

Peach Sandwiches.

The strawberry sandwiches, so called, of the earlier season are now succeeded by a similar article with a peach filling. Bread made of baking-powder biscuit dough is rid of its crust and cut into oblongs. The peaches are sliced, then sprinkled with powdered sugar, and if to be specially good, a dessert-spoonful of whipped cream is placed on each. They are of course served separately on small plates and eaten with a fork, not piled and handed around for the finger service so associated with a sandwich in its generic sense.

"It is not a wise plan to be too familiar with a young dog," said a clever dog trainer to the writer. "Make him recognize that you are his master, and this once accomplished, his one idea is to please you and to deserve a pat on the head and a word of praise. If the dog is of that breed which inherits the scent for game, the first thing to teach him is to fetch and carry—that is, to retrieve, and this without chewing or mutilating the object which he brings. A way to break a dog of this is to take an old glove, put a few tacks with the points extended outward, and fill it with cotton. He will find that by picking it up gently he can carry it without discomfort, while if he attempts to worry it, the consequences are not agreeable. This lesson is much better for him than any amount of whipping, and he will remember it much longer. Most game dogs are, however, so tender mouthed that they will retrieve the most delicate and dainty object without leaving on it the slightest impression of their teeth. But a dog of this description may be ruined by the inattention of his master, and neglect to take from him the article retrieved when offered for delivery. A young dog will, under such circumstances, almost invariably, think it is his privilege to play with it, and will relieve the itching of his teeth by proceeding to crush it or tear it to pieces. Once this is allowed it is an easy matter for it to become a fixed habit and a source of endless trouble."

A machine for the manufacture of pottery has recently been invented which does the work of several men at half the cost. It can turn out sixteen flower-pots per minute, against the one produced in the same time by the old process, and it is also used for the manufacture of cups, saucers, and jam-jars.

Moon sets—11:53 p. m.
High tide—5:45 a. m.; 6:15 p. m.

MUSIC HALL.

Regular Opening—The regular season of this newly renovated theatre will open Thursday, Sept. 1st, with the well known and ever popular farce, "Peck's Bad Boy," which was seen here last season and was a tremendous success during the entire engagement.

The management this season advertises a new show in every particular, and in fact nothing old but the name which is a household word with young and old.

The new dialogue and business introduced in the play this season with the great variety of new songs, dances, and specialties combine to make it even far better than ever. Those who appear in the cast are Dot Hoyt, Lester Howard, Emma Rossley, Robert Evans, Minnie Lee, A. C. Taylor and others.

POPULAR MR. IVES

OF LAWRENCE PRESENTED WITH PURSE.

Turner Ives, the well known ex-starter of the Lowell, Lawrence and Haverhill street railway, who was discharged by the L. L. and H. R. R. as a result of the collision near Belle Grove, has been presented with a purse of $100 by his late associates. Mr. Ives was invited to the L. L. and H. restaurant by a companion. There he was astonished to find a large gathering and for a few minutes he was bewildered as to its meaning.

Three rousing cheers were given for Mr. Ives and Fred Morton called him before him. In a neat speech, Mr. Morton presented him with the $100 on behalf of his fellows, thus indicating the respect and esteem in which he is held by his former associates. Mr. Ives acknowledged the purse in a few well chosen words.

CYCLING NEWS.

Chicago, claims the youngest bicyclist in the country in the person of Gladys Inglis, 2 years and 1 month old, who rides a wheel with an 8-inch frame, 14-inch wheels, and correspondingly small in the other measurements.

Charlie Kilpatrick, the one-legged cyclist of international fame has branched out as a marksman and recently broke 95 out of 100 clay pigeons at a rise of 30 feet while riding around a 20-foot circle. He loaded a single-barrel gun for each pigeon, riding hands off, and completed the task in 28 minutes, an average of a little less than four birds a minute.

It is reported that Tom Linton will sail for home next Saturday. He will hardly be likely to do so before he hears the decison of the Orient people, which has not yet been reached, on the question of sending a pacing team over with him for a European attack. It is reported in Philadelphia papers that Linton is to meet Charlie Church there Saturday at 25 miles, but the race may be declared off.

How Old She Looks

Your household cares may be heavy and disappointments may be deep, but they cannot make you look old.

permanently postpones the tell-tale signs of age. Used according to directions it gradually brings back the color of youth. At fifty your hair may look as it did at fifteen. It thickens the hair also; stops it from falling out; and cleanses the scalp from dandruff. Shall we send you our book on the Hair and its Diseases?

If you do not obtain all the benefits you expected from the use of the Vigor, write the doctor about it. Probably there is some difficulty with your general system which may be easily removed. Address, DR. J. C. AYER, Lowell, Mass.

MATRIMONIAL.

LANOUETTE—LEMAITRE.

Tuesday afternoon, at 5 o'clock, at Manchester, N. H., Miss Eva Lanouette eldest daughter of Dr. J. E. A. Lanouette, became the wife of George L. Lemaitre, formerly of Lowell. The marriage took place in St. Augustine's church and was performed by Rev. Fr. Chevalier. A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents after the ceremony and many beautiful gifts were received. Mr. and Mrs. Lemaitre left on the 7.50 train south for their wedding trip. They will make their home in Manchester on their return.

COLEMAN—DONAHUE.

Mr. Michael Coleman of Lawrence and Miss Nellie Donahue were united in marriage at St. Patrick's parsonage at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Rev. Fr. Walsh tied the nuptial knot. Mr. Dennis Kelley was best man and Miss Mary Spring of Fitchburg attended the bride. Both attendants are first cousins of the bride. The bride was becomingly attired in white Swiss muslin and carried bride's roses. The bridesmaid wore an organdie gown and carried pink roses.

A reception was held from 4 to 9 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, 111 Common street. Many friends were present to extend the best wishes for a happy wedded life to the young couple. Guests were present from Boston, Fitchburg, Salem, Lawrence and Haverhill. A list too numerous to mention of costly and appropriate wedding gifts was received by the newly wedded pair. Mr. and Mrs. Coleman left on the 9.50 train for a bridal tour. Upon their return they will reside in Lawrence.

ROSE—WALSH.

Mr. Harry W. Rose and Miss Annie Walsh, both of this city, were united in marriage at the parsonage of the Central M. E. church, 37 Eleventh street, yesterday, by Rev. W. H. Meredith.

WILSON—ULLOCK.

Mr. Harry Wilson and Miss Margaret Ullock were married by Rev. W. H. Meredith at the parsonage of the Central M. E. church, 37 Eleventh street, yesterday. Both are of this city.

THE RIGBY RACES

Were Attended by More Than 700 Persons.

When Rain Interfered With the Sport.

Portland, Me., Aug. 24.—The largest crowd that has been in attendance at the New England fair—numbering about 7000 persons—was prevented by the weather clerk today from getting more than a taste of what promised to be rare sport. As it was, four heats were got off.

The unfinished pacing race is as much of a conundrum as ever, three horses having won heats. B.B. and Norvin G. were the heat winners today, duplicating their performance of yesterday. Outside of the heat winners, all of the other horses in the race have been distanced from time to time, so that the rule regarding all horses not winning a heat in the first five will not have to be enforced.

So far, the racing in this class has not developed a decided race winner, and it looks like tossing up a cent as to whether the roan or the bay gets the final heat, while Winfield is liable, after a long rest, to be very dangerous.

The 2.19 trot, so far as it has proceeded—two heats—has given the talent a decided upset. Nick was favorite, but the first two heats went to Warren Guy, a brown stallion from Nova Scotia, that sold in the auctions for $2 in $50. The favorite was a long way from good and his bad acting caused him to be behind the flag in the second heat, while Warren Guy equalled his record of 2.14½, made in the first heat.

Warren Guy is a horse that H. C. Lydiard of Kentville, N. S., has been working at the kite track, Old Orchard, for 10 days or so. He arrived at that track with pails, blankets, etc. strapped under the road cart and attracted considerable attention at the time by jogging out that way.

The same man brought out Gordon Sims a few years ago, and sold him for a long price after a clever race. Warren Guy looks like a good thing and has been priced, it is said, at $6000.

With several inches of mud after the thunder storm, the judges were forced to postpone until tomorrow at 10.

DEFEATS CRACK RIDERS AT ASBURY PARK.

Michael Also Gave a Grand Exhibition.

Asbury Park, N. J., Aug. 25.—Fully 8000 people witnessed the races in this city under the auspices of the American Cycle Racing association. The one mile L. A. W. championship professional brought out a field of the most noted crack riders, including Bald, Cooper, Major Taylor, Stevens, Eaton and Gardner. Bald was the favorite, and by hard riding he succeeded in winning his heat, and later captured the final by a superhuman spurt on the stretch. The race between Michael and Lefferson was the event of the day. It was Lefferson's first middle distance paced race, and he acquitted himself with honors, although he was defeated. Michael's exhibition was a grand one and disclosed most conclusively the staying powers of the famous rider.

A PACED RACE.

LOWELL'S SICK.

UNIONISTS REBEL

Against Tory Domination in England.

They Helped the Liberals to Victory Making a Change of 1000 Votes—Mr. Curzon's Seat Capby tured Liberals—The Result a Rebuff to Salisbury.

London, Aug. 25.—The election for the seat in the house of commons for the Southport division of Lancashire, made vacant by the acceptance of Mr. Curzon of the viceroyalty of India, resulted in the return of Sir Herbert Leyland, Liberal, by a majority of 272 votes over his Conservative opponent, Lord Skelmersdale. The polling was: Leyland, 5109; Skelmersdale, 4838.

At the last election for the seat, Mr. Curzon, in the Conservative interest, was returned by a majority of 764. Lady Leyland was Jennie Chamberlain of Cleveland.

The result of the election is a bad defeat for the government, Mr. Curzon having held the seat since 1892. Peculiar circumstances affected the contest. A section of Liberal-Unionists, headed by the chairman of the local Unionist association, declined to support Lord Skelmersdale on the ground that now that the home rule agitation was dead, there was no longer any need for Liberals to vote for Conservatives. Thereupon Mr. Chamberlain, secretary of state for the colonies, plunged into the fray with a letter urging the Unionists to vote solidly for Lord Skelmersdale because home rule was not dead, but only sleeping. The Unionist leaders professed to feel contempt for this "little Unionist revolt," the success of which is likely to have important results as regards the relations of the parties in the future.

All the papers agree that Lord Skelmersdales' defeat is an expression of the electors' dissatisfaction with Lord Salisbury's Chinese policy. The Chronicle and News declare that it sounds the knell of the conservative government.

CHELMSFORD MEETING.

WAIVES ITS RIGHT TO CONTRACT.

There was a very large attendance at Chelmsford's town meeting last night. J. A. Bartlett was elected moderator.

The substance of Article 2 was to see if the town would vote to contract with the state highway commission to build a section of state highway in North Chelmsford, known as Princeton street extension—$8000 having been alloted by the commission—or to see if the town would vote to waive all rights to contract for the work.

After brief remarks by Selectmen Sheldon and C. E. A. Bartlett, the following vote was passed to wit: "That the town do waive all rights to contract for the work. Contractor Goddard who has had charge of similar work in Lowell was invited to explain the method of doing such work and responded.

Under Article 3 relating to widening and straightening a road leading to the new Catholic cemetery in North Chelmsford, voted that the selectmen be requested to petition the county commissioners to grant another hearing in the matter of said road, the public having received insufficient notice and that the expense to the town would be too great.

Article 4 which hinged upon Article 3 was dismissed.

Under Article 5, relating to a new cemetery near the Centre village, it was voted on motion of C. E. A. Bartlett that a committee consisting of Harry L. Parkhurst, Arthur M. Warren, Charles E. Bartlett, Albert P. Perham and Walter Perham be appointed to consider the question of the purchase of a suitable lot of land near the Centre village for cemetery purposes, to ascertain what lots can be obtained and to report the result of its investigations, with such recommendations as they shall see fit to make to the town at its next annual meeting.

NORTH BILLERICA.

The Talbot and Faulkner mills at North Billerica are still busy on government goods. During the summer, months night work (over time) has been in progress at these mills four nights a week. Only one night overtime was worked last week and that was Tuesday.

The materials produced for the government are principally rough blue flannel cloths for blouses and twilled goods of an exceptionally fine grade. It has been customary for these mills to give the help an annual vacation and that during the month of August.

As peace has been now declared with Spain, it is thought the operatives of both of the above mills will be given an opportunity to enjoy their vacation some time during the next month.

COMING HOME

Gen. Miles Ordered to Send Troops Back.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—Orders have been issued directing General Miles to send home from Porto Rico all troops not actually needed for service there. No point has been designated as yet for their disembarkation in the United States, but an examination of several sites is in progress. It is desired to secure a healthful camp and at the same time one where disembarkation can take place at once without any delay such as occurred at Montauk.

It is expected that some of the troops to be sent home from Porto Rico will sail today or tomorrow. The first arrivals will be landed at New York city.

QUIET CONFERENCE.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—Senator Davis of Minnesota and Senator Frye of Maine, who have been selected for peace commissioners, arrived at the White House a little before ten o'clock today and immediately began a conference with the president.

The conference of Senators Davis and Frye with the president lasted two hours and a half and then the two senators called on Secretary Day who will be chairman of the commission. Reticence was observed respecting the conference, which went fully into details of the American position at the meeting of the peace commission.

MERRITT CABLES.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—The war department has received the following:

Manila, Aug. 25, (8.35 a. m.) 1898. To Adjutant General at Washington: Rio de Janeiro and Penna arrived the twenty-fourth. All well. No casualties excepting Private Wenks, First South Dakota, who died between San Francisco and Honolulu.

AT CAMP MEADE

President McKinley to Inspect the Troops

PAYING THEM AN INFORMAL VISIT WITH CABINET.

Preparation Being Made for His Entertainment.

Camp Meade, Middletown, Pa., Aug. 25.—Major Graham received a telegram today from Secretary Alger announcing that President McKinley would pay an informal visit on Saturday to Camp Meade. The general promptly directed Chief Engineer Lusk to arrange for a marching review of the troops in honor of the president. There are upwards of 12000 men in camp and by Saturday the number will be largely increased. Within 48 hours the entire second division will be moved from Thoroughfare Gap.

The movement of the troops from Camp Alger will begin tomorrow. The president will probably come to Camp Meade by a special train and go from here to Camp Wickoff N. Y. Members of his cabinet and the diplomatic corps and personal friends will come with him.

BAY STATE COMING.

TO BOSTON WITH 101 SICK SOLDIERS.

Boston Aug. 25.—The Mass. Volunteer Aid association has received a cablegram from Dr. H. L. Burrill, saying that the Massachusetts hospital ship Bay State is on her way from Santiago de Cuba, to Boston, bringing 101 sick soldiers. The association is making arrangements to have the men taken care of at the various cities and towns along the state coast.

A telegram was received here today by the Mass. Volunteer Aid association, from General Wheeler at Montauk Point; to the effect that the latter had recommended that the 2nd Mass. regiment be sent to Camp Framingham. Gen. Wheeler added that he thought the change would be made.

WIGGINVILLE.

PRESENTATION TO MR. SYKES BY FRIENDS.

A party of friends called on Mr. Richard Sykes of Epping street, Wigginville, last night and presented him with a parlor clock and mat also a briar pipe in an elegant case. Mr. Allan was chairman and after a few remarks called on William Dickson to make the presentation. Mr. Dickson reviewed the stand Mr. Sykes had taken on the Wigginville school location and presented him in the name of subscribers with the above articles. The clock was inscribed as follows: "Presented to Mr. Richard Sykes by Friends, Wigginville, August, 1898." Mr. Sykes was overcome by this complete surprise. After a lengthy speech in which he thanked the company refreshments were served and the following ladies and gentlemen contributed songs and readings: Misses Jennie and Maud McKee, (Mrs.) McCord, Allan, Downey and Burkett and Messrs. Dickson, Allan, Staveley, Sykes and Mortimer.

A BOY DROWNED

In the Concord River This Afternoon.

HE WAS LEO DRURY OF HUDSON STREET.

Fell in While Watching Companions Bathing.

Leo Drury, 7-year-old son of Thomas Drury, of 15 Hudson street, was drowned in the Concord river in the rear of White's tannery, this afternoon.

The little fellow was sitting on a rock by the river, watching some companions who were in bathing and becoming dizzy, lost his balance and fell in. The current at this point is very swift and the unfortunate lad was carried down and drowned before help could reach him.

The body was recovered by a boy named Willie Evans and it was taken in the ambulance to McDermott's warerooms.

NORTON AGAIN

Harvard's Little American is Worried.

The Dyspeptic Professor in an After Dinner Speech Sees Great Danger Confronting the Country.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

Ashfield, Mass., Aug. 25.—The twentieth annual dinner in aid of Sanderson academy was held this afternoon and like those which have preceded it, it has been notable for the brilliant array of distinguished men who have participated in the after-dinner speaking, notable, too, in the words they have spoken and fortunate in the attendance of many other distinguished people who have come far and near to attend this fartamed literary feast.

The speaking today was excellent. Aside from Charles Elliot Norton, Professor Emeritus of Fine Arts of Harvard University, who presided, as on nearly all of these occasions, there were addresses from Rev. John W. Cadwick of Brooklyn, who has his summer home at Chesterfield, G. Stanley Hall, a native of the town, but president of Clark University of Worcester, Rev. Dr. P. S. Moxem of Springfield, Sherman S. Rogers of Buffalo, and Booker T. Washington, the principal of the Tuskegee Institute, Alabama, and recognized as the leading negro educator of the country.

As will be seen from the addresses of Professor Norton, he still believes that the late war could have been avoided and he takes a somewhat pessimistic view of the dangers which confront the country.

Professor Norton during his address said:

"The black and brutal visage of war has been lighted up from time to time during the Summer by the gallant deeds of our men in service and by the good conduct and marvelous good fortune of our navy, and by the general temper of humanity displayed so soon as the actual fight was over by both officers and men. The blessings and privileges which we, the people of the United States have enjoyed by virtue of our geographical position of our inhabitancy of a new continent and of our freedom from dangerous neighbors have given us exceptional opportunity for making a real step in the advance of civilization. Of all our privileges and blessings, none was greater than our exemption of the rule, fear of war. We were set apart for peace, we should have held ourselves consecrated to it, for we professed to be a Christian nation and followers of the Prince of peace to hold war in abhorrence. We professed that our constantly increasing national power rested on a moral foundation. There have, indeed, of late been many threatening indications that these professions had not the force of principles; that safety, prosperity and ignorance had corrupted the moral sense of the nation and weakened its responsibility; that there were vast numbers of our people too unacquainted with the teaching of history to set a right value on our peculiar and priceless national privileges; that there were others, including many men of more than average intelligence and virtue who had no absolute conviction of the wickedness of war and who are still, including a large body of politicians, so indifferent to right or wrong as to be eager to force the nation into war if by so doing their personal or partisan interests could be promoted.

And yet many an optimistic and well meaning citizen, shutting his eyes after the common American fashion to the signs of danger, continued to trust that the principles of peace were of such incontestible virtue and the practical motives for its preservation so strong, that in spite of all evil influences, it would still be maintained as our national policy. They have been rudely undeceived. Flinging common sense and moral principle alike to the winds, under the influence of hysterical emotion, without decent deliberation, without due preparation, the representatives of the people rushed into war, and what is worse, force drew upon a weak nation which whatever it had done to provoke it, shower itself fleatly ready to make every reasonable effort to avert it, and to meet every legitimate demand of the United States.

The actual conflict has ended; but less than one hundred days of war has resulted in revolution in the United States. The foundations on which the republic rested have been unsettled; the principles upon which the government depends have been violated; we have undertaken obligations which neither our institutions nor our national character enable us properly to discharge; we, the one great non-military power in the world have suddenly joined the ranks of the nations burdened with great armies and navies; we have loaded ourselves with an enormous additional debt and with an enormous increase of annual expenditures; a permanent oppressive tax upon the industry of the people, and further, whatever disposition may be made of the Philippines, we are already, through holding them and claiming the right to dispose of them, brought into entangling relations with the nations of the old world, and run the risk of losing the inestimable boon which has hitherto been ours, of freedom from the complications of the international politics of the old world, and of remaining the independent masters of our own fortunes. It is indeed, a momentous revolution. The results of the war make its solution infinitely more doubtful and more difficult. The results of the war add to their peril and increase their number."

ALGER TALKS

He Promises Soldiers Speedy Furloughs.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

New York, Aug. 25.—Secretary Alger made his headquarters last night in the private car of President Baldwin of the Long Island railroad at Camp Wikoff.

He is somewhat run down in health and did not want to take any unnecessary risk by passing the night under canvas.

Secretary Alger was driven early today to the General hospital, where there are 1200 sick soldiers. He personally conversed with many of the sick men, inquired as to their condition and if they were in need of anything and made notes of what he saw. He assured the sick men that as soon as they were well enough they would be allowed to go to their homes on furlough.

An extra supply of milk was received today and was a blessing to the typhoid sufferers.

General Alger said there will be at least 2,000 gallons of milk delivered at the hospital camp daily.

Dr. Magruder, the quarantine doctor has thus far boarded all the transports and inspected 3,165 troops.

The body of Private Edward Logue, Co. L, Second Mass. Volunteers, who died last evening, from malarial fever was buried in the camp cemetery.

On the transport Yale, which arrived yesterday were the officers of the First Brigade, third division, fifth army corps, under command of Col. A. A. Harbach, of the third infantry. They included the third infantry, Captains Joseph L. Hale, J. W. Hannay, Arthur Williams, Bell and Kennedy; Sergeants Moore, Houle, Smith Giddings, Byrand, Frissel, Ross; Doctors Bragg and Devloe; Adjutants Murs and McAdoes and officers of the 26th infantry.

The Second, Fourth and Fifth regular artillery landed from the Resolute yesterday afternoon. The Resolute sailed today with Col. Huntington and 468 marines for Portsmouth, N. H. The Yale and Mohawk are still in the bay waiting to be unloaded.

MILES ANGRY

GEN. MILES, Who Comes Out Boldly Against Shafter and Alger.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—The dispute which has arisen between the friends of Secretary Alger and the friends of General Miles over the Santiago campaign, is attracting a great deal of attention at the war department, where the differences between the general commanding the army and his official superior have been the theme for gossip ever since the outbreak of the war. The interviews which Miles is reported to have given out at Porto Rico are so characteristic of him, and at many points touch so closely upon the truth, as it is understood here that they are regarded as authentic and it is expected that Miles will follow them up with more explicit comments on his arrival in Washington.

It is taken for granted among army officers that the statements with regard to the suppression of his despatches from Santiago are true, and most are ready to fix the responsibility for the unfortunate conditions at Santiago where he places them. There is little question that Miles sent a despatch July 21, calling attention to the prevailing sickness among the troops and advising that the troops be sent up into the mountains as soon as possible.

Gen. Miles further charges that Gen. Shafter failed to carry out his orders to burn certain houses infected with yellow fever. One of the houses ordered burned was used by soldiers for their quarters and as a result, 37 died.

The chief interview credited to Gen. Miles appeared in the Kansas City Star but as yet its authenticity is in doubt. One thing certain, however, is that Gen. Miles is determined to resent some of the indignities cast upon him by the war department.

A COLLISION

In Which Sixteen Were Lost—Captain and Eight of Crew of Twenty-five Were Saved—The Norge Captain Claims He Was Not to Blame—Accident Off the Grand Banks.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—The Thingvalla Line steamer Norge sank the French fishing schooner La Coquette, off Bayonne, on Saturday, Aug. 20, on the Grand Banks. The captain and eight seamen were saved and sixteen went down with the unfortunate vessel. The Norge sailed from Stettin August 3rd and Christiansand August 12th, with seven first, and thirty-three second cabin passengers, and 143 steerage passengers. The weather was generally fine to the banks of Newfoundland, when it became foggy with patches of clear weather. On Saturday, Aug. 20, between 3 and 4 o'clock in the afternoon, the weather was foggy, but not so thick that the vessel's speed was reduced. Captain Knudsen said he could see about three cable lengths ahead. The wind was fairly brisk from the west southwest, when a vessel suddenly loomed up with sails full and stood directly across the bow of the steamer. The bells were rung to stop and back at full speed, but too late to check the steamer's headway. The stranger, a fishing schooner, fell across the bow and with a crash was forced over and sunk. As the impact occurred three men sprang aboard the Norge. The passengers, most of whom were about the decks, rushed about in confusion with alarm at the shock but were soon quieted when they learned that the steamer was uninjured. In the meantime a boat was lowered and six men and a dog were picked up. The schooner sank almost immediately and carried with her sixteen of her crew.

Among those saved was the captain. Captain Knudsen of the steamer said that as a steam vessel, the Norge was obliged to keep out of the way of all sailing craft, but this was a time when the sailing vessel could do more to help herself than the steamer. The latter was going ahead at full speed for the fog was not, in the judgment of the captain, sufficient to reduce headway. The fisherman was an active vessel and a good breeze, and was under good steerageway, but made no attempt to avoid the collision, keeping his sails full until squarely under the bow. The large hull of the Norge should have been visible for a long distance. This is the substance of Captain Knudsen's statement. The nine rescued sailors were brought to port and will be landed this morning. The lost vessel carried a crew of 25 men in all.

Woman's power is largely dependent upon her ability to interest, entertain, attract and please. It is for this reason that women strive to become accomplished. They study in order that they may converse intelligently on all subjects. They strive to become good musicians, graceful dancers and amiable hostesses.

All accomplishments are unavailing if a woman suffers from ill-health in a womanly way. The special weakness peculiar to the woman's organism, will rapidly wreck the general health. The sufferer will lose her natural vivacity, her wit, her good looks, and the ambition and power to display the accomplishments at her command. Any woman affected in this way should resort to Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is a wonderful medicine for ailing women. It is the invention of an eminent and skillful physician, Dr. R. V. Pierce, for thirty years chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y. It aims to cure but one class of diseases, and claims to be good for nothing else. It imparts health, elastic strength, vigor and virility to the delicate feminine organs. It prepares a woman for wifehood and motherhood.

Mrs. Ramon Sanchez, Penasco, Taos County, N. Mex., in a left to Dr. Pierce says: "From a grateful heart my voice goes up to God both night and day in a solemn prayer that He may guard your healthful preserve your life. I hereby express my gratitude to you for the relief I have received from your wonderful medicine, 'Favorite Prescription.' After suffering years of misery I am today a healthy and happy wife, and can truthfully recommend to women the use of the 'Favorite Prescription' as a regulator of the monthly periods."

What Is the Meaning and the Effect of the One Sided Familiarity Between Employers and Employees?—An Investigation's Queer Revelations.

[Special Correspondence.]

I did not understand why we call people who serve in a domestic capacity by their first names, without a title, while for all other people we prefix Mr., Mrs. or Miss. I undertook to find out the cause of the custom.

Encyclopedias do not treat of this subject specifically, so I inquired of a Mrs. Rich, who keeps seven servants, thinking she would be a woman who would know. She said she supposed it was good usage which made the custom.

"But where did our good usage come from? There's been in history a great deal of good usage which now we see wasn't good. What if sometimes people find out that our good usage was not right and that we've been doing a wrong thing—maybe a ridiculous thing—all our lives? What if this custom should be a remnant of something un-American and now peoples should laugh at us as we laugh at the old world?"

"Why," said Mrs. Rich, "I suppose we drop titles because of a feeling of good fellowship—a feeling of all being in one family—a family familiarity, you know."

"Then why do not Mary and John drop your title and that of Miss Ida? And why, when we travel, do we carry everywhere this family familiarity among strangers who are domestic servants, but with no other strangers? If the familiarity is complimentary expressly for these strangers, why do they never return the compliment? And I do not see how it is complimentary to Mary, the waitress, to be addressed familiarly by every fellow if to Miss Ida it would be an insult."

Mrs. Rich said she was sure she did not know, and she presumed that strictly speaking it could not be perfectly right.

Can etiquette and ethics conflict?

I spoke of this to Mrs. Wuturhead, who keeps two servants, thinking she would have more time to deliberate and answer questions. She said we drop the title because it's easier to say Mary than Miss Mary, for the same reason that she always called her cook Mary and her second girl Biddy, whatever their real names might be, because she was used to those names and they were easy to speak.

"And do you suggest to Mary and Biddy to call you by some easy name? It must be very wearing on their untrained vocal organs if they have to be calling you Mrs. Wuturhead, your son Master Christopher and your little girl Miss Dorothea so many times a day."

Mrs. Wuturhead replied that "such familiarity from servants would lessen their respect for the family, and, indeed, the respect of others for the family and of the family for themselves."

"But does not such familiarity from families lessen their respect for servants, and, indeed, the respect of others for the servants and of the servants for themselves? You know we have to do as we would be done by."

Mrs. Waturhead said: "I wish you wouldn't get such notions into your head. I can't see any sense in anything like that."

I was puzzled when I thought over this, for Mrs. Waturhead was a very active church member, and now she had spoken impatiently of the golden rule and could see no sense in trying to apply it. Why did she retain her membership in the church if that was her feeling?

I asked little Miss Smith, a fashionable dressmaker, why she called the aged person who did her housework for her Nell.

Miss Smith said it was proper. She was brought up to do so, and she did not wish a servant to speak familiarly to her because it was not proper respect which help owed to their employer. There must be some mark to distinguish between employers and their help or they would run over you.

I asked if she would like the women who employed her to help on their dresses to use such a distinguishing mark. At which she turned dark red and bit her lips so that I could not find out. I think I must have inadvertently touched some sensitive place in her mind.

I called at a boarding house to see a faded girl who stays ten hours or more of the day in a shop, and whom a benevolent society has had taught to make her own dresses evenings to give her habits of industry to keep her off the street nights (out of the air) and to save her employers the expense of paying her wages large enough to employ a dressmaker, so that there may be more healthful competition among dressmakers, and the bread cast on the waters in the form of moral help to girls and financial help to employers (the benevolent ladies' husbands) may return in the form of cheaper dressmaking for these very ladies of this very benevolent society. This girl was not careless of her opportunities, as the manner of some is, and was sewing as usual. My face was burning hot at the visions suggested by the faded girl's rapid incessant use of her fingers, her rounded back and wasted chest—wasted life indeed. Overexertion long continued, especially indoors, acts on a woman's nerves so that she dwells often in gloom which is much less easily and quietly borne than tired muscles. Out of such gloom come functional derangements in the race which lead certainly to crime. In such gloom is hell.

"Read? No. I ain't got no time f'r reading. I can tell y'. I ain't read a book in months."

"Well," I said, trying to shake off the gloom which surrounded us, "I was asking questions about a thing I don't understand. Could you tell me why cooks and waiters are never called Mr. and Mrs. or Miss?"

"But I have been near enough to that class so that I have thought that if they were addressed like other people they would have more self respect and be more likely to really improve."

"Well, I don't train in no such crowd. I was brought up to keep out of low company. I don't believe they've got any feelings at all, they're so low and ignerent."

I approached the cook, a woman whose brain and hands shaped our destinies to a considerable extent, for dyspepsia or otherwise. "Do you know, so long as I've known you, I've no idea what your last name is."

Her last husband's name was Fitzgerald, she said.

"Well, if my last husband's name was Fitzgerald I suppose I should wish to be called Mrs. Fitzgerald, especially if I liked the deceased as you did. I have been studying the matter of titles in this country, and I believe that we have made a titled class larger in this country than that of the old countries, to take in all but a few, which makes it all the worse for those few. So I will call you Mrs. Fitzgerald if you don't care."

"What are you up to now?" said Mrs. Fitzgerald. "That's not my place, and I won't answer to it."

"I wish you wouldn't be so fiery. You always beat up and scare me so, as if you abode in continual conflagration. Can't you retain the respect you owe to this powerful boarding house if a revolutionary boarder talks confidentially to you? The quality of respect is not strained and should be too strong to get strained in such ways."

Mrs. Fitzgerald cooled and smoothed and laughed, so that I could tell her something which, if true, we ought to tell one to another. We ought to confer concerning it. Must not truth, from its very nature, be safest, even the truth as to a social structure? Do not lies beget lies, and finally become ruinous to those who tell and act them and to those who hear and see and imitate them?

"Society has done many people a great wrong. It has injured itself and these people more than it can ever know by being too hurried and thoughtless, and, in fact, too generally mean to give them any good chance. Society blames them for its own neglect, and even robberies of them and their ancestors, and adds insult to injury by classifying them and taking away the titles of one class, so that every time they are spoken to all may be indelicately reminded of the class distinction. Our practicing such ill manners, as a matter of course, shows how grossly inconsiderate and pompous or slavish we are.

"It's very sweet of you, Mrs. Fitzgerald, to approve a custom which treads you down, but such sweetness under injustice does not help the progress of the world. Rebellious against injustice, while they create much unpleasantness at the time, finally make for righteousness. If you find that being addressed respectfully doesn't hurt you any, you will reason that abusing tramps, as people do, will make them feel an awful degradation, but will not inspire them to improve themselves. I don't believe it truly elevates any class to tread on others."

"Do you want me feeding victuals to tramps and encouraging laziness?" asked Mrs. Fitzgerald.

"Oh, there you open the great question of whether the plain teachings of Jesus are practical, or even were, and the question of whether the victuals would hold out. The question of what to do while society keeps on making more and more tramps is appalling. But one thing is very clear—you could speak respectfully, even kindly, to them. As yet there is no law to regulate the tones of one's voice or the expression of one's eyes when they look at tramps. That last tramp this morning had a weak walk and a pale, helpless, patient face. How very helpless he was—not understanding our language or knowing what he ought to do. I can't forget the story of his startled eyes, like those of a poor cur who sees thoroughbreds fed and praised while he gets starved and scolded because he is not bright, handsome and tricky like the others. He couldn't help being born somewhere amid overwork, no work and malaria. He was never fed on good food for body or mind, or taught to keep clean or dress well, or how to do good work in order that he might be self respecting and happy. He had no idea of how he ought to live. Society never seemed to need his poor work. It kept telling him to go to work, but it would not allow him much work to do, and after awhile it seemed no more disgraceful to beg for bread than to beg for work, for if he begged for work people would say he did not really wish to work. Society's policy toward the unfittest is to let them beg, either of individuals or associations, and to let the employers take their choice from the most humble and most competent as best they can, while society rails at them, imprisons them, preaches to and about them, patronizes them and insults them.

"And once a week in all the great churches and small churches society worships with much ceremony one who had not where to lay his head, and who was very solicitous about those similarly situated, who said, 'Inasmuch as ye did it unto one of the least of these, my brethren, ye did it unto me.'"

Mrs. Fitzgerald said she was very sorry, and she really must go about her dinner or she would be a tramp herself if tramps were so easily made.

FITS CURED

(From U. S. Journal of Medicine.)

Prof. W. H. Peeke, who makes a specialty of Epilepsy has without doubt treated and cured more cases than any living Physician; his success is astonishing. We have heard of cases of 20 years' standing cured by him. He publishes a valuable work on this disease which he sends with a large bottle of his absolute cure, free to any sufferer who may send their P. O. and Express address. We advise anyone wishing a cure to address Prof. W. H. PEEKE, F. D., 4 Cedar St., New York.

FALL HATS

From time immemorial the 1st of September has sounded the "Sunset gun" of the straw. It's bad form—very—to wear a straw hat longer—but that's another story." What we want to say is that the Fall Blocks are now in—the stock's complete, and handsomer hats we've never handled.

What We Can Do.

We offer you three things: Quality, Assortment and price. We can give you the BEST $2.00 HAT made in the world. We can give you the latest styles. We can give you the satisfaction that honest goods always give. Dealing as we do, directly with the manufacturers, we are enabled to save you the jobber's profits.

RASCALLY STEWARD

But Was Exposed by a Captain of the Second Massachusetts—Letter from Lieut. McNulty of Co. M, Ninth Regiment.

Camp Wikoff, L. I., Aug. 21.—Pale, wan and weary were the boys of the Second Massachusetts,, who stumbled ashore from the transport Mobile Sunday morning.

The quaint little place was crowded by nearly 10,000 people who had come up from New York and other places to witness the home coming of the gallant boys of the Old Bay State.

Immediately upon arrival the entire regiment was ordered into quarantine where the men were forced to remain until Wednesday noon. This is considered absolutely necessary for the safety of the other regiments, as there is considerable apprehension lest there be a few cases of yellow fever among the soldiers.

When the waiting crowds saw the men of the Second tottering down the gang plank there was many a tear of sympathy and many a lump rose in the throats of the on-lookers. Colonel Clark is not exempt from the quarantine restrictions. He was ordered to the hospital in company with his men, and he will of necessity remain with them till the embargo is lifted by Major General Ferwood.

The greatest indignation prevails here today among the visitors, all of whom roundly score the administration for the manner in which the sick men are being taken care of. They are placed on an abutment,, where the strong sea wind sweeps with a velocity of nearly twenty miles an hour, and the sudden change from the transport is regarded as too severe a strain for the soldiers in their already weakened condition.

Then, again, there is absolutely no accommodation for the hosts of people who have come to the camp prepared to remain near their loved ones. There are no hotels, no eating houses worth patronizing, and when the last train left here this evening, it carried nearly all the visitors who had arrived this morning.

Fresh revelations are being made regarding the transport Mobile. The Second Massachusetts suffered fearfully on board and the large number of sick and dead is considered wholly due to the conditions which prevailed on the transport.

A captain of one of the companies of the Second Massachusetts said today: "My men were fed on mouldy hardtack, tainted meat and beans that would turn one's stomach. Well men could not eat such stuff, let alone sick men, and the result was great suffering that might have been spared the men if enough of dainty food had been put aboard at Santiago to feed the sick. Lives would have been saved if this simple precaution had been taken. The old belief that men will take what they can get if they can't get better was disproved by the voyage of the transport.

"Sick men couldn't take the stuff that was offered to them on that ship, and so they died of starvation, although the records give dysentery, malaria and other disorders as the cause of death. On every transport that has arrived here during the past week there have been stories told by the men of outrageous extortions by the stewards, who have run private messes for the benefit of those who could pay high prices for nourishing food.

"When conditions got so bad there was danger of the sick men dying I went to Steward Hughes and asked him to make me some biscuits. I told him my men were in danger of dying unless they got better food than the army regulations which were being dealt out, but he refused to make any though he had plenty of proper materials at hand. Now I had heard from Captain Hicks of our regiment that he had purchased some biscuits from the steward, so I said to that worthy: 'You made some biscuits for Captain Hicks. Why can't you make some for me?' 'Oh, he paid me five cents apiece for them,' he said. 'Well,' I said, 'I'll pay you the same price. I have got to have them, for my men are starving. Then that miserable scoundrel turned around with a leer and said: 'Oh, I can't do the work so cheaply now. Things like biscuits get more valuable every day we are out.'

"Well, I finally got him to make me fifteen biscuits at 10 cents apiece, and the next day he made me fifteen more. In payment I handed him a $10 bill. He took four dollars out. He said he ought to have an extra dollar as a tip for being so obliging. I refused to allow this and he gave me another dollar in change. The whole thing made me so boiling mad that I went to Captain Loyland the next day and asked him if the steward had a right to sell food.

'He said he had not, and then I told him of the biscuits. He hauled Hughes upin short order and made him give me back my $3. Others had the same experience with Hughes that I did and I tell you we were heartily disgusted with a man who could do such things. He sold sandwiches for 25 cents each and coffee for 25 cents a cup.

"He charged from $3 to $5 each for pies and equally exorbitant prices for other kinds of food. He was a constant aggravation to the starving man who had no money. The captain of the transport was a splendid man and he put a stop to the steward's outrageous doings as soon as he heard of them, but he didn't hear of them until we were almost here and no one dared report him for fear that it would put a stop to all chance of our getting decent things for our sick."

LIEUT. McNULTY'S LETTER.

Friend Frank—I received your letter and paper on July 29, also your paper Aug. 5, and it was with great pleasure I learned that my Lowell friends are well. How wide a contrast is the life we are subjected to here to the happy days we spent in our native city! It is within the last two weeks that we have got our mail regularly. But everything is in good working order now. There is a United States post office established in Santiago and the mail matter is hardly delayed. We have not been in a battle since July 16th, but all the while we are fighting a more deadly enemy than the Spaniards in the shape of yellow fever, chills, and many other complaints. They have made their marks on our regiment within the last few weeks. I suppose you saw in the newspapers the account of Major and Brother Grady's death. Four privates died since then and a crowning effort on the diseases carried away Major O'Connor, brother of Rev. Fr. O'Connor of Boston, last night. God knows how many more victims there have been. The division hospital is crowded to overflowing with men of our regiment. The other two regiments in our division have not been on the island as long as we, so there are not so many of them affected as yet. The number of Washington troops at the hospital is increasing and is now almost as large as that of the Ninth. I have not been ill myself but neither have I been enjoying what I could call good health. This is the first day I felt like doing anything, even to write. We all have a sort of a "dopey" feeling down here. I have no idea what the authorities are going to do with the boys with whom it is the universal wish and hope that they will soon be sent back to the states, and that in a hurry. We are camping now behind a mountain above Santiago. There is another thing the boys are short of; it is writing paper, envelopes and stamps. The supplies that they had were left at Siboney and when a party returned to the latter city to procure them, they found that the Cubans had stolen them. I have not been off the field since July 1. We are not allowed to enter Santiago as yet: too much yellow fever. If I had more paper, I might describe the battle of San Juan hill, and the terrors of the sick and wounded, with the sufferings, privations and neglect which the soldiers had to endure with a self-sacrifice that only the most unflinching patriotism could sustain. But if we are soon to be removed from this pest hole then all will be well and we may reach home alive. It is hard to think that many brave men have died of neglect after the enemy was defeated. But I must close. From

Your friend,

Phillip.

NEW VOLUNTEERS

AS MEMBERS OF THE AMBULANCE CORPS

To Care for the Sick and Wounded Soldiers.

The Ambulance Corps will probably see service after all, for the demand for them is growing. When the Olivette arrived in Boston Tuesday, 50 members of the corps, 34 of whom were from Lowell assisted in removing the sick and wounded.

Last night Sergt. Foss received a call for volunteers to ship on the Olivette and take charge of the sick, who are being removed to the north. It is said 14 men were wanted and had more time been allowed, the full number could have been furnished.

With only a few hours' notice, four Lowell volunteers were found. They are Edward F. Maguire, son of John E. Maguire, the constable; Con. Kelleher, formerly of the Phalanx; a young man named Butterfield, formerly of Co. M, and one other.

At noon the Olivette sailed from T wharf, her destination being Fernandina, Fla., where she will take on the sick of a Pennsylvania regiment. Then she will proceed to Key West and Fortress Munroe, thence to Philadelphia and Boston. Constable Maguire saw the boys off.

The members of the local Ambulance Corps have received orders to report at Boston and assist in the removal of soldiers from the hospital ship Bay State.

Cuban Weather Caused Lowell to Swelter.

It took yesterday's weather to make the folks at home fully realize and appreciate the hardships which our boys at the front have been undergoing, for yesterday was typical Santiago weather almost too hot for health during the day with a deluge in the evening.

The storm last night was even worse than that of the previous night and as usual, it was at its height just at the hour when the unfortunate mill people were returning from work, for it you have ever noticed it, it appears always to storm the hardest at noon and at 6 o'clock in the evening. Last evening, the rain fell in sheets and the hailstones were big enough to sting one when they struck.

There was an immense crowd in the square when the rain began and immediately the waiting rooms, the neighboring stores and the doorways were crowded, the entire square being left to Starter Tom Lees and a couple of fearless newsboys who yelled "Latest! Full account of the rain!" to the vacant space. Carter & Sherburne's store was packed almost to suffocation, it seemed, and when during a temporary calm, the crowd emerged from that store, a little newsboy standing near by remarked to his running mate: "Geel dat's a cheap gang. Dey've been holding up de buck's store for 15 minutes an' not a one of them blew demselves."

The most remarkable feature of the storm was the hail which is reported to have done much damage to crops in the suburban towns, laying low a good deal of corn and things.

The team of the Wollaston Golf club will come to Lowell Saturday to play the Vesper club team a return match. Two weeks ago the Lowell players went to Norfolk Downs and returned hence not one of them with a single hole to his credit. There is a good deal of curiosity in the Vesper club as to whether the Wollastons can play as well away from home as on their own links.

LABOR POLITICS.

At a recent meeting of the Troy Central Federation of Labor Hon. H. Streiffler of Buffalo made some interesting remarks on the duty of workingmen in the field of politics. He reminded them of the necessity of taking some united action this fall in the direction of putting into the legislature men from the ranks of labor. He urged the workingmen of Troy to start in at once on this project by forming a political alliance independent of the labor organizations, but maintained on the same principles plus political action. Through this organization workmen of all parties could be united solely in their own interest politically as they are united in the labor unions for the protection of their wage interests.

"It will surprise you," he said, "when you start this movement how quickly it will develop strength and unity of thought. In other places where workmen have opened their eyes to the necessity of political combination, such as Syracuse, Buffalo, Geneva, Utica and Schenectady, the results are inspiring. Labor unionists are now holding offices, drawing the salaries and performing the duties far better and more conscientiously than they have ever been performed before, for, I tell you, there are more honesty and capability in the labor movement than in any other movement on God's earth. We compel it to be so by our methods. Whenever we have landed one of our own in a county or city legislative body there have been enacted measures promoting the welfare of organized labor, and by that I mean all labor, because all labor can be organized. Our doors are open. We only demand from the applicant fidelity to his own interests. Now, if we can secure so much benefit from our few aldermen and supervisors, that we are now enjoying throughout the state, what can we not secure for ourselves by bending our energies to securing more representation in the state legislature? It is a duty we owe to ourselves to do this. Let us stop spending our money for conventions and lobbies and put this money and effort into the work of landing labor men where they will have power—in the legislature. Don't be discouraged if the man you send proves recreant. Send a different one next time, just the same as we do when one of our professional politicians gives us a more than ordinarily bitter dose. We change him for another of his kind. We cannot make many mistakes among our own men. We have lived, worked and fought together under the most trying conditions, and we know each other better than any other associated men. We can choose our representatives with a great deal less percentage of error than bank directors display in the selection of trusted officials.

"Again I appeal to you, workmen of Troy, to rise in your own behalf, so that if I am fortunate enough to come back to the legislature next session I will be met there by a man from Troy elected to represent labor."

The merchant who pays for advertising and doesn't get it cries out that advertising doesn't pay. He is wrong. Advertising pays if you get it. If you pay for any commodity that is never delivered, you lose money on it, just the same as you lose on advertising that you pay for but never get.

When merchants learn to buy their advertising space in the newspapers as they buy their merchandise—by measure and weight—it will pay them. Buy space by the inch per thousand of circulation and see that you get what you pay for. Then you will never be cheated in advertising and it will pay you. The Sun will give you more advertising for your money than any other paper in Lowell.

LOWELL'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER.

Our esteemed contemporary, the Cedar Rapids Gazette, is wasting far too much of its valuable space upon an unworthy rival, called the Republican. It is safe to say that by these professional courtesies freely extended, at least 50,000 people have heard of The Republican, who would never have known that such a thing existed. Why sacrifice a white sheep to kill a black one? The name is enough to condemn it; let the horrid thing die a natural death.

Glancing at our exchanges, we see that the press of all parties is unanimous in condemning Secretary Alger of the war department. Here is the opinion of a western paper that meets very general endorsement;

"Poor old Alger and poor old Shaw. Both are where they ought not to be. Money and corporation influence put them there. Both have insulted the brave boys who went to the front in defense of their country, and both will soon be out of public view forever."

What is being done to save the little waifs suffering from the intense heat? Nothing. The board of health has done nothing, the city has done nothing, and the parents can do nothing except take their little ones out to the country to the cool shade and fresh air, put them under medical care if necessary, but this will not save them. Better get sterilized milk for them and avoid feeding them on anything sour or likely to disagree with their delicate stomachs.

THE WAR NOT AN ISSUE.

The republican leaders throughout the country are now endeavoring to make it appear that the republican party alone deserves all the credit for the victory in the Spanish-American war. It should be remembered, however, that the war was not fought on partisan lines. The democrats and republicans alike favored it, and the democrats did most of the fighting. It is now the custom of the republican leaders to represent to the country the importance of the victories over Spain and the imperial policy fostered as the means of advancing the status of this country among the nations of the earth. The imperial policy is against the traditions of this country, and while we are entitled to some recompense in lieu of the sacrifices made during the war, it is neither necessary nor advisable to make the war one of conquest by holding the Philippines. We have a right to hold Manila and perhaps the island of Luzon, but to go any farther would be a serious mistake.

There is one thing for which the republican party deserves the entire and exclusive credit in connection with the war, and that is the mismanagement. The party which placed McKinley at the White House is responsible for his appointees, for Alger and Sternberg, two of the greatest misfits that ever held office anywhere. Alger's incompetency has killed more men than did the fire of our Spanish foes, because to him must be attributed the starving of the soldiers, the lack of medical supplies and proper regard for the safety of the men. Alger sent them to the pestiferous soil of Cuba without food and without water, without proper clothing and without shelter, either from the blistering sun or the drenching rain. To Alger's mismanagement is due a large portion of the illness reported, because had the army been properly cared for and properly fed, not one fourth of the sickness would have occurred. The cruel treatment of the soldiers on the transports caused hundreds of deaths. Take the single case of the Relief, on which a large number of typhoid patients died, including George C. Wenden of Lowell. Not one typhoid patient in a hundred in the worst stages of the disease can survive the heaving of a voyage at sea. But they were filled on the transports without regard to their fate and as a result hundreds met the inevitable end and all for want of proper management of the war department, all because of Alger's incompetency.

JUGGLING CITY AFFAIRS TO SUIT POLITICIANS.

The city council has had another meeting, but without result. The same story is to be told of the previous meetings, no business. It is now becoming more apparent from day to day that what has been suspected would come to pass. It has been charged that Mayor Bennett and a few friends in city hall are playing a big game of bluff, that while they are ostensibly working for the completion of Huntington hall, they are in reality working to delay both that and the sewer appropriation until the fall, when politics become more pertinent. Then the alleged scheme is to have both appropriations passed and put the growlers to work, so that they will vote for another year of Bennett. The taxpayers are, however, watching the course of events and will be ready to offset any such movement by voting for another candidate. Better, gentlemen, settle the Huntington hall matter at once, and do only what is necessary in regard to providing more sewers. If the city's affairs are to be juggled in the interest of candidates rather than the people at large, it is time the matter was generally known.

The war is not quite over, nor will it be until the articles of peace shall have been signed. It is just as well not to disband the army, pending Spain's display of subtlety in diplomatic relations.

LOWELL BOYS

Two interesting young men on a "hobo" wheeling pilgrimage across the continent stopped in this city yesterday for a short time, freshening up at the Young Men's Christian association building and taking a look over the Art museum before proceeding to Hartford, where the first day's journey ended. The young men are E. Victor Sargent and Robert McKissock, both of Lowell, from which city they started yesterday morning without a cent to settle a wager made by members of the Vesper Country club of Lowell. To win they must reach San Francisco by December 1 without the aid of railroad or steamboat conveyance. They are on bicycles, but are privileged to walk or get a "lift" by horse power if necessary. If they accomplish the journey successfully, each is to receive $200, while several hundred more is involved in the wager by the club members.

They are stalwart fellows about 20 years old, each with a thick sweater, but otherwise not in wheelmen's attire. They carry a book in which residents of the towns through which they pass testify to the compliance with the terms of the wager and the good character of the travellers, so far as appears. They also have letters of introduction including letters to two New York newspapers and a personal letter to the proprietor of one of them. An Associated Press man is to meet them at the Brooklyn bridge. Mr. McKissock has lately moved to Lowell from Waterville, Me., from which place he was recently appointed by President McKinley to West Point military academy. He has a few months furlough and will enter the academy next June. His father is the captain of a steamer in the China trade and a friend of a prominent Maine man through whose indorsement the young man secured his appointment to West Point. The two were fresh for their journey when they left for Hartford last evening and had a little more than $1, procured since they left Lowell.—Springfield Republican.

NATIONAL HIGHLANDERS.

A meeting of more than ordinary significance will be held on Saturday next on the farm of Sergeant D. M. Ayer, on the Merrimack river, near Lawrence, on the line of the electric line to Lowell. The occasion will be the reunion of the National Highlanders, one of the old-time crack military organizations of New Hampshire.

THE ARENA OF POLITICS

The announcement of Stephen A. Douglas, Jr., that he considers himself a member of the Democratic party is a political event of unusual significance. Mr. Douglas has always been a Republican, a hard party worker, conspicuous in Republican conventions and popular meetings and a favorite campaign orator. The Democracy of Mr. Douglas, though but recently acknowledged, comes to him by distinguished descent. He is the elder son of Stephen A. Douglas, the illustrious Democratic statesman and leader, whose name and public service are among the highest honors of the state of Illinois. On his dying bed he bequeathed to his sons their most valuable patrimony, his parting parental counsel, "Tell them to obey the laws and uphold the constitution."

These words are sculptured on the base of his monument at Douglas park. They constitute the foundation principle of the Democratic party. With this admonition left as his political inheritance, the younger Douglas has remained too long out of the Democratic party. He is welcome to its ranks and will become one of its most powerful and persuasive advocates before the people. In 1896 he secretly voted for Bryan. A few days ago he made his public declaration of faith. He will take the stump for free silver, the main cause of his conversion.

HOARDED GOLD.

Great Good Would Result If It Could Be Injected Into Trade.

As a proof of the wonderfully beneficial effects of the gold standard the accumulation of gold in the vaults of banks and subtreasuries is quoted. It is alleged that upward of 600 tons of gold, which is about one-twenty-fifth of all the gold in the world, lie in the treasure vaults of New York city. For all the good that gold is doing the people in the United States it might as well be in the frozen marshes of Klondike. Hoarded money is dead money, and gold is the money which bankers, brokers and misers hoard. Especially is this the case in times of war, and it is made the case by the demonetization of silver, which constitutes gold the only money of ultimate redemption.

If those tons of gold could be put into circulation, if the value they represent could be injected into the arteries of trade, then some benefit would be conferred. Indeed great benefit would result. But as this gold is simply piled up in the treasury of New York it confers no more benefits than so much brick dust. Wheat in an elevator will not keep people from starving. Wheat must be ground into flour, made into bread, placed in the reach of the individual, before it can relieve hunger. Gold in the vaults is as useless as wheat in the elevator. There is no benefit to the people in either so long as they are hoarded.

Robbed by Trusts.

Direct taxation is not borne with equanimity by the people of the United States. But when such taxes are imposed as a means of raising revenue to carry on war objections are silenced. There is a form of taxation, however, which is more heavy than any imposed by the government, and that is the tax levied on all consumers of the trusts. Almost every day the announcement is made of the formation of a new trust or of the increase in the price of articles manufactured by some trust. Yesterday it was the plate glass trust. Tomorrow it will be some other trust. Every one of these trusts is protected by the Republican administration. Every one of these trusts helped to elect McKinley. If the people are tired paying tribute to the trusts, they should cease to vote for the candidates of the Republican party. So long as Mark Hanna, Steve Elkins and McKinley are kept in power just so long will the trusts multiply and flourish. Just so long will the people be taxed to make the rich richer and the poor poorer. In the light of every day experience the people ought to see the result of Republican success and should take measures to destroy the party which creates the trust.

Humbug Vouches For Humbug.

There are numerous exploiters of the people, and perhaps they form a majority, who really believe that they have a perfect right to delude the masses and prey upon them. They have some sort of notion that it is an essential part of the scheme of creation that the people at large should labor and sweat in order that the sleek and the well fed may attend to certain wholly and unimportant things. Of course these wholly and unimportant and ridiculous things are made to appear very tremendous, and the deluded herd find the apparent triviality of it all a proof of the hidden significance alleged to pertain thereto. Thus humbug itself is accepted as the voucher of its own integrity, while truth is actually discredited for the reason that it is so simple and obvious. —Twentieth Century.

Theft.

Q. What is theft? A. Taking what does not belong to us.

Q. How comes it that things do not belong to us? A. The law is responsible.

Q. Do many people steal? A. Yes.

Q. Who? A. Generally the rich.

Q. What is done to them? A. Some are sent to the senate, others endow churches, and others get their indictments quashed.

Q. But do not the poor steal? A. Yes.

Q. What is done to them if they are found out? A. They go to prison.—Twentieth Century.

A Fundamental Principle.

Direct legislation is not only a method, but a principle, the principle that "the people must rule." Without this principle there is no such thing as liberty.—Kentucky New Era.

HAVE GONE TO CAMP ALGER.

Orders were received at St. John's hospital Thursday noon for Sisters Isabella and Mary Agnes to report at Camp Alger, Va., to serve in the army hospital. At 3 o'clock they were on their way south. These sisters had been sent from Emmittsburg, Md., to take the places of Sisters Camilla and Mary Gabriel, who had been ordered to Camp Wickoff, and their withdrawal leaves the hospital rather short-handed. Both are experienced nurses, having been several years in the community. Their most recent mission was at Franklin in this state.

Sisters of Charity from all their institutions in the country are being called to the army hospitals. Among others Carney hospital in Boston and the Providence hospital in Washington have been drawn upon and a dozen Sisters were sent from the Charity hospital at New Orleans to Santiago.

VISIT SOLDIERS

MRS. ADELBERT AMES GOES TO MONTAUK POINT.

Mrs. Adelbert Ames and her daughters have started in the yacht America for Montauk Point, where Brig. Gen. Ames is now stationed.

Mrs. Ames will make an investigation of the needs of the soldiers and will report to the Lowell branch of the Massachusetts Volunteer Aid association.

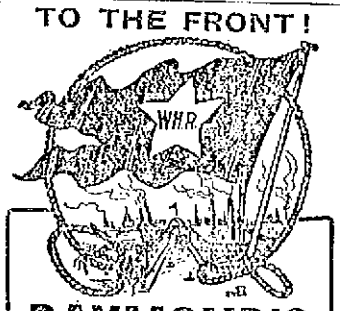

The Lowell women are still collecting supplies but will hold them until they hear from her. They will require all the contributions that are likely to come in.

No acknowledgement has yet been received for the four boxes of supplies sent to Fort Myer, but one of the nurses has written to tell how the $4.50 contributed by some neighbors in ward six was spent.

This money was given just as the supplies were being sent away and was mailed to the nurses with the request that it be at once spent where it was most needed. There were no easy chairs for convalescents at the time, and the nurse writes that the money bought two chairs that were very much required. Nobody can tell, she adds, how much comfort they have brought to somebody's boys.

Maltox will cure you in spite of yourself.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

Middleton, N. Y., Aug. 25.—Ice cream prepared with lemon extract purchased from a travelling salesman a few days ago has caused the death of three persons and a score of others are sick and more fatalities are expected.

The dead are: Mrs. Herman Michaels, No. 613 Ninth avenue, New York; Mrs. William Seder, wife of a Mount Vernon street inspector; Robert Jones, a farmer near Greenfield, Ulster county.

H. J. Harding of New York.

Herman Ansderch, Mount Vernon.

Mark Holmes, 157 West 111th street, New York.

Mrs. Hanson, 310 Amsterdam avenue, New York.

Mrs. C. E. Allen and two children, West 47th street, New York.

Mrs. D. A. Osmore, New Burgh.

Otto Seifert, East End avenue, New York.

Mr. H. A. Stuethefo, No. 25 Adams street, Brooklyn.

Henry Webber, No. 814 Tenth avenue Brooklyn.

These constitute early all the summer guest at Jones' cottages at Greenfield, which is about five miles from Mountaindale ,and the proprietor's parents, and his family. The ice cream was eaten at Sunday's dinner and about nine o'clock that night Mrs. Seder was attacked with nausea. Soon after others were similarly attacked and by midnight the two cottages were filled with the sick. Dr. J. F. Curlette of Mountaindale was summoned and he diagnosed the cases at Ptomaine poisoning. He called Dr. Munson of Woodbourne, and the two have worked incessantly. Mrs. Seder died Tuesday, Mrs. Michael Wednesday night, and early this morning Robert Jones died.

SPAIN SORE To Think Santiago Surrendered.

Madrid, Aug. 25 (2 p. m.)—The newspapers and the general public display considerable disgust at the hasty surrender of Santiago since hearing the stories with regard to the adequate defensive conditions prevailing there, told by the repatriated soldiers who arrived yesterday at Corruna. There have been six deaths among the returned soldiers since their arrival, and many others are feared.

A special commission is now meeting to decide upon the question of quarantine. The military authorities have begun the distribution of arrears of pay to the repatriated troops.

STIFF SENTENCE

Patrick Davis Get 16 Months in Jail

AFTER TRIAL BEFORE JUDGE HADLEY TODAY

For Assaulting Two Persons In Dracut.

The town of Dracut was largely represented in police court this morning, its interest being centred in the case of Patrick Davis, a farmhand charged with a severe assault upon Mrs. Mary J. Smith, his employer, and Patrick Egan, her would-be rescuer.

The case had had several continuances owing to the fact that Egan, who was badly used up, was unable to appear.

Mary Jane Smith was first called and she testified that Davis was in her employ and on August 2nd, the day of the assault, she ordered him to feed the cows, which he refused to do, whereupon she ordered him to get out of the house. He did so, but not before he had made the threat that he would get even with her. "I then went upstairs," said Mrs. Smith, "and was engaged cleaning my chamber when Davis came up and struck me on the chin, knocking one of my teeth out. Dazed by the blow, he gave me, I fell to my knees. As I did he punched me twice on the back. I then ran out on the road with him following me, and had gone but a short distance when he caught me, threw me to the ground and struck me several times after which Mr. Egan appeared."

Patrick Egan, the other complainant, was the next to give evidence. He stated that being attracted by screams apparently uttered by the Smith woman, he reached the place of assault to see Davis kneeling on Mrs. Smiths' arm and striking her. He immediately interfered, whereupon Davis turned from the woman and hit him with a hoe until he was rendered insensible.

Chief of Police Hill and Officer Jesse Richardson of the town of Dracut testified to having arrested Davis and to his being an undesirable citizen.

Dr. Smart of St. Johns hospital who is attending Egan testified as to the nature of Egan's injuries. In concluding the doctor stated Egan's life was in great danger upon his arrival at the hospital.

In his own behalf the defendant testified that Mrs. Smith was a woman of bad character and for weeks previous to the assault she had been tantalizing him while in a state of intoxication, and on August 2, she struck him with a coffee can on the head and he then turned on her and struck her. She screamed and ran out on the road. He followed her to bring her back as there was a crowd gathering. She refused to come back however and fell down. He was endeavoring to carry her home when Egan appeared and struck him on the head with the hoe. He then left the woman and took the hoe from Egan while the latter took hold of his leg and tried to trip it. He then struck Egan several times with the hoe until the latter let go and he then walked away from the scene and was later arrested by the town officers. After all the testimony had been submitted Judge Hadley found the defendant guilty and ordered him to be committed to the house of correction for one year for assault on Hagan and four months additional for assault on Mrs. Smith.

DR. C. E. DONLAN

His Success Pleases His Friends Here.

Dr. Charles E. Donlan of High street, this city, who was recommended to Surgeon General Sternberg for appointment as one of the physicians to accompany the army of occupation to Cuba, sailed on the Olivette from Boston this morning for Fernandina, Fla. Dr. Donlan left home this morning to visit Washington and have a meeting with Surgeon General Sternberg and Assistant Secretary Allen. He had with him recommendations and letters of introduction from all the leading physicians of this city and many of our prominent citizens. It is believed that when he reached Boston he called on Dr. Bradford, who recommended his appointment, and was ordered to go on board the Olivette, it being likely that his appointment had already been decided upon and it was thought best to save him the trip to Washington. He at once sent a despatch to his brother-in-law, Mr. Thomas C. Lee of this city, informing him that he has boarded the Olivette.

BURGLARS AGAIN

Enter Ducey's Variety Store in Dracut

MAKING THE FOURTH BREAK IN TWO YEARS.

A Number of Small Articles Were Taken.

A daring robbery was committed last night at the Navy Yard. The periodical and cigar store located at the corner of Pleasant and Brookside streets and owned by George W. Ducey was broken into by thieves last night and a number of small articles were stolen. There are two windows on the store and every night shutters are placed on both, but the shutter of one window was in a very poor condition, having a large opening in the lower end. The thieves undoubtedly employed some kind of a bar in accomplishing their purpose, as two ordinary sized boxes had been placed tightly against the pane of glass, opposite the opening in the shutter to prevent anybody from breaking in and these boxes were held on the other side by two small doors, the space enclosed serving for advertising purposes. These doors were always locked. Among the articles carried away by the thieves were books, which were found floating in the river this morning. Last night's break made the fourth time in two years that the store has been broken into.

SCHLEY STARTS

Admiral Has Entirely Recovered From His Illness

AND TODAY WILL BOARD HIS SHIP.

Tomorrow He Will Proceed to Washington.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

Westport, Conn. Aug. 25.—Rear Admiral W. S. Schley started for New York this morning on the train, leaving this station at 8.45. He was accompanied by his son-in-law, R. S. Worthley. The admiral, apparently, had recovered from his indisposition. Upon reaching New York, he will proceed immediately to his flagship the Brooklyn, where he will spend the day. Tomorrow he will be joined by Mrs. Schley and with her will proceed to Washington. Mrs. Schley stated today that the admiral will return to Naugatuck with her to spend the coming Sunday.

IN NEW YORK.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

New York, Aug. 25.—Rear Admiral Schley came to town today from the country place in Connecticut of his son-in-law. The admiral said he felt much improved for his brief outing. His personal plans, he said, were subordinate to those of the navy department, but he hoped to enjoy another respite before taking up his work as a member of the Porto Rican military commission.

Although Admiral Schley declined to commit himself, there is reason to believe that he will journey to Washington today.

BODY IS HERE.

FUNERAL OF ANDREW FAY SATURDAY MORNING.

The remains of the late Andrew Fay were brought from Old Orchard to the parental home this forenoon and arrangements are being made for the funeral, which will take place at St. Michael's church at 9 o'clock Saturday morning. Friends are requested not to send flowers.

FATAL HEAT.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

Boston, Aug. 25.—The heat claimed another victim in this city today. Thomas Hoey of Charlestown dropped dead at Hall's wharf in Charlestown just before noon. He was a chair maker and was about 40 years of age.

SHIPMENT DELAYED.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

Concord, N. H., Aug. 25.—Councillor Cummings telegraphs Governor Ramsdell from Camp Thomas that the shipment home of New Hampshire sick soldiers is delayed by inability to get furloughs. The governor has telegraphed the war department asking that furloughs be hurried to save lives.

Private Rossiter of Company A, Dover died at Camp Thomas today.

SOLDIER IDENTIFIED.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

Boston, Aug. 25.—The sick soldier who was taken to the Massachusetts General hospital on Wednesday afternoon and died there the same day has been identified. He was Private Andrew Steen, Company E, 20th United States Infantry, formerly quartered at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas.

BODY FOUND.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

Providence R. I., Aug. 25.—George Kelley, 55 years old, who disappeared Monday today was found dead in a lot off Kinsley avenue. He wandered there fell face downward in the tall grass and weeds and suffocated. The body was somewhat decomposed, it having been exposed to the heat and rain since Monday.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS.

HELD STORMY SESSION AT SUPREME LODGE.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

Indianapolis, Ind., August 25.—The election of the officers of the Supreme lodge, Knights of Pythias, did not take place this morning. It is usual to elect officers the third day of the biennial assembly but it was objected to because of the investigations that are now going on. There were stormy times in the lodge room this morning. Several appropriations that usually went right through at former meetings were either referred or voted down. A resolution was introduced that will cut down the expenses of the meeting of the Supreme Lodge one-half. A resolution was introduced requiring reports from the officers as to supplies furnished and declaring that in the future such purchases must be made by competitive bids. An inquiry was also made as to the present condition of the claim held by the supreme lodge against the city national bank of Fort Worth, Texas.

MILLS TO CLOSE.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

Foxcroft Me., Aug. 25.—The employes of Mayo and Sons' Woolen mills have received notice that the plant will close on Saturday next for an indefinite period. A dull market is the cause of the closing.

FUNERALS.

DONAHUE—Thomas Donahue, aged one year and three months, child of Patrick and Alice Donahue, died yesterday at the home of his parents, 11 Bassett street. The funeral took place this afternoon and burial was in the Catholic cemetery.

McEVOY—Edith McEvoy, aged seven months, child of Henry and Sarah McEvoy, died this morning at the home of her parents, 61 Merrill street.

MUSTERED OUT.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

Washington, Aug. 25.—Orders were issued today to muster out the following:

Fourth Pennsylvania Infantry; Sixth Illinois Infantry; Second Wisconsin Infantry, three Louisiana light batteries, two Rhode Island light batteries, two Iowa light batteries, two Oregon light batteries First Wisconsin light battery, two troops of Kentucky cavalry, light battery A of Missouri, light artillery, 24th light battery of Indiana artillery and light batteries A, B, C, of Pennsylvania. Where the troops mustered are designated they include all of that particular arm of service from the states named.

LOOMFIXERS' ATTENTION

There will be a special meeting of the Loomfixers' in their hall on Friday evening at 7.30 o'clock. Business of great importance will come before the body and all the members are requested to be present.

PEACE JUBILEE.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

Omaha, Neb., Aug. 25.—The board of directors of the trans-Mississippi exposition has passed resolutions formally inviting the president, cabinet, and other dignitaries to attend the peace jubilee October 10 to 15. An invitation was also extended to the Prince of Wales.

HISSED FOR HIS SENTIMENTS.

Milwaukee, Aug. 25.—The proceedings at the German Roman Catholic central union's convention were somewhat exciting Wednesday. An effort was made to facilitate the work of conventions by cutting down the religious services. One of the delegates who favored this proposition was roundly hissed for several of his utterances. What services there will be at the future meetings is entirely discretionary with the committee.

SECR'Y ALGER Tries to Make Amends for Mistakes.

He Gave a Furlough to a Forlorn Soldier—Noble Women Make a Plea for Better Accommodations

New York, Aug. 25.—A special from Camp Wikoff, Montauk Point, L. I., says: In the camp of the Second Massachusetts volunteers, when Secretary of War Alger paid them a visit Tuesday, a pathetic incident occurred, one reminding of the little acts of kindness performed by President Lincoln in the civil war. When General Alger got out of the carriage at the regimental headquarters he was met by Colonel Clark. The two shook hands, and then the secretary's eye began to wander about the camp.

In front of the adjutant's tent was a poor fellow, hardly more than a boy, leaning against a standard, probably for support. His back was turned as the secretary approached in the carriage, but as the head of the war department was shaking hands with Colonel Clark, his eye caught a glimpse of a leaden cheek and a stubby beard. The man had on a worn uniform and was hatless. Beside him facing the secretary was another man, older and in civilian clothes. There was no hesitation on the part of the secretary. Evidently here was a case he wanted to investigate himself.

Dropping Colonel Clark's hand, Secretary Alger spoke to the hatless man. "Are you sick, my man?" asked the secretary, coming up suddenly from behind.

The man turned, and Secretary Alger saw, perhaps for the first time, the face of a man upon whom the hardships of the Cuban campaign had made great inroads. There were a few moments of conversation, and then the Massachusetts soldier went into the adjutant's tent. Soon he came out again, clasping a paper in his hand. Asked what it was, with tears in his eyes he said: "Furlough." Afterward he said he was Edward Slocum, corporal of company I. The man beside him was his father, and father and son had come to ask a leave of absence for this boy who had fought in Cuba.

Secretary Alger next went to the general hospital, and had scarcely stepped from the carriage before Mrs. Wilmerding, a daughter of Secretary Tracy, and Mrs. Ruggles, both from Southampton, L. I., made a plea for better accommodations for the sick men in the hospital. Colonel Forwood, chief surgeon here, was sent for to plilot Secretary Alger among the hospital cots filled with sick men burning with fever. From a slight elevation the general plan of the hospital was explained to the secretary, who, after paying his respects to Dr. Brown, who is in charge of the general hospital and who has been commended by all those familiar with the work he has done here, started on a tour of inspection among all the tents.

CRISP GOSSIP.

One of the most charming spots for summer weather in this vicinity I believe to be the beautiful and sequestered Long-Sought-For and Flushing ponds out in Westford hidden snugly away among thick woods and wealthy in the delights of picturesque environments, fine fertility and the resultant country produce and rare opportunities for piscatorial pleasure. It is a hard place to find, leaving Lowell, which perhaps accounts for its exclusiveness for there are but few cottages, though very neighborly ones, along the ponds. The Felch family owns a large and thriving farm on the shores of Flushing pond, and but a few hundred shaded yards from Long-Sought-For pond the homelike farmhouse at present filled with Boston parties, while along the pretty shores of Long-Sought-For may be found but two Lowell families owning and occupying their cottages, —those of Charles Crevier, the well known blacksmith on the south side, and James J. Courtney of Market street on the north side. The ponds are fairly alive with perch of all sizes while pouts and pickerel abound there and many an exquisite fish fry is being enjoyed these warm evenings by the guests of Messrs. Courtney and Crevier, two royal entertainers.

Miss May Gertrude MacKenzie, the talented and charming young reader of this city, is about to take up the dramatic art as a profession, beginning in the fall with a leading New York company. Having ever been a zealous worker at the theatricals of the Mathew Temperance Institute, this grateful society is preparing to show its appreciation of her kind offices by tendering her a testimonial to take the form of a dramatic performance to be presented in the near future. "Ingomar" will be played with the fair recipient sustaining the part of "Parthenia."

Perhaps there is no question asked oftener than "Who Wrote 'Ingomar?'" To the English-speaking public, the name of Marin Lovell, whose adaptation into English is the best known version of this picturesque and popular play, is familiar enough, but the name of its German author seems to be practically unknown.

"Der Sohn der Wildniss," as "Ingomar," was known in the original, was written by Eligius Francis Joseph, Baron von Munch-Bellinghausen, who was known to the literary world under his nom-de-plume, Friedrich Halm. It was written in 1842 and the first English version of it was not the one which is so familiar to us today, but was a straight translation made by William Henry Charlton, and called "The Son of the Wilderness." This translation Halm highly complimented; but Marin Lovell's adaptation was the first used in London, where it was produced at the Drury Lane Theatre in June, 1851, by James Anderson, who had just become the manager of that theatre and who was the original Ingomar, with Miss Vandenhoff as the first Parthenia. The play was a great success. The first Ingomar died on March 3, 1895.

The play had its first production in this country in December, 1851, being brought out simultaneously at the Bowery and Broadway Theatres. At the former house, Ingomar was created by Edward Eddy, a well known actor of his day, at one time leading man of the National Theatre, Boston. Mrs. Edward Parker, nee Amelia Sylvia, was the Parthenia of the cast. One of the first and most notable successes of the play in Boston took place at the Howard Athenaeum, in February, 1852, when Anna Cora Mowatt, the first of the society actresses to make a hit in this country played Parthenia to the Ingomar of Wyzeman Marshall. Since the play has been one of the most successful in the repertoire of many American stars.

The story throughout is beautifully told and interesting to the last moment. The filial piety of the Greek maiden is placed before the audience in a most striking manner, even love—the strongest and most irresistible passion of the human heart—is made to yield to duty, and when appealed to by her barbarian lover—whose savage spirit she has at once tamed and subdued—who, in a tone of mental agony, exclaims, "Oh, Parthenia will thou leave me?" He at once resolves to be her guide and when arrived in sight of Massella, her home, whence she strayed to offer herself a sacrifice as the ransom of an aged father, in the transport of her joy the hidden thought occurs that "Here we part!" but not so—he goes with her to the city, resolves for her sake to become a Greek, abandons even the dress of his favorite band of Attamans, yields up his sword for the handle of the plough, and doubly earns his bride; spurns indignantly the offer to betray his countrymen, but makes them at once the friends and allies of the Greeks, redeems his bride from slavery by the sacrifice of his own liberty and when finally rewarded by the gods for all his sufferings, he finishes: "To love do I owe this bliss!" Parthenia replies: "To love and honour!" Then are they forever joined—

"Two souls with but a single thought
Two hearts that beat as one."

The language, poetry and dramatic action of this play, have not been excelled, if equalled, in the history of modern drama.

Mr. Henry Hanscomb of Boston is personally directing the rehearsals of the company which are now being held.

PRESIDENT AMES DEAD.

Boston, Aug. 25.—The death of Frank M. Ames, president of the European Consolidated Store Service company, in Pemaquid, Me., was announced last night. Mr. Ames had served in the legislature from Canton, and in 1884 was a delegate to the Republican convention in Chicago.

A woman, who gave her name as Minnie Harrison, 26 years old, jumped into the Charles river at the Warren bridge at 12:15 o'clock this morning, and was rescued by Drawtender Pollard. Pollard's quick action in launching his boat and reaching the woman saved her life, for the tide was running out very swiftly at this point and would have carried her away.

STORM IN NEW YORK STATE.

Utica, Aug. 25.—As the result of a furious storm which swept over the region north of Utica yesterday afternoon over $200,000 worth of damage was done to property. In Deerfield $10,000 damage was done to farm property, and every bridge on the hideaway east and west of the place was carried away by the swollen streams.

The Adirondack and Black River division of the Rome, Watertown and Ogdensburg railroad suffered severely from the cloudburst. In one place a washout 200 feet long occurred, while a railroad bridge near Trenton is reported to have been carried away. Between Remsen and Herkimer four bridges were carried away.

BASE BALL.

Chicago, Aug. 25.—The game yesterday was a pitchers' battle in which Griffith showed up best. He had the sluggers of the visiting team guessing all through the game. A ball from Dahlen's bat took a bad bound and hit Yeager in the eye, badly injuring him.

Fast work at the bat and on the bases enabled the Providences to score five runs on five hits early in the game yesterday. Braun, with splendid fielding support, held the visitors down to four hits and two runs. Up to the eighth inning the Syracuses were unable to send a man as far as first base only twice, and then they were doubled. Three singles in the ninth gave them two runs. Score: 6 to 2.

The Clevelands played at home Wednesday for the first time in seven weeks, and a small crowd saw the game with the New Yorks. Seymour's looseness in the first inning gave the home team the game. Rain stopped the play at the end of the sixth.

The Ottawas batted Korwan of the Springfields off the slab in two innings yesterday and Pappalau fared no better. The pendes barely escaped a whitewash. Donner of the Ottawas was disabled by a pitched ball in the fifth. Score: 12 to 1.

The St. Louis team won a slugging match from the Washingtons. Weyhing started to pitch, but was taken out after the browns had secured several runs and hits. Donovan, who succeeded, was also hit hard. Score: 14 to 5.

The St. Louises have returned home from the eastern trip to find the treasury depleted. President Muckenfuss, who is also the receiver of the club, states that there is no money at hand to pay the overdue salaries of the players. The players have agreed to wait till after Sunday's game in hopes of a large attendance.

Rain stopped the Louisville-Philadelphia game in the first half of the sixth inning, with the colonels in the lead. Both pitchers were batted hard.

YIELDING TO PUBLIC OPINION.

New York, Aug. 25.—The national board of arbitration of the National league did not meet yesterday. President Young is ill, and he sent his son, who is secretary of the board, to act in his place. Of those interested only Mr. Robinson of the Cleveland club was present, and he and Mr. Young talked the situation over. It was decided to send a dispatch to the various members of the board of directors of the league asking them to reconsider their decision in the New York-Baltimore case in regard to the suspension of Holmes of the Baltimores.

STRUCK OUT O FSYMPATHY.

Hazleton, Pa., Aug. 25.—Seven hundred men, employed at the strippings of the Lehigh and Wilkesbarre Coal company, went out on strike yesterday, and those who did not strike were told by the company officials to go home until the grievances which caused the difficulty are adjusted. The inauguration of the strike is said to be due to the alleged unjust discharge of two laborers. The company officials state that the men were incompetent. Last night Superintendent Richards posted a notice at the collieries to the effect that if the men are not at work today the mines will be shut down for the balance of the year.

The strikers had a meeting and decided to return to work today. President Duffy of the United Mine Workers authorizes the announcement that the discharged man will be reinstated.

SCORCHING IN NEW YORK.

New York, Aug. 25.—It was the hottest Aug. 24 on record. The highest temperature at the office of the weather bureau was 88 degrees at 4 o'clock. The temperature at the street level was 96 degrees for more than an hour. Not until 8 o'clock did New York's sweltering millions receive a temporary respite, a light thunderstorm passing over the city. The highest temperature on Aug. 24 last year was 72 degrees and the preceding year, while the terrible heat plague was scourging New York, the highest was 76 degrees. Heat prostration slips began to pour into police headquarters early in the morning, and there was no letup until midnight. Horses fell in all parts of the city.

ORDER OF FORESTERS.

St. Johnsbury, Vt., Aug. 25.—The state convention of the Catholic Order of Foresters closed its annual session yesterday. Reports of committees showed the order to be fraternally and financially prosperous. The convention voted in favor of creating a reserve fund and instructed the delegates to the international session to be held in Burlington, June, 1899, to favor this move.

THREE WERE KILLED.

Petersburg, Va., Aug. 25.—There was a horrible accident at a crossing known as Grossman's, a short distance from this city. J. P. Condrey, a prosperous farmer of Chesterfield county, was returning home with his wife and little son in a buggy, and when he reached the crossing the young horse he was driving became unmanageable and carried the party upon the track immediately in front of a train. The occupants of the buggy were instantly killed.

SICK SOLDIERS

In the Hospitals Around Boston Doing Well.

Secy. Long Writes to Admiral Sicard Extending Thanks—Two Soldiers Cut to Pieces From a Train—Woodward Told to Stop Talking.

Boston, Aug. 25.—A tour among the various hospitals disclosed the welcome fact that none of the sick soldiers had died, though a number were still on the dangerous list. All the men are receiving the benefits of expert nursing, and as nearly all of them were in need of it, their ultimate recovery seems to be assured. A number who procured hospital discharges were enabled to go to the home of their friends, while some of the officers went to hotels. All the men are rapidly recovering their spirits, which were at a low ebb when they first landed. Some who were almost helpless when they were brought ashore regained their strength so rapidly that they were enabled to take short walks outside the different hospitals. It will take many days, however, for the dark circles to leave their eyes and the hollows in their cheeks to fill up.

At the general hospital the Volunteer Aid association has furnished fans, mosquito canopies and hospital clothing for those who are still in bed. The others, who are farther along on the road to recovery, lounge around the grounds, most of them in their army clothes, or such portions of their uniforms as their Cuban allies did not make away with.

In addition to the appeal of the Massachusetts Volunteer Aid association for additional funds, Sherman Hoar has issued a statement, the salient points of which are as follows: "The Bay State has left Santiago with 101 sick, some desperate cases, and will most probably be ordered directly to Boston. We have already received 200 cases from the Olivette. We are credibly informed that the government intends to send here other hospital ships. Not only this work, but that at Montauk Point will require large sums.

"Of the 600 odd men in Colonel Clark's regiment, fully one-third are not fit to take anything but the most delicate food, although they are borne on the rolls as well men. Their emaciated figures, their sunken eyes, the hesitating steps tell of the terrible ordeal through which they have passed.

"The Ninth Massachusetts is soon to come. Their later stay in Cuba may bring them to Montauk in even a more distressed condition than that of the Second. At the same time we must look out for the Eighth; we must look out for the recruits of the Ninth in Pennsylvania, and we must keep our hospital ship going. It is my judgment that the next six weeks will give us more work to do as an association than any three weeks through which we have passed."

TO BE MUSTERED OUT.

RELEASE OF NAVAL AUXILIARIES.

Washington, Aug. 25.—Within the next week all the men called from various states to man ships of the auxiliary navy will be on their way home, with the possible exception of those on the four monitors around Boston. The department is deluged with inquiries as to how soon these naval militiamen can return home. The letters come not only from relatives, but from business firms, which say that as the war is over they want their clerks to return to duty. These influences have been aided by pressure from senators and congressmen, and the department feels some satisfaction in stating that all the men will be released by Sept. 1 except those on the monitors, who are mainly from Maine and Massachusetts, delay in their cases being due to the necessity of sending tugs to convoy the monitors to the League Island navy yard, Philadelphia, where the crews will be let go.

MR. LONG'S APPRECIATION.

Washington, Aug. 25.—The following letter was addressed by Secretary Long to the president of the war board, Admiral Sicard, in recognition of its services:

My Dear Admiral—In view of the practical ending of the war with Spain and the well-earned relief from further duty to which the naval war board is now entitled, I cannot, though absent from the department, forbear to express to you and through you to your associates on the board, Commodore Crowninshield and Captain Mahan (retired), the very high appreciation which the department has of the services it has rendered since the war began. That its members have been faithful and diligent in the highest measure goes without saying, for they are animated by the high professional spirit which distinguishes the navy and which they have themselves done much to stimulate; but from my personal knowledge and observation, I desire to add to this, that equally marked have been the intelligence, the wise judgment, the comprehensive forethought and the unfailing competency to meet every exigency which have distinguished their deliberations and action. May it not be said that not one error has been made? Proper control by the department has been exercised over all movements in the field, and yet at the same time commanding officers have been duly left to exercise discretion, and have never been hampered in their work. I do not know how your work, as members of that important board, could have been better done, or where in the arena of the war you could have rendered better service or deserved more honor.

LINE OF TRANSPORTS.

Washington, Aug. 25.—Assistant Secretary Meiklejohn of the war department contemplates the establishment of a line of transports from New York to Havana, Santiago and Ponce. It is expected that the new route will be ready for operation in two weeks. Havana will not be on the route at present, but as son as that port is open the line will touch there. Operations would begin at once, but the transports are now being used for carrying troops. The line will be utilized for transporting supplies of the quartermaster's, commissar, and surgeon general's departments, as well as such other freights as may be needed at the points occupied by the United States forces. Mails will be carried also by these transports to and from the new American possessions. New York instead of Tampa has been selected because of the severe quarantine at Tampa against yellow fever.

NEWS FROM CUBA.

Havana, Aug. 25.—The steamer Baracoa has arrived at Sagua with a cargo of provisions. She has not, however, begun to discharge, as she is awaiting a decision as to whether she will have to pay duties on the cargo, having paid at Santiago $15,760 for what she has on board.

The commanding general in the Sancti Spiritus district reports that two American soldiers of the column operating with Maximo Gomez have presented themselves to him, being ill. They were immediately sent to the hospital. General Blanco has ordered that all Americans who present themselves be well treated; that assistance be given them, and that they be treated with all consideration. The sick at the hospital, General Blanco's order says, must be treated with solicitude and kindness.

MINES IN HAVANA HARBOR.

Washington, Aug. 25.—Negotiations have been opened through diplomatic channels by which it is expected that the Spanish government will co-operate with the authorities here in the removal of the mines and torpedoes in Havana harbor before the military commission assembles there. The suggestion was made by the state department and has been forwarded to the Spanish government through the French embassy.

TO ACT WITH THE AMERICANS.

Madrid, Aug. 25.—The minister of war, Lieutenant General Correa, when asked what instructions had been given General Blanco in regard to opposing the insurgents in Cuba, replied that he had ordered the captains general of Cuba and the Philippines to act in accord with the Americans, and if the Americans should prove unable to make the insurgents respect the armistice, then the instructions were to repel by arms any attack upon the Spaniards.

LONDON TIMES EDITORIAL.

London, Aug. 25.—The Times this morning says editorially: "If half the Cuban stories are true, it is no wonder that the Americans are disgusted with the insurgents' conduct. The insurgent leaders make a great mistake if they imagine their conduct will go unpunished. It may be a troublesome business, but America, having put her hands to the plough, will not turn back."

Discussing the rumor that Secretary Alger will take refuge in the senate to escape the responsibility for his blunders in the war office, and that Senator McMillan will become ambassador to London, the article expresses the opinion that "If America becomes a colonizing power she will be compelled to abandon this fluctuating style of administration in favor of trained civil and military administrators, not liable to removal with each presidential change and not dependent upon politics for their selection and promotion. It will be equally important to cultivate permanence in diplomatic representation abroad."

MAJORITY MAY ENLIST.

South Framingham, Aug. 25.—A vote was taken in the camp of the Fifth regiment yesterday on the question of remaining in service after discharge. About 75 percent voted to join the regular army. The result of the vote is to be sent to Washington, and it is understood that influence will be brought to bear to have the men go into active service.

The vote was polled in quite a novel fashion in order that it would represent the actual opinion of the men. Colonel Whitney and Sergeant Major Buechner instructed each company in the form of ballot. Slips of paper were distributed to each man, who wrote yes or no on one, depositing it in a box. Finally the boxes were collected and the vote canvassed. The result of 75 percent is a little under the estimate of the favorable vote anticipated. It was placed at 80 percent. The officers are yet to vote, but 90 percent are expected to favor garrison duty.

SOLDIERS CUT TO PIECES.

New York, Aug. 25.—Two privates of the Seventy-first New York regiment, M. D. Kane and Christopher Jurgenson, were killed while skylarking near Westbury, L. I. They belonged to the battalion which was expected to go south, but which got no further than Camp Black. The battalion left the camp Wednesday morning to join the main body of the Seventy-first at Montauk. The two men were in the baggage car, and one tried to take possession of a piece of watermelon held by the other. In a friendly scuffle both fell from the car and were cut to pieces.

CUBA AN EVOLUTION.

St. Paul, Aug. 25.—Senator M. A. Hanna of Ohio arrived in the city last evening from the Yellowstone park. Speaking of the annexation question he said: "The Philippines is a problem we cannot solve in a hurry. We, of course, must retain a coaling station there, but I do not think it likely we shall want more than Manila and its harbor. Cuba is another problem. I never was much of a Cuban, and am not prepared to commit myself as to the policy we should pursue there. We propose to establish a stable government in that island, but what constitutes a stable government has not yet been defined. I think, however, Cuba will be an evolution, and in about 20 years it will be so thoroughly Americanized that there will be no question as to what a stable government means."

NOT TO TALK FURTHER.

Boston, Aug. 25.—Colonel Woodward declines to be interviewed on a conference held with Governor Wolcott yesterday. It is understood, however, that after a discussion of the matter it was thought wise not to give the troubles of the Sixth regiment further publicity.

DOVER'S MYSTERIOUS POISONING

San Francisco, Aug. 25.—Mrs. D. A. Botkin, who is accused of causing the death of Mrs. J. P. Dunning and Mrs. J. D. Deane of Dover, Del., is now in the city prison here, having been brought from Stockton. Mrs. Botkin declines absolutely to talk to newspaper reporters, but to the chief of police she protested her innocence.

What the police regard as an important piece of evidence was made public in Stockton. Frank Gatrell, a salesman in a candy store, says that about three weeks ago a woman came into the store and asked for a "4-bit box" of candy, saying she had some candy that she desired to put in the box with some of the store candy. Gatrell gave her a box which did not have the firm name on it. The candy which she put in looked old to him, and it scarcely half filled the box. He says he did not observe the lady closely, and he can only describe her by saying that she was of medium height and build.

THREATEN TO STRIKE.

Lawrence, Aug. 25.—Owing to the fact that the Lowell, Lawrence and Haverhill Street Railway company has published notices to the effect that by Sept. 15 every employe shall file a bond of $500, the expense of the same to be borne by the men, it has leaked out that the men, 100 in number, have threatened to strike. The men claim an injustice has been done them, and that they have been given to understand that failure to file a bond is equal to discharge. The only bond allowed is that of a Baltimore concern.

ONE MAN KILLED.

Pittsburg, Aug. 25.—During a heavy thunderstorm yesterday, lightning struck a car, and as a result one passenger is dead, another will probably die and four others are badly hurt. The passengers were panicstricken. D. S. Frear alighted on his head, crushing his skull. He lived but a short time. All the injured received their hurts in attempting to jump before the car came to a standstill.

GUILTY OF MURDER.

Lancaster, Pa., Aug. 25.—The jury in the case of Ralph W. Wireback, on trial for the murder of David B. Landis, brought in a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree. Wireback killed Landis on the 7th of April, when the latter, accompanied by deputy sheriffs, visited his home for the purpose of ejecting him, the premises having been sold and Wireback refusing to vacate.

GRAND LODGE MEETING.

Betances May Be Cuba's First President

Scientist, Philanthropist and Patriot—Bought Children from Bondage—Spanish Spy System Drove Him to Seek Autonomy for all the West Indies.

Eleuterio Betances, the great Paris aculist, bachelor of science and of arts and doctor of medicine, whose name has been mentioned recently as possibly the first President of Cuba Libre, is as distinguished in letters as he is in science, but is distinguished more than all for his long and persistent personal warfare against Spanish dominion in the West Indies. Though he is a native of Porto Rico, he is reverenced for his devotion throughout Cuba as sincerely as in his native isle. He never would have received this reverence, however, nor achieved such distinction, probably, had he not in his younger days been in the habit of buying a negro baby every month.

EDUCATION IN EUROPE.

It all happened in this way. Betances was born 73 years ago in the little town of Cabo-Rojo near Mayagues, Porto Rico, which the United States troops captured with such eclat some weeks ago. He was a delicate boy and in another place than that land of soft sea breezes might have had small chance of living. His father, who was a man of means, had him educated by a private tutor who took so good care of him that at the age of fourteen he was sent abroad to complete his education. He studied in Tolouse until he was graduated with the degrees of B. A. and B. S. Then he went to Paris where he was graduated in medicine with honor. While he was abroad he had time for considerable travel and observation outside of his regular college and university work, and he visited those countries with whose languages, literatures, science and art his studies led him to be interested in.

When he received his degree in medicine he returned to Mayaguez to practice. He made a special study of diseases peculiar to the country and soon the fame of his marvellous surgery spread over the whole island. He had his private hospital where the rich paid well for treatment; but the poor he treated without charge.

Young, charming of address and brilliant, the older practitioners were not altogether without envy in their regard for him. Another thing, too, attracted attention to Betances—not to his advantage. He did not believe in slavery, and in those days slavery was general over the island and the Spanish officials made much directly or indirectly by the traffic. Betances did not preach against slavery, but it was his custom each month to buy a baby slave and then present the infant's freedom papers to the child's mother.

Naturally the authorities noticed this and though at first they may have regarded it as nothing more than a harmless eccentricity they grew suspicious and when some of the jealous physicians who would not have been sorry to have Betances out of the way suggested that he would bear watching the Spaniards set spies to observe him constantly. This annoyed Betances exceedingly and ere long became intolerable. Protest was of no avail, and one more instance of Spain's lack of foresight discovered itself, for the man who until this treatment was received had been her friend became the one who has done more than any other to bring about the final downfall of her rule in the Western Hemisphere. Cubans and Porto Ricans alike acknowledge this and so also do the Spaniards themselves. Spain complained to France in the last Cuban revolution.

When Betances had convinced himself that persecution was inevitable the Spanish official character revealed itself to him and much that had escaped his notice before he now saw clearly in its true light. He recognized that as long as Spain ruled Porto Rico the prosperity of the island would be hindered. He determined to study the effects of Spanish dominion on the other islands and to do this he made most thorough tours of investigation, visiting all the West Indies and studying conditions everywhere with the greatest care. He did not lay aside his medical work, however, but practiced continually. In Hayti, among the French-speaking part of the population he had an especially large number of patients. He travelled abroad also and in the United States, studying the political, social and economical conditions on the Peninsula and comparing them with those obtaining in other countries. In time he settled in Paris, where he was the accredited representative of the Cubans during the revolution of 1868-78, and again in the recent rebellion. Indeed, for over a generation he has been the recognized head of the anti-Spanish West Indies.

BETANCES'S WRITINGS.

He wrote many pamphlets on scientific, political, economic, legal and social and literary subjects, and for years has been one of the chief contributors to Le Temps. He took great interest in French politics and has had for his warm personal friends such men as Freycinet and Gambetta. He could have had political preferment in France had he wished.

While doing these things he established a reputation all over Europe as an Hellenist and also came to be acknowledged one of the most expert oculists in Paris, even in the world. Even the Spaniards are among his patients. He has made as much money as the famous American dentist, the late Dr. Evans and gave continuously large sums to aid insurgents whenever they have been at war against Spain. In spite of being continuously concerned with plots and revolutions, he is a man of gentle manners and lovable disposition. His Spanish patient feel affection for him, and some profess their love for him openly, though he has given their country more trouble than any other living man.

DR. BETANCES, WHO MAY BE CUBA'S FIRST PRESIDENT.

How They Keep Cool.

Whilst the American resigns himself at times of intense heat to perspiration and grumbling, his fellow-men in the East have solved the problem of "how to keep cool" by methods as ingenius as they are varied.

Of all these delightful methods the "sinking-rooms" of Persia commend themselves most to one's conception of the luxurious and delightful. When not required, these gilded, glass-walled palaces float gracefully on the blue waters of Lake Niris, the most lovely of Persian lakes. When the heat ceases to be comfortable their happy owners enter the floating palaces, which are drawn by heavy weights down into the transparent depths of the lake, and with an ample supply of air from above, luxurious surroundings, iced drinks, and fan-waving houris, the Persian millionaire who cannot enjoy 100 degrees in the shade must be difficult to please.

The Prince of Agra has a similar palace moored in one of the reaches of the Jumna. Its furniture and appointments are superb: the very chairs are made of gold and incrusted with jewels, and the curtains are of the most exquisite silks. On sultry days the Prince and his suite enter their river-palace, which is at once unmoored and floats gently on the bosom of the Jumna at the will of the tide, catching every breeze that blows, and gliding to the soothing music of harps played by fair hands. Who would not be the Prince of Agra?

The "cooling galleries" of China are little less delightful as refuges from a too torrid sun. They hang suspended over rivers or private lakes, and are sumptuously furnished with rare rugs and tapestry, settees, and lounging-chairs; whilst every cooling beverage that man can devise is there in profusion.

Missionary Boards to "Invade" Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippines—Episcopalian Force Will Be Led By the Rev. P. Duarte—Planning a Great Concerted Agitation.

In consideration of the moral and religious responsibility involved in the political and military relations into which this country has been forced with Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippine Islands, Dr. Arthur J. Brown, secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian Church of the United States of America, a short time ago sent a letter to the foreign missionary bands of the various churches with a view to obtaining a frank mutual understanding and an agreement as to the most effective distribution of the work among the several Boards if it should be found expedient and practicable to undertake mission work in those fields.

Letters had come to the Presbyterian Board from persons in five different States urging the importance of taking up this work and offering to help furnish men and money, one minister having raised and paid over $1,000 for the support of the first missionary while the General Assembly itself gave strong approval in the report of the standing committee to the effect that "We cannot ignore the fact that God has given into the hands of the American Christians the Philippine Islands and thus opened a wide door to their population and by the guns of our battleships has summoned us to go up and possess the land."

Dr. Brown stated in his letter that the Presbyterian Board felt assured that this opinion was held by other denominations and that it would be unfortunate if several Boards should enter any one of these fields at the same time, thus unnecessarily duplicating expenses and perhaps introducing elements of rivalry.

TO PROMOTE COMITY.

"We have heard much in recent years of the principles of comity," he said, "and we are earnestly striving to promote that comity in lands that are already jointly occupied. We believe that the new situation thus providentially forced upon us affords an excellent opportunity, not only for beginning this work but for beginning it right from the view point of Christian fellowship and the economical use of men and money."

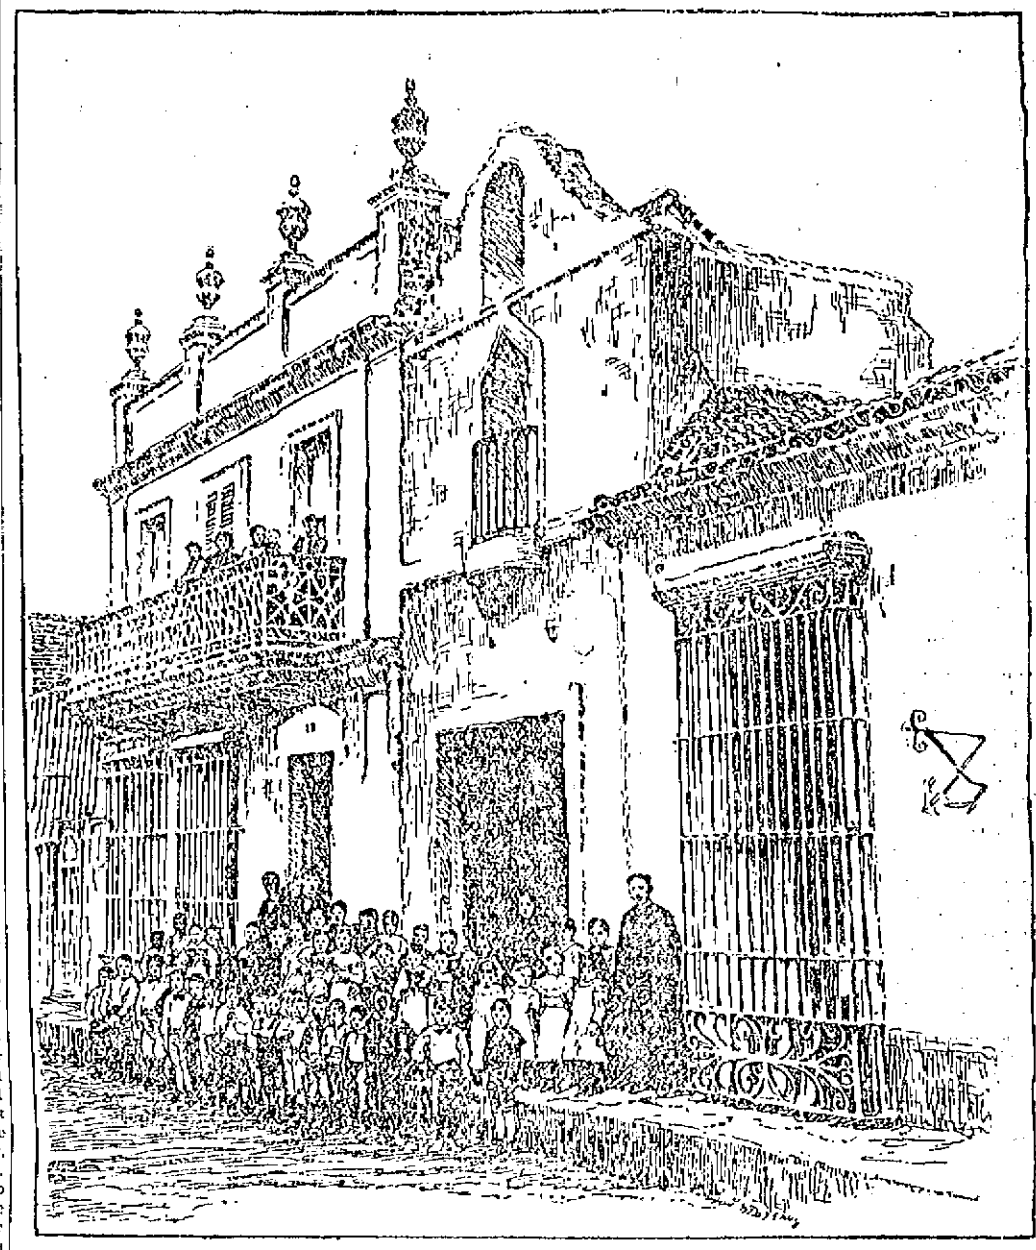

The invitation to this conference was sent to the American Board, the Baptist Missionary Union, the Missionary Society of the M. E. Church, the Board of Foreign and Domestic Missions of the P. E. Church and the Board of Foreign Missions of the Reformed Church in America.

The officers of the Protestant Episcopal Board expressed their sympathy with the object of the meeting, but held that it would be premature and impolitic for them to take action at present since their auxiliary, the American Church Missionary Society, has been conducting work in Cuba, since the Philippines and Porto Rico were not yet in possession of the United States and it was impossible to tell what their political status would be; and because the Board of Managers under whose province the work would come would not meet until September and the General Convention not until October.

"It is manifest," objected the Episcopal Board, "that an arrangement by which this Church would be restricted in its work to portions of the islands would interfere with the jurisdiction of missionary bishops who might be elected by the General Convention and would impede their efforts."

The American Church Missionary Society already has planned an invasion of Cuba under the Rev. Pedro Duarte, who is now in charge of the church at West Tampa, Florida, which is composed largely of Cubans, many of them eagerly waiting for an opportunity to return to the island. The Episcopalians had three chapels in Havana and its suburbs before the war but only one of these remains. Mr. Pena, a lay reader, conducts its services. The church missionary society has been unable to communicate with him by letter for several months, but money has been sent to him by cable to relieve distress among the Protestants.

In addition to the work in Havana the society supported a chapel and school in Manzanzas. This was the former field of labor of the Rev. Mr. Duarte, he having obtained permission from the Cortes to hold Protestant meetings in Cuba. It was through his efforts also that a cemetery was provided where Protestants could be decently buried. When the war broke out the chapel at Manzanzas had to be abandoned and was used for a vaudeville theater by the Spaniards. Mr. Duarte has hopes of regaining possession of it as soon as the Americans and Cubans can return to the island.

MISSION HOUSE IN MATANZAS.

FRUITFUL FIELD IN HAWAII.

The Episcopal church has another fruitful missionary field opening up before it in Hawaii where a diocese was formed by the English church as early as 1861. This was at one time offered to an American bishop, by the Archbishop of Canterbury, but was refused, and the present incumbent, Rt. Rev. Alfred Willis, D. D., was consecrated in 1872. Now that the islands become American territory the Episcopal church will push the work there with vigor.

The American Board did not accept the invitations of the Presbyterians to the conference because they already have a field in the Micronesian Islands, which include the Carolines, the Ladrones, the Marshall and the Gilbert Islands.

Before the missionaries appeared the men in these islands went nearly or quite naked and the women wore two mats belted at their waists. Both men and women were elaborately tattooed. The people worshipped the spirits of their ancestors and were extremely superstitious.

The American Board has been assisted in its island work by missionaries from Hawaii. A feature of the work is the use of missionary ships. Since the beginning of its work in 1852 there have been four of these, all bearing the same name, the "Morning Star." These ships make yearly trips among the islands of Micronesia carrying missionaries and supplies.

It is the intention of the American Board to confine its labors for the present to this work, and to leave the Philippines to other boards that are not represented in this part of the world. The work in Cuba and Porto Rico will probably come within the province of the Home Missionary society.

THE DOOR IS OPEN.

With the exception of the Episcopal and American boards, the other Protestant missionary boards sent representatives to the conference called by the Presbyterians and resolutions were adopted declaring it to be the judgment of the conference "that the Christian people of America should immediately and prayerfully consider the duty of entering the door which God in his providence is opening."

The fact was noted that "Seven boards have already undertaken work in Cuba or are expecting to undertake it—namely, the Home Mission Board of the Southern Baptist convention, the missionary society of the Methodist Episcopal church, the Board of Missions of the M. E. Church, South, the General Conference of Free Baptists, the Foreign Missionary society of the United Brethren in Christ, the American church Missionary society of the Protestant Episcopal church, and the New York and Indiana Yearly Meeting of Friends.

"That three Boards contemplate work in Porto Rico, the M. E. Church, the M. E. Church South and the Southern Baptist Convention.

"And three Boards are disposed to consider seriously the opening of missionary work in the Philippine Islands, namely, the Presbyterian, the Methodist Episcopal and the Baptist.

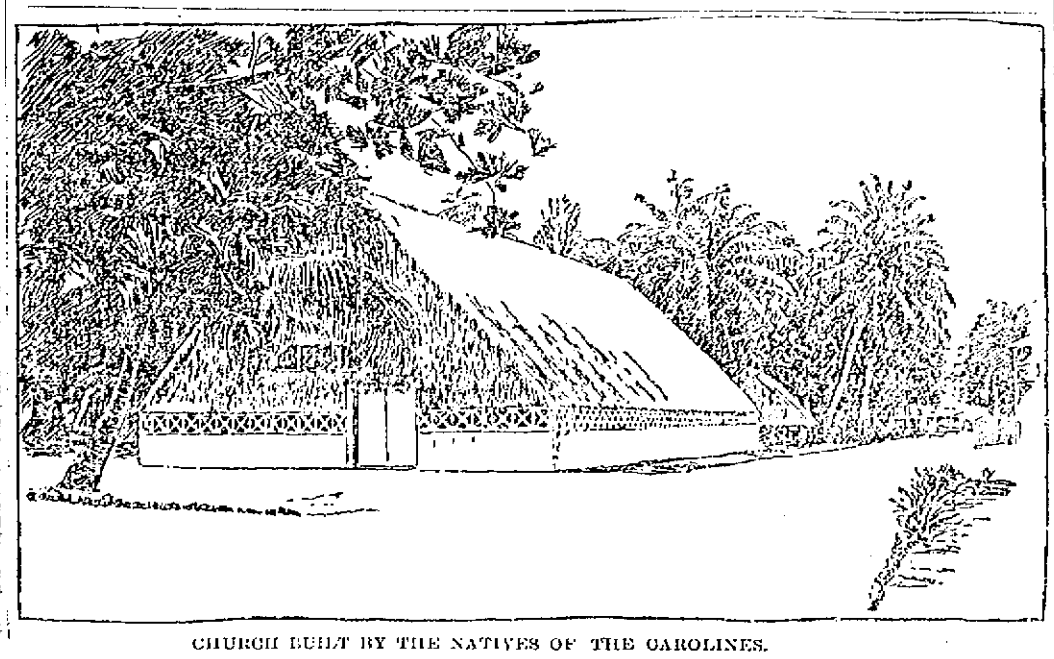

"We feel that it would be unfortunate if several Boards were to enter any one of these fields at the same time, except of course in large centers of population.

"We therefore recommend: (1) That each of the Boards mentioned appoint a committee of two on the field or fields which it thinks of entering, each group of committees to confer with a view to frank and mutual understanding of the most effective and equitable distribution of the territory and work under the several Boards.

"(2) That the committee take early steps to secure all available information regarding these various islands as missionary fields, and that all information thus obtained be shared with the other committees concerned, with a view to subsequent action.

"(3) That the committee on the Philippine Islands be requested to inform the American board that our board has expressed an intention of undertaking work in the Ladrone Islands, and that the question was raised as to whether the equipment of the American Board in connection with the Carolines Islands does not fit it better for work in the Ladrones."

The American Board has signified its intention to care for the work in the Ladrones. The committees are gathering all possible information about the conditions in the different islands, but no definite plans will be made until their political future is determined upon.

Peach Sandwiches.

The strawberry sandwiches, so called, of the earlier season are now succeeded by a similar article with a peach filling. Bread made of baking-powder biscuit dough is rid of its crust and cut into oblongs. The peaches are sliced, then sprinkled with powdered sugar, and if to be specially good, a dessert spoonful of whipped cream is placed on each. They are of course served separately on small plates and eaten with a fork, not piled and handed around for the finger service so associated with a sandwich in its generic sense.

"It is not a wise plan to be too familiar with a young dog," said a clever dog trainer to the writer. "Make him recognize that you are his master, and this once accomplished, his one idea is to please you and to deserve a pat on the head and a word of praise. If the dog is of that breed which inherits the scent for game, the first thing to teach him is to fetch and carry—that is, to retrieve, and this without chewing or mutilating the object which he brings. A way to break a dog of this is to take an old glove, put a few tacks with the points extended outward, and fill it with cotton. He will find that by picking it up gently he can carry it without discomfort, while if he attempts to worry it, the consequences are not agreeable. This lesson is much better for him than any amount of whipping, and he will remember it much longer. Most game dogs are, however, so tender mouthed that they will retrieve the most delicate and dainty object without leaving on it the slightest impression of their teeth. But a dog of this description may be ruined by the inattention of his master, and neglect to take from him the article retrieved when offered for delivery. A young dog will, under such circumstances, almost invariably, think it is his privilege to play with it, and will relieve the itching of his teeth by proceeding to crush it or tear it to pieces. Once this is allowed it is an easy matter for it to become a fixed habit and a source of endless trouble."

MUSIC HALL.

Regular Opening—The regular season of this newly renovated theatre will open Thursday, Sept. 1st, with the well known and ever popular farce, "Peck's Bad Boy," which was seen here last season and was a tremendous success during the entire engagement.

The management this season advertises a new show in every particular, and in fact nothing old but the name which is a household word with young and old.

The new dialogue and business introduced in the play this season with the great variety of new songs, dances, and specialties combine to make it even far better than ever. Those who appear in the cast are Dot Hoyt, Lester Howard, Emma Rossley, Robert Evans, Minnie Lee, A. C. Taylor and others.

POPULAR MR. IVES

Turner Ives, the well known ex-starter of the Lowell, Lawrence and Haverhill street railway, who was discharged by the L. L. and H. R. R. as a result of the collision near Belle Grove, has been presented with a purse of $100 by his late associates. Mr. Ives was invited to the L. L. and H. restaurant by a companion. There he was astonished to find a large gathering and for a few minutes he was bewildered as to its meaning.

Three rousing cheers were given for Mr. Ives and Fred Morton called him before him. In a neat speech, Mr. Morton presented him with the $100 on behalf of his fellows, thus indicating the respect and esteem in which he is held by his former associates. Mr. Ives acknowledged the purse in a few well chosen words.

CYCLING NEWS.

MATRIMONIAL.

LANOUETTE—LEMAITRE.

Tuesday afternoon, at 5 o'clock, at Manchester, N. H., Miss Eva Lanouette eldest daughter of Dr. J. E. A. Lanouette, became the wife of George L. Lemaitre, formerly of Lowell. The marriage took place in St. Augustine's church and was performed by Rev. Fr. Chevalier. A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents after the ceremony and many beautiful gifts were received. Mr. and Mrs. Lemaitre left on the 7.50 train south for their wedding trip. They will make their home in Manchester on their return.

COLEMAN—DONAHUE.

Mr. Michael Coleman of Lawrence and Miss Nellie Donahue were united in marriage at St. Patrick's parsonage at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Rev. Fr. Walsh tied the nuptial knot. Mr. Dennis Kelley was best man and Miss Mary Spring of Fitchburg attended the bride. Both attendants are first cousins of the bride. The bride was becomingly attired in white Swiss muslin and carried bride's roses. The bridesmaid wore an organdie gown and carried pink roses.

A reception was held from 4 to 9 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, 114 Common street. Many friends were present to extend the best wishes for a happy, wedded life to the young couple. Guests were present from Boston, Fitchburg, Salem, Lawrence and Haverhill. A list too numerous to mention of costly and appropriate wedding gifts was received by the newly wedded pair. Mr. and Mrs. Coleman left on the 8.50 train for a bridal tour. Upon their return they will reside in Lawrence.

ROSE—WALSH.

Mr. Harry W. Rose and Miss Annie Walsh, both of this city, were united in marriage at the parsonage of the Central M. E. church, 37 Eleventh street, yesterday, by Rev. W. H. Meredith.

WILSON—ULLOCK.

Mr. Harry Wilson and Miss Margaret Ullock were married by Rev. W. H. Meredith at the parsonage of the Central M. E. church, 37 Eleventh street, yesterday. Both are of this city.

THE RIGBY RACES

Were Attended by More Than 700 Persons.

When Rain Interfered With the Sport.

Portland, Me., Aug. 24.—The largest crowd that has been in attendance at the New England fair—numbering about 7000 persons—was prevented by the weather clerk today from getting more than a taste of what promised to be rare sport. As it was, four heats were got off.

The unfinished pacing race is as much of a conundrum as ever, three horses having won heats. B.B. and Norvin G. were the heat winners today, duplicating their performance of yesterday. Outside of the heat winners, all of the other horses in the race have been distanced from time to time, so that the rule regarding all horses not winning a heat in the first five will not have to be enforced.

So far, the racing in this class has not developed a decided race winner, and it looks like tossing up a cent as to whether the roan or the bay gets the final heat, while Winfield is liable, after a long rest, to be very dangerous.

The 2.19 trot, so far as it has proceeded—two heats—has given the talent a decided upset. Nick was favorite, but the first two heats went to Warren Guy, a brown stallion from Nova Scotia, that sold in the auctions for $2 in $50. The favorite was a long way from good and his bad acting caused him to be behind the flag in the second heat, while Warren Guy equalled his record of 2.14½, made in the first heat.

Warren Guy is a horse that H. C. Lydard of Kentville, N. S., has been working at the kite track, Old Orchard, for 10 days or so. He arrived at that track with pads, blankets, etc. strapped under the road cart and attracted considerable attention at the time by jogging out that way.

The same man brought out Gordon Sims a few years ago, and sold him for a long price after a clever race. Warren Guy looks like a good thing and has been priced, it is said, at $6000.

DEFEATS CRACK RIDERS AT ASBURY PARK.

Michael Also Gave a Grand Exhibition.

Asbury Park, N. J., Aug. 25.—Fully 8000 people witnessed the races in this city under the auspices of the American Cycle Racing association. The one mile L. A. W. championship professional brought out a field of the most noted crack riders, including Bald, Cooper, Major Taylor, Stevens, Eaton and Gardiner. Bald was the favorite, and by hard riding he succeeded in winning his heat, and later captured the final by a superhuman spurt on the stretch. The race between Michael and Lefferson was the event of the day. It was Lefferson's first middle distance paced race, and he acquitted himself with honors, although he was defeated. Michael's exhibition was a grand one and disclosed most conclusively the staying powers of the famous rider.

A PACED RACE.

E. F. McSweeny, agent of the Massachusetts Volunteer association in New York, has made a report concerning the Massachusetts men who arrived on the Relief in New York last Saturday. The report gives the following account of Lowell men, their sickness and where they are being treated:

F. C. Douglass, Co. C, 6th Mass., Lowell—Long Island College Hospital.

J. A. Donahue, Co. G., 6th Mass., Lowell—Fort Hamilton Military Hospital; intermittent fever; convalescent.

G. H. Connell, Co. F, 6th Mass., Lowell—Fort Hamilton Military Hospital; typhoid fever; convalescent.

UNIONISTS REBEL

They Helped the Liberals to Victory Making a Change of 1000 Votes—Mr. Curzon's Seat Captured by Liberals—The Result a Rebuff to Salisbury.

London, Aug. 25.—The election for the seat in the house of commons for the Southport division of Lancashire, made vacant by the acceptance of Mr. Curzon of the viceroyalty of India, resulted in the return of Sir Herbert Leyland, Liberal, by a majority of 272 votes over his Conservative opponent, Lord Skelmerdale. The polling was: Leyland, 5109; Skelmersdale, 4828.

At the last election for the seat, Mr. Curzon, in the Conservative interest, was returned by a majority of 764. Lady Leyland was Jennie Chamberlain of Cleveland.

The result of the election is a bad defeat for the government, Mr. Curzon having held the seat since 1892. Peculiar circumstances affected the contest. A section of Liberal-Unionists, headed by the chairman of the local Unionist association, declined to support Lord Skelmersdale on the ground that now that the home rule agitation was dead, there was no longer any need for Liberals to vote for Conservatives. Thereupon Mr. Chamberlain, secretary of state for the colonies, plunged into the fray with a letter urging the Unionists to vote solidly for Lord Skelmersdale because home rule was not dead, but only sleeping. The Unionist leaders professed to feel contempt for this "little Unionist revolt," the success of which is likely to have important results as regards the relations of the parties in the future.

All the papers agree that Lord Skellmersdales' defeat is an expression of the electors' dissatisfaction with Lord Salisbury's Chinese policy. The Chronicle and News declare that it sounds the knell of the conservative government.

WAIVES ITS RIGHT TO CONTRACT.

There was a very large attendance at Chelmsford's town meeting last night. J. A. Bartlett was elected moderator.

The substance of Article 2 was to see if the town would vote to contract with the state highway commission to build a section of state highway in North Chelmsford, known as Princeton street extension—$8000 having been alloted by the commission—or to see if the town would vote to waive all rights to contract for the work.

After brief remarks by Selectmen Sheldon and C. E. A. Bartlett, the following vote was passed to wit: "That the town so waive all rights to contract for the work. Contractor Goddard who has had charge of similar work in Lowell was invited to explain the method of doing such work and responded.

Under Article 3 relating to widening and straightening a road leading to the new Catholic cemetery in North Chelmsford, voted that the selectmen be requested to petition the county commissioners to grant another hearing in the matter of said road, the public having received insufficient notice and that the expense to the town would be too great.

Article 4 which hinged upon Article 3 was dismissed.

Under Article 6, relating to a new cemetery near the Centre village, it was voted on motion of C. E. A. Bartlett that a committee consisting of Harry L. Parkhurst, Arthur M. Warren, Charles E. Bartlett, Albert P. Perham and Walter Perham be appointed to consider the question of the purchase of a suitable lot of land near the Centre village for cemetery purposes, to ascertain what lots can be obtained and to report the result of its investigations, with such recommendations as they shall see fit to make to the town at its next annual meeting.

NORTH BILLERICA.

The Talbot and Faulkner mills at North Billerica are still busy on government goods. During the summer, months night work (over time) has been in progress at these mills four nights a week. Only one night overtime was worked last week and that was Tuesday.

The materials produced for the government are principally rough blue flannel cloths for blouses and twilled goods of an exceptionally fine grade. It has been customary for these mills to give the help an annual vacation and that during the month of August.

As peace has been now declared with Spain, it is thought the operatives of both of the above mills will be given an opportunity to enjoy their vacation some time during the next month.

FRACTURED THE TIBIA.

Omer Daceauteau slipped and fell in the yard at his home in Salem street yesterday and fractured the tibia of one leg. The member was weak because of an accident two months ago when he broke the knee cap of the same leg. He is now at the Lowell General hospital.
